RALPH

McGILL

A Congressman Who Will Shoot

Congressman Sieminski, who was elected to the nation's Congress while on active duty in Korea, says that he will shoot anyone who questions his loyalty because his stepdaughter was for seven years behind the Iron Curtain until she broke out on Christmas Day, 1953.

The administration's security order, which bars from employment as of dubious loyalty any person who may have had even a distant relative in the Iron Curtain countries, he denounces as "vicious, totalitarian and un-American." (The administration has refused to break down the list of 2,200 resignations and dismissals, even though admittedly only a few have been found of doubtful loyalty.)

What it amounts to — is a blacklist, as even those who were dropped in routine staff reductions, can't well find employment. It is un-American, totalitarian and, therefore, frightening that Americans are, for the first time, at the mercy of gossip, slander and the malicious accuser, and can be forever barred from employment without any official charge being brought against them. They are not allowed to face the accusers.

Clergymen

Also in the news more or less obscured by Indochina, butter and the treaty row, is a statement by the House Un-American Activities Committee which piously backtracks and solemnly asserts that "most clergymen are not Communists." Gerald W. Johnson, the eminent historian, in commenting on this, thinks that perhaps the Lord, who presumably called the clergymen in the first place, must be comforted to have the committee check the record and find the Lord has made only a few mistakes.

It certainly is but a mild rebuke to the Lord, and this is most generous of the committee, since it is one which is rarely fair, and, until now, never beneficent toward anyone. We trust the Lord will be properly appreciative. He had a mighty narrow escape. Chairman Velde might well have subpoenaed Him. And those who seek to follow Him will certainly feel reassured now.

Crawfish

At any rate, what it now adds up to is that a generally second-rate lot of power-drunk, power-seeking politicians have crawfished with a smug, condescending statement merely because it was good politics so to do.

Jim Farley, with whom I talked on Monday, said for publication it was inconceivable to him the administration would not break down the list of 2,200 employes who have resigned, been dropped because of a reduced budget and the consequent reduction of staffs, or dismissed for drinking or other reasons.

But it is now conceivable. The administration says it won't do anything about it . . . though admittedly only a few of the 2,200 are even under suspicion. The administration has deliberately blacklisted them all as "disloyal." It is as unjust and sordid a thing as a government has done to its citizens.

It hasn't been just Joe McCarthy who has been going about making speeches saying the government has "fired" 2,200 Communists and subversives. Atty. Gen. Brownell and Postmaster General Summerfield, plus others of lesser stature, have been bragging of "security risks" and "subversives" which "we" have fired. Of these, they said, 306 were in the State department.

Now it appears that last year the State department fired exactly 29 persons for cause.

Suppose your son, daughter or husband had been one of the innocent? Suppose he or she tries to get a job somewhere else—as he must to eat and support his family. And suppose, as it will happen, it comes out he last worked for the State department. What chance will he have to get a job?

Of the 2,200, only a small handful were fired for cause. Some were let out for excessive drinking—off the job. That's all right. But, let's say so.

All are blacklisted. That isn't quite the American way.

Winds Lash Utility Lines; Tornado Alert Called Off

Heavy thunderstorms moved out of Alabama and western Tennessee into north Georgia early last night, bringing gusts of up to 65 miles per hour causing "scattered" damage to utility lines in Atlanta.

The Atlanta Weather Bureau, which earlier had forecast the possibility of tornadoes in a 70-mile-wide belt including the Atlanta area, announced shortly before 9 p.m. that the conditions "that could have produced tornadoes had passed."

The report brought a flood of calls to The Constitution, the Weather Bureau and radio and television stations which had broadcast the forecast at "suppertime."

A Weather Bureau spokesman said the tornado warnings were issued because of the intensity of the thunderstorms which moved "funnel-fashion" into the state.

He said tornadoes sometimes grow out of such "severe turbulence."

In Atlanta, winds and lightning caused slight damage to electrical lines in the North Fulton Park area, cutting off service to some residents for approximately a half hour.

A Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. spokesman said electrical damage and moisture in telephone cables put several hundred phones out of service in north and west sections of the city for a short period of time last night.

Fair, cooler weather is forecast for today with a temperature range of 48 to 56 degrees expected. Extremes of 38 and 58 are predicted for tomorrow.

The mercury climbed to a midday high of 74 in Atlanta yesterday following an early morning low of 51.

Harmon Tax Ruse Charged In M'Gill Case

By ANNE GOWEN

Howard McGill, charged with embezzling $127,000 while he was manager of Murray's Liquor Store, went on trial yesterday in Fulton Superior Court, but the defense stole the first day's show with a series of sensational charges.

Charles Edwards, McGill's attorney, said he would seek to prove:

That ex-bootlegger Murray Harmon, who owns half interest in the store, started the case against McGill as an attempt to write off a $238,000 tax fraud claim by the Federal Government.

NAMES HESTER

That part of the alleged shortage at the store went to ex-City Councilman Cecil Hester in free liquor and money.

And that McGill signed a confession to the theft because he was scared. Edwards said McGill signed "because he knew what happened to that other bookkeeper . . . he knew Hayes was found dead with a bullet through his heart."

Edwards cross-examined the state's first witness, C. L. O'Hern, who is a partner with Harmon in the liquor store, for more than four hours.

He extracted from O'Hern the admission that he didn't know who received the money from the $700,000 in checks drawn to cash over a four-year period on the account of Murray's Liquor Store at the Citizens & Southern National Bank, as bank records showed.

BANK RECORD

O'Hern also conceded when he was faced with bank records that his decorating firm paid for liquor as much as $800 at a time. But, he swore, he never took more than two quarts at a time from the store. Two quarts is the maximum amount a liquor store can sell one person in a day, according to law.

O'Hern said he knew Hester when Hester was a councilman and that Hester signed as a reference on O'Hern's application for a liquor license.

McGill's first trial in October ended in mistrial after Harmon, convicted five times of liquor law vilations, blurted out testimony in the presence of the jury that was ruled prejudicial.

WORKING MOM

Nurse Stops Long Enough To Have Son

By ALEX JOINER JR.

Working makes waiting go faster, according to Mrs. William Burke White who interrupted her daily stint as a nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital to give birth to a son.

The attractive mother-for-the-first-time reported for work at the hospital at the regular time at 3 p.m. Monday.

At 6 p.m. she said, "like most expectant mothers," she made a hasty trip home to 1940 Houston Mill Rd., NE, where she prettied up, picked up a suitcase and returned to the hospital."

NAMED FOR SAINT

Kevin Gerard White, 6 pounds, three ounces and named for the Irish saint, arrived at 3 a.m. yesterday and mother and son are both doing well.

Mrs. White (whose husband conveniently enough is a resident intern at Grady Hospital and plans to be a pediatrician) said she "loved" her job, which is health and social director for St. Joseph's student nurses, and was anxious to be back on the job, "probably in about eight weeks."

"If I'd been at home while I was waiting, I'd probably just spent my time wringing my hands and worrying," the young mother commented.

KIND OF FAVORITE

Meanwhile, she was enjoying the "gorgeous" experience of laying abed in a flower-filled room and being waited on by other nurses with whom, it was apparent, she was a kind of favorite.

"It's hard, though," she confided. "I've never been sick a day in my life . . . and I find I know absolutely nothing about how to be a patient!"

Georgians Urge $11 Million Outlay

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—Appropriations subcommittees of both House and Senate were urged today by a Georgia delegation headed by Mayor Hartsfield of Atlanta to approve an expenditure of $11 million during the coming fiscal year for work on the Buford Dam project in north Georgia.

This represents an increase of $5.2 million over the amount recommended by the budget for the Chattahoochee River development.

Hartsfield and his associates first appeared before the civil functions subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee and then went before a similar subcommittee of the Senate.

DAVIS, LANDRUM

They were presented to the two groups by Rep. James C. Davis of Decatur and Rep. Phil Landrum of Jasper, both of whom urged that the maximum amount be spent on the Buford project.

"We received a very fine response before the two committees," Hartsfield said, "and are hopeful of having the budget figure raised to $11 million. Our case was strengthened by the testimony of Gen. Carpening of the Army Engineers who told the Senate group that the higher figures could be spent profitably on the project in the fiscal year 1954-55.

MANY URGE FUND

"All of us, including Reps. Davis and Landrum, emphasized that the approval of $11 million would advance the completion of the dam by at least a year, enabling the government to start the sale of power from the hydro-electric project by December, 1956. If the smaller fund recommended by the budget is approved, completion of the project will be delayed until 1957."

In addition to Hartsfield, the

George Yields Slightly on Bricker Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—Conservative bipartisan forces seeking some constitutional amendment to limit the President's treaty-making powers drew closer toward an alliance today as Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga) made a slight concession.

As they did so, the Senate itself worked on at the fringes of the whole issue, in preparation for a series of decisive tests that are likely to begin tomorrow and go on through the rest of the week.

It provisionally adopted by a vote of 72 to 16 a proposition that senatorial consent to the ratification of treaties hereafter should always be only by a recorded roll call as distinguished from less formal balloting.

All factions conceded that no question of great substance was involved here and some who voted for the proviso had publicly ridiculed it.

In the first place, the Eisenhower administration, which is opposing any constitutional amendment that would do more than simply reaffirm the Constitution's supremacy to any treaty, had no

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 — The United States has offered to help with the training of the Vietnamese and other native troops in French Indochina in an effort to gain a military victory over the Communist rebels.

It is also understood that Lt. Gen. John Wilson O'Daniel will be sent to Indochina to head an expanded U.S. military mission in that country. O'Daniel, a training expert who knows Indochina, will replace Maj. Gen. Thomas J. H. Trapnell, a hero of the battle of the Philippines.

"GAINS EXAGGERATED"

Acting Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today that reports of Communist gains in Indochina had been exaggerated.

They emphasized, however, that the future of that war depends not on greater military efforts by the United States or France but on the development of the native troops in that country.

TRAINING, SPIRIT

Radford was reported to have stressed the importance of improving the training and spirit of the Vietnamese who now have 80 standard and 56 light battalions ready for combat. The present schedule calls for 54 to 56 additional standard battalions in the next year.

O'Daniel, who was 60 yesterday and was scheduled to retire at the end of this month, made a survey of the military situation in Indochina last year on the basis of

Committee Votes '55 Tax Deadline Delay to April 15

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—House tax writers voted today to postpone the annual showdown between the nation's breadwinners and the federal tax collector from March 15 to April 15, starting next year.

The House Ways and Means Committee said the one-month extension in filing individual returns should "relieve the difficulties" some taxpayers face in figuring their taxes.

While the committee did not say so, it also will give taxpayers more time to recover from their Christmas shopping.

WEALTH AND LOVE
Jean Tanburn of Park Ave.

HEIRESS WINS

Can Inherit And Marry Outside Faith

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (INS)—Love walked into a New York court today, kicked out a will, and opened the door for a Jewish girl to wed an Irish boy without forfeiting a life-time inheritance.

In a split 3-2 decision the appellate division reversed a surrogate's ruling and declared that—will or no will—pretty Jean Tanburn, who is Jewish, can marry Don Kelley, who is Irish, without giving up a $6,500-a-year income.

Jean, a 21-year-old Park Avenue debutante, also inherited $10,000 in cash in addition to the yearly income from a $675,000 trust fund.

Jean fell in love and became engaged to Kelley, a Princeton man, only to learn that her great grandfather, Abraham S. Rosenthal, had left a divided million-dollar will that specified anyone who inherited his money had to marry in the Jewish faith.

Surrogate court ruled Jean would lose the indirect inheritance from the wealthy silk importer if she married Kelley. She then began a long and bitted court battle.

The appellate division ruled that since Jean did not inherit directly from her great-grandfather, but through her late father, Stephen A. Tanburn, she had a right to the inheritance. Her father never willed a ban on interfaith marriages.

Jean declined to say when her marriage would take place. Her mother said:

"We are very pleased. . ."

Police Play Hunch, Trap 'The Big Man'

By BILL DIEHL

A 52-year-old Negro known as "The Big Man" and sought in connection with a "lover's lane" bandit gang, who had boosted he would never be taken alive, was captured without a struggle late yesterday in a wine shop at Forrest avenue and Boulevard, NE, police reported.

The man was listed as Jesse Kennedy, whose brushes with police included shooting at detectives attempting to arrest him last January, police said.

Police said Kennedy had been responsible for a reign of terror against Negroes and whites in the West Lake, Washington Park and Anderson Park sections.

He is being held on 14 counts of robbery, one count of rape, two counts of assault with intent to rape and one count of shooting at police officers.

MAKE ARREST

Capt. W. O. Duncan of the larceny squad, and Detectives George Shorall and L. N. Bradley of the vice squad, made the arrest.

The detectives said they went to Ripley's Alley, off Forrest avenue, following a telephone tip from an anonymous caller who said Kennedy could be found there. Failing to find him, they went to the wine shop on a hunch.

DENIES IT

Kennedy denied his identity at first, but admitted it when taken to police headquarters. He told police he recently returned from Cincinnati, where he had gone by "riding the rods" of a freight train.

He said he spent three days in jail in the Ohio city.

Police said Kennedy on New Year's Day shot at Lt. Frank Jordan and Detectives O. L. Adams and E. F. McKillop, who attempted to arrest him in connection with the "lover's lane" robberies. Two other men have been arrested in these robberies, police said, in which the method was to sneak up on parked cars.

OUR VIRGIN ISLAND

That Goat Rodie Shot Was Fine!

By ROBB WHITE
CHAPTER IV

This is the fourth installment from the book "Our Virgin Island" by Robb White of Thomasville, Ga.

On Marina Cay there was bright new lumber lying on the beach. Thinking that all our worldly goods would arrive soon, we went almost frantically to work on the shed.

Architecturally it was not pretty. It was sixteen feet long, and, in front, eight feet high but the sloping shed roof brought the back of it down to about six feet. The foundations were stones and it had a floor. It also had walls on the two ends and the back but no windows, and the entire front was open. We built it between the banyan tree and a clump of the poisonous manchineel trees and set it back ten feet from the high-tide mark on the beach.

We got the tarpaper roof on just before dark and turned to look at the empty sea around us. No tip of sail showed anywhere.

We had no beds (not even mattresses), no food, no light, nor, we discovered, water. I felt then that I was cutting a sorry figure as a husband, carpenter, provider, and man supposed to have common sense. To have overlooked such a fundamental as a source of drinking water on our island appeared to me, sitting disconsolate in the dark, idiotic.

It didn't bother Rodie. All we had to do was get a barrel and catch rain water running off the roof of our shed. Then, when we got our house built, we'd have a cistern. For our immediate thirst all we had to do was sail over to Great Camanoe and get some coconuts.

A comforting woman on a dark night.

When the moon came up our shed looked rather imposing. The moonlight was soft and hid its defects and made it look much more solid and square. No person moved or spoke. Only the sea was alive. Clouds gathered and covered the moon. The darkness was close and real. As the clouds thickened, Marina Cay became smaller and smaller, the sea seeming to creep up its sides.

We could see the first squall coming, a whitish line of spray in front of the wind.

Oh, man, how it could rain on that little island. It struck us furiously, tearing the leaves off the manchineel trees, bending the limbs of the banyan. In the

Reds Hold to Austria; Offer Talk in 1955

Westerners Accuse Molotov Of Fraud on Treaty Draft

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—Russia tonight refused again to free Austria from Red troops in an independence treaty to be signed now, but offered to talk in 1955 about a military withdrawal.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov tried to sugarcoat his proposal for Austria's indefinite occupation with the suggestion it could be discussed anew next year.

ACCUSED MOLOTOV

The Western powers, together with Austria, accused Molotov of transforming the Austrian treaty draft into a "tragic fraud" and quickly turned down his new amendment.

But the Big Four foreign ministers' conference agreed to devote another session on Thursday — adjournment day — to the Austrian issue.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault attacked the Molotov amendment as making no real difference to his original occupation proposal. This would leave four power armies in Austria as long as Germany is divided between the East and West.

CLAIMS THREAT

Attributing his military demands on Austria to the anti-Soviet threat he sees in the European Defense Community with West German troops, Molotov said:

"In connection with the delay of the conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany, the governments of the United States, United Kingdom and France and the Soviet Union shall have the right, after the coming into force of the treaty with Austria, to postpone temporarily the withdrawal of their troops from the territory of the respective zones of Austria.

"At the same time the governments of the four powers deem it necessary not later than in 1955 to reconsider the question of the date of withdrawal of the four powers from the territory of Austria."

Summerfield Modern Pay Plan Would Raise 400,000 by $80 Million

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield proposed today to install a "modern salary plan" in the Post Office Department and give 400,000 employes raises which would amount to about $80,000,000 a year.

He offered his plan to the House Post Office Committee as a substitute for congressional proposals to give all of the 500,000 postal workers across-the-board increases ranging from $400 to $1,100 a year.

In effect, the postmaster advocates reclassifying all post office jobs except about 100,000 held by fourth class postmasters and rural mail carriers. He would make pay more commensurate with the skill required for a job and with the responsibility attached to it.

UNEXPECTED DRAMA—HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 16—A rehearsal for a play, "The Dream," was turned into a nightmare for these five amateur actors when a burglary suspect ran through their rehearsal room and into the street where two police officers shot and killed him when he defied their command to stop. The officers were called as the victim, William W. Simms Jr., broke into the building through a rear window.

Ike Budget Bid Cut Only 5.5 Million

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee, cutting only 5½ million dollars from President Eisenhower's requests, today recommended $3,333,241,600 for operating the Treasury and Post Office Departments during the year starting July 1.

Of the total, $577,855,600 was for the Treasury Department, and $2,755,386,000 for the Post Office Department. The Post Office estimated that stamp sales and other operating revenues would bring in $2,431,000,000 of the amount it will spend.

The bill is the first of a dozen major appropriations measures by which Congress will provide funds to operate the government next year. A second, providing funds for numerous independent government agencies, is expected to be ready next week.

The Treasury-Post Office bill will come up for House debate later this week.

Its total was cut only $5,541,400, or less than two-tenths of one per cent, from Eisenhower's recommended $3,338,783,000, but is $50,491,150 below the amount the two departments received this year.

In addition to the new cash, the bill indirectly provides more than 17½ billion for fixed charges and trust funds. Biggest single item is $6,800,000,000 for interest on the national debt, a figure 275 millions higher than estimates for the current year. Another item provides $2,728,000,000 for tax refunds, or 342 millions below this year.

The trust funds, based on special taxes, include an estimated $5,980,643,241 for social security payments under the old age and survivors' insurance program and $1,545,495,440 for unemployment compensation payments.

'Namesake' of Judge Fined $100 Anyway

FLINT, Mich., Feb. 16 (AP)—Municipal Judge Raymond French looked at Raymond French and remarked: "This is the first time I ever had a namesake before me."

Citizen French, no relative, leaned forward and inquired: "What did you say, judge?"

"I said," the judge responded, "$100 for driving while drunk."

Jobless Total Up 728,000 Under New Fact Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks announced tonight that a new method of collecting statistics indicates the number of unemployed in early January was 3,087,000 or about 728,000 more than previously reported.

He said studies would be made to determine which method is the more accurate.

The new method put the number of employed persons at 59,778,000, which was only about 25,000 fewer than the figure arrived at under the old system.

In government statistics, a change in the number of employed does not necessarily mean an equal change in the number of jobless. This is why:

When a person is out of a job, he is not classed as unemployed unless government statisticians figure he is looking for a job. For example, a housewife who takes a Christmas job and then goes back to her kitchen is not ranked as unemployed.

The new figures announced tonight were preliminary and resulted from the first trial of a new method of sampling.

Under the old method, Weeks said, Census Bureau workers asked questions at about 25,000 households, located in 68 sample areas covering 123 counties.

Under the new method, he said, questions were also asked at 25,000 households but the questioning was spread over 230 areas covering approximately 450 counties.

The sample then was analyzed and the figure projected over the country as a whole. The result was that some 702,000 persons who were out of work but who, under the old method, were not deemed to be seeking work, were shifted into the ranks of job-seekers. Hence they became officially unemployed.

Other changes added up to a total unemployment figure of 3,087,000 for the week of Jan. 3 to 9.

Weeks said the new sampling resulted from a plan he approved last August. He said that ordinarily tentative figures would not be made public but he had ordered them published because greater unemployment was indicated under the new method which he said is an improvement over the old plan of sampling.

Quiet on Western Front Shattered: 30,000 GIs Meet Marilyn Monroe

By JIM BECKER

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Wednesday, Feb. 17 (AP)—Marilyn Monroe shattered the quiet on the Korean front yesterday.

Cheers, whistles and popping flash bulbs greeted the soldiers' favorite pinup as she began her Korean tour.

The Reds on the other side must have thought the boys were getting up steam for an offensive.

More than 30,000 airmen, Marines and soldiers crowded into her first three shows.

She sang a little. But nobody minded that. The boys just came to see her. Her cocktail dress had a plunging neckline.

Men perched atop telephone poles and clambered over jeeps and tanks while firing away at the actress with their cameras.

The Reds probably thought the 7th Infantry Division was on night maneuvers. The sky kept lighting up from the constant flashing of bulbs as cameras clicked.

A picture was missing when Marilyn stopped in at the officers' club to eat two cheese omelets.

The wall was bare where a week ago hung a huge blowup of that much publicized calendar photograph showing her reclining on a rug and wearing nothing but a smile.

"We thought it might embarrass Miss Monroe if she came here," a mess attendant explained.

The same picture disappeared from barracks walls and officers' clubs all over the area.

While Miss Monroe downed the omelets, Maj. Gen. R. M. Pate of the 1st Marine Division had to eat alone the steak dinner he had waiting for her.

Her helicopter crew overshot its mark, landing near the club several miles up the road from the general's quarters. Perhaps the crew was in the pay of the boys at the club. If so, this was a military secret.

There was another tourist in Korea. He is Harold Stassen, boss of U. S. Foreign Operations Administration. Stassen is six feet, four, but none of the soldiers seemed to notice him.

Farmer Got 45 Cents Of Food Dollar in '53

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The bill for processing, transporting and marketing U.S. food products last year was much larger than the amount farmers were paid for the materials, the Agriculture Department reported today.

Total charges for processing, transporting and selling were reported at $24,500,000,000 compared with about $20,025,000,000 paid farmers.

That means, the department said, that of every dollar the consumer spent for food last year, the farmers got about 45 cents. In the previous year, the producer got an average of 47 cents. During World War II, the farm share rose to 52 cents.

The department said that in 1953 prices farmers received for food products averaged 6 per cent below 1952, but that marketing charges increased 1 per cent.

In analyzing the marketing costs, the department said average hourly earnings of employes in food marketing enterprises were approximately 5 per cent higher than in 1952.

Transportation rates averaged slightly higher and rents, interests and other costs were up.

Profits of firms processing food products were said to have been somewhat larger in 1953. This profit increase was due primarily, the department said, to increases in volume of sales rather than to larger profits per unit of sales.

The cost of marketing fluid milk increased as much as 20 per cent for some plants and areas between 1950 and 1953. These increased costs were said to have been largely responsible for a retail price increase from an average of 19.8 cents a quart to 23 cents in major cities.

Mother Presses Fight In Blind School Beating

The mother of a blind boy whipped at the Georgia Academy for the Blind continued her efforts yesterday to bring punishment of the school's principal.

The mother, Mrs. Walter Thomas of Conyers, said she was disappointed at the State Board of Education's action rejecting the resignations of Principal Robert Long and Supt. F. G. Nelms and reinstating corporal punishment at the school. She said she is afraid to return her son to the school.

At the same time, it was learned that the state board is split 5-5 over continuing corporal punishment at the Macon and Cave Spring schools for handicapped children. Monday's vote was 5 to 4 for continuing such punishment. However, Irwin Kimsey of Clarkesville, presiding and not voting at the time, said he opposes corporal punishment.

A. A. Barksdale of Conyers, Mrs. Thomas' attorney, said he will confer with Solicitor Oscar Long of the Macon City Court to determine what action to take on a warrant charging the principal with assault and battery.

GETS SUPPORT

Chairman George Whitman Jr. of the state board said he received numerous compliments yesterday over his fight to outlaw corporal punishment in the special schools. He said he will continue it as long as he remains on the board.

Board members voting to continue corporal punishment, providing it is supervised, were: Henry Blount of Waynesboro, Lonnie Sweat of Blackshear, Herschell Lovett of Dublin, James Peters of Manchester and J. D. Rogers of Blakely.

VOTE "NO"

Opposing corporal punishment were Mrs. Julius Y. Talmadge of Athens, Glen Milner of Rome, Clarke Duncan of Buena Vista and Whitman.

Whitman said he will move again next month to abolish corporal punishment in these schools. Mrs. Talmadge, who seconded the motion Monday, said she will second the move every time it is made.

Whitman did not extend his opposition on corporal punishment to the public schools generally over the state. He pointed out that they are under the supervision of local school boards, and the punishment is a matter for local rules. Such punishment is banned in Atlanta schools.

Don't Fear Menopause, Doctors Ask

The change of life was described last night by a panel of eight physicians as a period in a woman's life which has been greatly exaggerated in importance and often is to be welcomed rather than feared.

The physicians, appearing on a forum at the Tower Theater sponsored by the Fulton County Medical Society and The Atlanta Journal, agreed that the menopause should be considered only "a normal event in life."

Not all women are troubled by it to the same extent, said doctors. More than half are not upset greatly by it.

Seventy per cent of women going through the change of life need no treatment except an understanding of what is happening, and of the remainder many need only a mild sedative.

Hormone treatment, the physicians said, is necessary for only a "small minority," and then only briefly.

Dr. C. B. Upshaw, associate professor of obstetrics at Emory, said that often "the menopause should be welcome as a time of rest for women who have borne big families."

Cessation of menstruation has no effect on a woman's sex life, it was pointed out.

Dr. J. H. Ridley said that women at menopause do not become less attractive sexually to their husbands.

For men, the doctors said, the change of life is not so well defined and many never experience it. One doctor said he knew a father who was 85 years old.

Others on the panel were Drs. J. C. Massee, G. C. Hewell, Regina Gabler, G. A. Williams, M. K. Bailey, M. T. Benson.

Hapeville Picks Recreation Chief, Advisory Board

Hapeville City Council last night appointed a temporary recreational director and a five-man recreation advisory board.

W. C. (Top) Ellington was appointed recreational director on a temporary basis for a six-month period at a salary of $300 a month. Ellington has been serving as acting director since December when J. H. Cunningham resigned.

Members of the advisory board for 1954 are the Rev. William Cook, Ira Dodd, G. M. Terry, Mrs. Mamie Lewis and Jodie H. Brown.

Terms of office of the old recreation board were terminated by council recently in order to set up the recreation board on a one-year basis. The old board was made up of members having terms staggered from one to five years.

WATER BOARD MINUTES RELEASED

2 Meetings Since '43, Candler Letter Says

By BERT SPENCER

Information presented last night to the Decatur City Commission indicated that County Commissioner Scott Candler has administered the $22,000,000 county water system with only two meetings of a board that was established by law in 1943 to approve his work.

Members of the City Commission, whose predecessors had leased the city water system to the county in 1941, asked for copies of all reports the DeKalb County Waterworks Advisory Board might have made since it was created by legislative act March 20, 1943.

No charges of irregularities in administration of the water system since then were made by the City Commission.

Candler, who was made sole administrator of the water system by the same act that created the board, was not available for comment, but earlier had declined to comment on a previous commission request for such information.

FILES REFUSED

The county commissioner, who is chairman of the water board, earlier refused to allow reporters to see any files of the board.

In a letter to members of the board, however, Candler noted that the body had held a meeting "when the board was first appointed," and stated the following:

"As far as I know, since that time, there has been no meeting of the board, and as far as I know, there have been no occasions for a meeting, except that the act requires that they meet on the first Monday in January, April, July and November of the year."

In the same letter, a copy of which was released by the City Commission last night, Candler called a meeting of the water board for Feb. 5.

"THE LAST MEEETING"

Minutes of the Feb. 5 meeting, released by the City Commission, showed the meeting was held, and that Candler reviewed the work of the water system since "the last meeting," and presented the audit of the system since its inception.

The minutes showed that Candler; George Mew, treasurer and comptroller of Emory University, and Guy Rutland Sr., DeKalb contractor, both appointed to the board by Candler, and City Manager L. V. Bean, appointed by the cty, were present.

Mayor A. Mell Turner, as vice chairman of the board, came in before the meeting ended, records indicated. The minutes showed that the board approved the actions of Candler as administrator of the water system, and the connty sewer system, over which the commissioner was given authority in a later legislative act.

BEAN ABSTAINED

Bean abstained from voting approval of Candler's report, and explained to the commission last night that "it would have taken two weeks" to make an analytical study of the audit and information presented by Candler at the meeting.

The act creating the water advisory board provided that two members appointed by Candler be approved by the first grand jury in session after they were made.

Grand jury presentments made in 1943 after the act was passed made no reference to the advisory board or its members.

The law provided that a report of the board's action, and a statement of revenues and expenditures of the water system, and a summary of its operations be presented to the grand jury at the first term of court each year.

The first term of DeKalb Superior Court is in March. No presentments of March term grand juries since 1943 make any reference to the advisory board or the reports required of it.

Commissioner George Moore

1,000 U.S. Jobs in State Slated To Go

In line with the reduction in government manpower, 1,000 federal jobs will be abolished in Georgia within the next six months, mostly at military installations, U.S. Civil Service Commissioner George M. Moore said here yesterday.

The cutback will be handled, however, through the regular turnover in personnel and will involve no firings, Moore said.

He explained that vacated jobs will be left unfilled. Of the 1,000 jobs, 500 are in the Atlanta area, Moore added. The reduction is part of a general tightening up of military operations, he indicated.

Moore, one of the three top civil service commissioners, is making a two-day speaking tour of the state. He will return to Washington today, where he is expected to testify soon before a Senate subcommittee on possible changes in the Civil Service program.

The system of appeals now available to civil service employes who have been discharged from the government is under study, Moore said, to determine if a better process can be devised.

Gas Tax Boosted Despite Uproar

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 16 (INS)—Mass demonstrations at Mobile's City Hall today failed to dissuade the City Commission from levying an additional one-cent per gallon tax on gasoline.

The big crowd was drawn to the commission meeting by last week's announcement that the tax, effective June 1, would be approved to bring the total city levy on gas to three cents per gallon. The new boost is to provide revenue for maintenance of paved streets.

Illness Delays DeKalb School Tax Study

The chairman of DeKalb County's Board of Tax Assessors said yesterday he did not know when the body would consider a raise in county tax assessments demanded by the grand jury.

In special presentments made Monday, the jury cited a pending "crisis" in DeKalb school financing and called on the assessors to increase school revenue by raising assessments on all DeKalb properties.

R. E. Hodgson, chairman of the tax assessors board, said the other two members of the board are sick and would not predict when the body could meet.

Hodgson declined to comment on the demanded assessment increase, saying it was a matter for the entire board to consider in an official meeting.

The family of J. Curtis Thompson, who was a member of the Decatur Board of Tax Assessors before he was appointed to the DeKalb board recently, said Thomson was due to return home soon following an operation. His wife said she expected his recuperation to be speedy and that he might be up in about a week.

The family of C. M. Sanders, the third member of the board, could not be reached for comment on his condition.

The assessors are appointed by County Commissioner Scott Candler with the approval of the grand jury.

In its presentments, the grand jury pointed out that the law requires the board to assess properties at their "just and fair market value." It demanded the board "discharge its duties as the law requires."

Hodgson said no board in the state assesses at full current market values. Instead, he explained, the board assesses at 50 per cent of a 1941 building value scale.

The grand jury said assessments made in this manner are about 25 per cent of present market values and produce too small a tax digest to support the school system.

Mr. Linder Has 2 Ears, Therefore---

Tom Linder, who interprets the Book of Revelations and who occupies the office of Georgia's Commissioner of Agriculture, gives Georgia a pretty bad press, making us look like our worst critics say we look. He also uses the Market Bulletin for his political views.

In his last one he has a headline like this:

"A Communist Is an Internationalist—An Internationalist Is a Communist."

Let's go right on with that sort of reasoning:

"All persons in the mental hospitals have two eyes — most commissioners of agriculture have two eyes. Therefore, most commissioners of agriculture might well be in mental hospitals."

"All cuckoos have two legs. Commissioners of agriculture have two legs. Therefore . . ."

"All jackasses have two ears. Commissioners of agriculture have two ears. Therefore . . ."

This could go on and on. But it well illustrates the Linder reasoning.

Mr. Linder says there are just two kinds of Communists. There are the "big rich" who want to internationalize the world so the "money kings" can control it. And then there are the "riff-raff" Communists.

It will no doubt surprise the wealthy folks in Georgia and the nation that Mr. Linder thinks them Communists.

And the nation's top industrial leaders who recently released the Randall report calling for more and more international trade, and President Eisenhower, who endorsed all of it, will be surprised to find that they, too, are the "big rich" who wish to "commune under the money kings." Mr. Henry Ford II wants international trade. Mr. Linder will tag him, too.

The only reason to make Alaska a state, says Mr. Linder, is to give the money-king Communists two more votes in the Senate. This will surprise Sen. Richard B. Russell and Sen. Walter George, who, among other Democratic leaders, are supporting Alaska's claim to statehood.

It's hard to imagine in what category he places the American Farm Bureau, which passed a resolution at its recent Atlanta meeting calling for more international trade to benefit the farmers. Are its members "money kings" or "riff-raff" Communists?

Well, anyhow, Mr. Linder goes on and on.

"All monkeys have teeth. Commissioners of agriculture have teeth. Therefore all commissioners of agriculture are . . ."

But why go on? This should be enough to illustrate Mr. Linder's Market Bulletin assistance to farmers.

Its Citizens Will Meet DeKalb's School Needs

The people of DeKalb County may as well face facts about financing their school program. There's no way to pass the buck and no way to escape a growing crisis which in itself has been brought about by growth—industrial growth, population growth, and urbanization.

The facts are simple, as Supt. Jim Cherry has pointed out. In 1947 the school system enrolled 10,251 children. Estimated enrollment for this year is 22,700, an increase of 12,449, or nearly 122 per cent, in the six-year period.

At the end of the first week of school, Sept. 10, 1953, Mr. Cherry recently reported, the DeKalb system had enrolled 3,172 more children than were enrolled the first week of school in 1952. The increase continues week by week. By next September there will be at least another 3,000 children on the rolls.

To illustrate DeKalb County's growth it is only necessary to point out that within the past six years more than 20,000 new homes have been built and occupied in the school district.

Recognizing the seriousness of the situation, the DeKalb Grand Jury has joined Mr. Cherry and other county authorities in urging that tax assessments be raised to prevent a major crisis from developing.

The City of Decatur, which operates its own school system, spends $97.73 of local funds for each child per year. Atlanta spends $147.36 and Fulton County spends $118.99. DeKalb County can spend under the present assessment only $58.97.

What the grand jury and school authorities are asking is that tax assessments be equalized so that DeKalb children will have the same opportunities as those in Decatur, Atlanta and Fulton County.

"The problem is further magnified," Mr. Cherry points out," by the fact that state funds are allocated to school systems on the basis of the preceding school year." With an average increase of some 300 pupils per week, the DeKalb system must make up the difference locally for a whole year. The state should make some adjustments for such cases.

It is a gnawing problem. We feel certain, as does the DeKalb jury, that citizens of that county are willing to pay on the same basis as Decatur and other adjoining school systems for the education of their children.

The Cravey Committee Can Do a Real Job

Critics of Comptroller-General Zack Cravey denounce his appointment as chairman of the committee to investigate loan shark activities as equivalent to appointing a mouse to guard the cheese.

We disagree.

We have by no means always agreed with Mr. Cravey, but we do believe he has an awareness of the sorrow and suffering brought to the most needy and distressed persons by the rapacity of loan sharks.

Tremendous influence will be brought to bear on him and other members of the committee. The loan sharks will seek in every possible way to buy their way out of any possible adverse report. Mr. Cravey and members of the committee know this. They can do themselves, the state and the poor people upon whom the loan sharks prey a real service by bringing in a report which will produce legislation making it impossible for these insatiably greedy sharks to prey on misfortune.

We offer to Chairman Cravey and his associates every possible aid in doing a job which will go down in the book of judgment and prove an asset when the sheep are separated from the goats.

We don't believe Zack wants to go up there and have St. Peter thumb through that book with us and say, "Hmmmmm, let's see now."

So we cheer him and his committee on. The vicious, greedy loan sharks are there. Let's root them out.

Let's Clarify Rules Concerning Juveniles

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook is exactly right in suggesting that the General Assembly should clarify Georgia's laws governing the age of criminal responsibility. There exists a glaring conflict today that makes it necessary for a prosecuting attorney to use his own discretion.

An act of the Legislature in 1951, later upheld by the Supreme Court, says juvenile courts shall have jurisdiction over all children under 17 who violate the laws of the state.

A general Georgia law, however, sets the age of criminal responsibility at 14 or from 10 to 14 if such child knows the difference between right and wrong.

Another Supreme Court decision has held that the juvenile court law does not amend or repeal the general law on the age of criminal responsibility. The court has held that proceedings in a juvenile court are civil, not criminal, and thus the 1951 law does not conflict with a constitutional provision giving superior courts jurisdiction over cases in which the offender is subject to loss of life or imprisonment.

In view of the conflicts in interpretation of the laws, most prosecutors must be confused, indeed.

Let's clear up the meaning of juvenile delinquency and criminality and decide who has jurisdiction over whom. Certainly there is a need to draw the line between criminal court trials and prison sentences and juvenile trials leading to corrective action and discipline in a training school.

State Auto Tax Laws Still Are Inadequate

That plucky Houston County tax collector, Miss Florine Rainey, is still reminding her constituents that the state auto tax laws are full of loopholes that need plugging.

She told the Kiwanians in Perry so the other day, reminding them that those auto owners who declare their cars for taxation and pay the levy are carrying more than their share of the tax burden. She told them, too, that the recent bill passed by the General Assembly, the one Gov. Talmadge "did not see fit" to sign into law, would have helped her and other county tax collectors with the problem.

It hurts Miss Rainey to see so many auto owners escape ad valorem tax payment. She does one of the finest jobs in Georgia in tax collection and she doesn't like the idea of the auto tax dodgers getting away with it.

Neither do we and we've been saying so for a long time.

We'd like to see the gubernatorial candidates write the subject into their platforms: by guaranteeing auto tax collection or by wiping out the property tax on cars and raising the license tag fee to make up the difference.

Gun Registration Law Hit as an Invasion Of Right To Keep and Bear Firearms

Atlanta — Firearms registration usually begins with the listing of handguns and other arms which may be concealed on the person. Once a lawmaking body succeeds in passing this type of legislation the next step might be to require the registration of all firearms, perhaps with the exception of smoothbore shotguns.

A good argument against arms registration is the possibility of enemy invasion. In such an event, guerilla activity would be a very important part of our defense. But, could this be done by unarmed people?

If our weapons were registered, all that would be necessary to disarm us would be a visit to the local police station, where a full list of available arms, and their owners, would be waiting for the invader.

Let us retain, not throw away, our right to "keep and bear arms," as guaranteed by our Constitution.

McCarthy Compared To Joseph Goebbels

Atlanta—According to McCarthy and the disciples of McCarthyism, the clergy is chockfull of Communists; the War Department, especially the Army, is riddled with Communists; the State Department is full of Communists; our leaders for the past twenty years were traitors; Government workers are mainly Commies, perverts and bad risks; the labor unions are full of Communists, etc., etc.

The only group in the country with a clean bill of health is big business—the same big business supporting McCarthyism in an attempt to demoralize the people and take over the country.

Heil, McCarthy!—and all his Goebbels.

We All Need Boost In 'Atom-Balmy' Age

Long Beach, Calif. — As a subscriber, I enjoy reading Charles L. Allen's column each day.

More papers, it seems to me, should carry a column like that one. All of us need a daily spiritual "boost" for this atom-balmy age!

GOP Gains Nothing Smearing Democrats

Atlanta — If the Republican Party, through its spokesmen, including senators and congressmen, are unwilling to take the sound advice of President Eisenhower, then they misjudge the great body of American voters, for they believe in fair play. They gain nothing by calling Democrats, who are after all fellow-Americans, sadists and guilty of treason and other high crimes and misdemeanors, when as a matter of fact all of us, including the Republicans over the past twenty years, have enjoyed the greatest period of prosperity and growth that this nation has ever experienced.

The Republicans would have us believe that there are two kinds of Americans. We are a nation and we must not be divided. Those few Republicans who are dominating the present scene and the balance of us, whether Republicans or Democrats, surely play a vital part in the everyday operations of the greatest nation on earth.

Those Republicans will have the satisfaction of knowing that when election time comes they will be overwhelmed by both Democrats and Republicans and all thinking citizens.

Oil Still Swings A Hefty Influence

WASHINGTON — Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey is on the spot because of political entanglements of the Eisenhower administration with powerful oil interests. You may remember how the latter contributed so lavishly to the successful 1952 Eisenhower presidential campaign as well as the campaigns of a number of Republican senatorial candidates.

All that is being recalled and publicized now in newspaper and magazine stories about the Texas oil barons which are timely because we are about to enter another national political campaign.

All of these articles refer to the windfall the big oil men get in the 27½ per cent depletion allowance deducted from their incomes before taxes are figured; for that gives them a "kitty" with which they can play politics on a big scale.

This is where Secretary Humphrey gets involved in the plot.

He is the first head of our Treasury in nearly a quarter of a century who has not recommended a cut in the depletion allowance for oil; though his predecessors, who urged a sharp reduction, never got anywhere with Congress where oil has friends in both parties.

President Eisenhower, in his budget message, included the oil depletion matter among a number of others which he said the Treasury Department is reviewing and upon which it had not reached "final conclusions." Why a "review" is necessary is a bit hard to understand. Subsequently, in his news conference on the budget message, Secretary Humphrey said he would submit no recommendations to Congress this session on the oil depletion allowance, among several others. That means, of course, nothing before the election.

Yet Mr. Humphrey is known to feel that the 27½ per cent allowance is unjustified. That is what every head of the Treasury Department came to realize, when he examined this expensive piece of favoritism, after the time of Andrew W. Mellon who was Secretary of the Treasury when it was inserted in the law. That was in the Calvin Coolidge administration in the middle 1920's.

Though there is some justification for an allowance to cover actual risk in exploration for oil, especially smaller "wild-cat" ventures, there is no conscionable reason for a bonanza for giant, established corporations such as now permitted. Previous administrations have recommended a reduction to 15 per cent.

Why has it been retained all these years and at 27½ per cent?

It is hardly necessary to point in answer to the political power of big oil. We saw it in the last session of Congress in passage of the Offshore Oil Bill which handed over marginal oil lands to the states as the big oil interests demanded. President Eisenhower paid off his political debt by signing the measure which former President Truman twice had refused to do.

We have another election, a congressional election, coming up. Republicans in particular hope to tap the oil gold pot for that. That explains the timidity to do anything that might possibly offend oil, including trimming of the depletion allowance.

The Box Supper Is a Good Mixer

It could be age or it could be geography. But when the Sunday School class had its recent box supper, it was surprising the number who never before had attended one. The class consists of young adults. The average age is on the morning side of where life is reputed to begin, although the "young" really means anyone who can climb the stairs to the classroom.

Having been to an oldtime sure-enough box supper does place a date. There was a time in the rural environs that I knew when the event was the social affair of the season. Believing that the culinary avenue was a thru-way to a man's heart, a girl packed into a fancy box the finest products of the art, tied it all up in pretty ribbon, carried it to the social at the schoolhouse and hoped.

The boxes were auctioned, the intent being to raise funds for a worthy cause such as having the piano tuned or buying those newfangled gas lamps for the auditorium.

Which box belonged to whom was strictly classified information. But when a swain thought he knew which beribboned package belonged to the girl he was all wrapped up in, he would bid briskly for the privilege of retiring to a dim corner and sharing the contents with her. Love, they say, is one game that is never called because of darkness.

Or if some uppity gal in the neighborhood needed to be taken down a notch or two, the boys would slip some money to a dolt—there always was one—and egg him on to buy Miss High Falutin's box so she would have to eat with him.

But at the Sunday School box supper, they eliminated the auction. Instead they cut up valentines and a fellow ate with whoever had the heart part which fitted the one he drew. And it was married couples, so each wife got to eat with someone else's husband. And there were no feelings hurt. In fact they seemed to take to the idea for a change.

Along with the cobbler's bench, the coffee grinder and the spool cabinet, the box supper is an antique that we can well afford to take off the shelf, dust off and put back into use. Not merely to preserve a pleasant phase of the past, but as a reminder that we can entertain ourselves by just plain neighborly get-togethers, without a big dinner check, a canasta deck or a neck stiff from TV.

Squirrels Present Hard Nut To Crack

Against the winter sky the tall trees stand black and bare of leaf. High in the topmost forks the squirrel beds cluster, warm nests where soon, perhaps even now, the baby squirrels are being born. And there are many things I'd like to know about those nests, and about the little creatures which inhabit them. How, for example, do they build them?

In all my years of casually observing squirrels I never saw one carrying a leaf, as in the spring you see the birds awing with twigs and strings and whatnot, building their houses. Yet they must gather leaves.

And how does he make that first leaf stay in place, without the wind whisking it away while he goes to fetch another one? It seems to me, offhand, to be a frustrating business, trying to build a leaf house in a tree top on a windy day. Who builds the nest, anyhow? Does Papa do the building while Mama hauls leaves? Do the neighbors help? And how do they make it hang together? You see the trees bending and swaying in the blowing wind. You see the leaves torn from the twigs and whirred away. But from the loose and ragged pile that makes the nest, no leaf ever falls. How come? And how can they roof and seal a pile of leaves so the rains won't blow in, and the icy wind?

What keeps the babies from falling out? And how many babies are there? One a season? Two? Four? And how old are they before they venture for the first time into the high precarious world of the tree tops? I never saw a baby squirrel so young he could not run and leap and climb. I never saw one sitting beside the nest, afraid to hit the treetop highways, as you oftimes see young birds, cheeping in alarm, afraid to try their wings. But how do their parents train them to jump and climb? Do they just push them out some morning and say, "OK, Buster, you're on your own." And how long do baby squirrels nurse, before they turn to a stronger diet of acorns and hickorynuts?

How old is a little boy squirrel when he starts thinking about little girl squirrels? And when squirrels mate, do they mate for life, like people, one Papa and one Mama living together in the tree top nest until death do them part? Or do they mate casually and by chance, like cats? And do the young couples go out and build nests of their own, or do they just move in with the old folks, adding a leafy wing or two to the old family homestead? And are there bachelor squirrels, and spinster squirrels, and aunts and uncles, all living in the same nests together?

When it comes a squirrel's time to die, what becomes of him? Does he die in the treetops and stay there, his bones slowly whitening in the sun and the rain? Or does he come down to hunt an acorn some bright morning to find he can't climb back up the tree again? And how long do squirrels live, anyway. Five years? Ten years? Twenty? Did anybody ever see an old granddaddy squirrel, too deaf and slow and stiff in the joints to climb? I never did.

These things puzzle me, and I wonder about them, now and then. For every once in a while a squirrel comes and sits in the mimosa tree and peers in my living room window, curiously. And it occurs to me that my mysterious gray neighbors knows a darn sight more about me, and my family, than I know about him, and his.

Questioning Shows A Healthy Attitude

Yesterday we considered the disciple Thomas who has been somewhat misjudged by the easy phrase "Doubting Thomas." He doubted for a moment only. When the evidence his heart yearned for was offered, he believed with heart and soul: "My Lord and my God" (John 20:28).

Most of us tend to be merciless in judging those who fail immediately to accept as true and at face value what we may say. The man who says, "I'm from Missouri, so you've got to prove it to me," irritates us. We are insulted by his lack of trust in our word.

We ever resist the man who raises questions. Questions bother us for they strike at the roots of long-accepted opinions and they seem to challenge the comfort we find in the status quo.

The questions of little children perplex their parents. The questions probe too deeply for ready answering. Satisfactory answers sometimes come hard. Yet there is hope for the child who asks questions. The tragic truth is that too many children during the passing years stop their questioning. And that is a sign that they've stopped their mental growth.

Thomas questioned the credibility of the others when they said that Christ had broken the bonds of death on the first Easter. It wasn't that he didn't want to believe what they said. Rather, what they reported seemed too good to be true. But he had an open mind, for when Christ appeared a week later he believed with an immediate response.

Someone has said that the "Age of Amen" has now given way to the "Age of Oh Yeah." This is surely true, for day by day, when I talk with both youth and adults who are seeking knowledge of God and His will, I must meet the challenge: "But how can I be sure and why do you say that this is so?"

What a healthy attitude this represents! Too easily we accept and too indifferently we adopt "the faith of our fathers." But sometimes "the faith of the fathers" never becomes "the faith of the sons." They live out their lives believing in the God of tradition and never know the thrill and satisfaction of believing in the God of their own personal experience.

Tennyson suggested: "There lives more faith in honest doubt . . . believe me, than in half the creeds." He wrote these words after an experience which agonized his mind and raised questions concerning everything he had taken for granted. His youthful friend, Arthur Hallam, had died. Tennyson could not understand why God could have taken home so young and so promising a friend.

But the poet opened his mind to the consoling ministry of God's love. He emerged from the shadows in the valley and passed to the mountain peak of personal faith. He turned from doubt to faith, and gave to the centuries the great tribute of the conquering heart, "In Memoriam."

Why This Furore Over Hatch Act?

WASHINGTON—This is certainly a topsy-turvy world—if one takes seriously the news dispatches of today which show "liberals" trying to restrict freedom of expression and another group on the opposite side, called "reactionaries," trying to prevent such restriction.

Some senators of the Democratic Party usually described as "liberals" are sponsoring legislation which would prevent certain high officials in the State Department from speaking at political meetings. They say that the Hatch Act should be amended so as to prohibit the security officer of the State Department, R. W. Scott McLeod, from making political addresses.

Normally one would expect any "liberal" to be interested in widening rather than restricting the area of expression for the individual. No more reactionary piece of legislation was ever put on the statute books than the Hatch Act, which takes away from government employes their right to speak their own views on the subject of public affairs. With all the shouting that has been done lately about a "hysteria" that would deprive citizens of guarantees given them under the Bill of Rights, it is surprising that an effort now is being made to make the Hatch Act more rather than less restrictive.

The fallacy in this movement can be readily discerned when it is noted that the Hatch Act does not deprive "presidential appointees" of their right to speak at political meetings.

It seems strange that when Adrian Fisher, legal adviser to the State Department under the Truman Administration, made political speeches, no objection came from any of the "liberal" senators. Nor was there any fuss raised by the same "liberals" when Conrad Snow, head of the State Department's loyalty security board began making speeches in the autumn of 1951 attacking Senator McCarthy.

Just why should anybody in Congress be afraid to let a government official express himself on any subject of public interest whether it is at a political meeting or a non-political gathering? The line of demarcation between a speech extolling administration policies, yet not mentioning the name of a political party, and an address which happens to use the name of a political party or candidate is too thin to recognize.

Shark Probe Plans Told By Cravey

Comptroller General Zack Cravey, chairman of a newly organized legislative committee to investigate small loan operations in Georgia, said yesterday the committee will call on the Solicitors General Association of Georgia for information.

The committee also will call on the small loan operators' association, the state superintendent of banks and the attorney general for recommendations, Cravey said. He added that public hearings will be held throughout the state.

The committee, created by the last session of the Legislature, met in a closed session yesterday and elected Cravey chairman and authorized "only the chairman" to make public statements about its activities.

Rep. B. C. Gardner Jr., of Dougherty County, was named secretary. Other members are Rep. George McGee of Chatham County, Sen. T. E. Kennedy of Ashburn, and F. M. Bird representing the Georgia Bar Association.

The committee is charged with investigating the small loan business in Georgia and making recommendations to the next Legislature for laws governing such loan operations. It was created after a House committee killed a bill to restrict sharply "loan sharking" in the state.

Elephantine Case Of Seasickness

The animals were heading for Rotterdam on the cargo vessel Lekkerkerk. The skipper said they were so seasick they would have died if they had gone further. He unloaded them here for shipment by rail.

As soon as they set foot on land, the grateful elephants went into a dance and trumpted with joy.

Death Penalty Is Out in Israel

JERUSALEM, Israeli Section, Feb. 16 (AP)—Israel today abolished the death penalty for murder.

The Knesset (Parliament) by a 61-33 vote passed the controversial bill first introduced four years ago making the penalty for murder life imprison instead of hanging. Treason against the state or betrayal to enemies or similar offenses under the army code still are punishable by hanging.

One other class of crime still punishable by death is "crimes committed by Nazis against the Jewish people."

Eastman Mother, 38, To See Dad 1st Time

EASTMAN, Feb. 16—(AP)—A 38-year-old Dodge countian, Mrs. Lula Farmer, will see her father for the first time Friday when she visits him at Fort Payne, Ala.

Mrs. Farmer talked with her father, Oscar J. Gibbs, by phone. Until a few days ago she thought he was dead. Meanwhile, Gibbs, who had also believed his daughter dead, said he is "counting the minutes until I can see her."

The Eastman matron told this story of how she and her father found each other:

She was born at Grady Hospital in Atlanta. Her twin brother and mother died after the births. She spent several years at the Georgia Baptist Orphanage in Hapeville and in 1921 was adopted by the Durden family of Dodge County where she grew up and married Jerry Farmer.

Her father was in the Army at the time of her birth and by error was informed his wife and both babies died.

Recently, several misfortunes struck the Farmer family. One daughter was taken seriously ill and Mrs. Farmer herself was in an accident. Mrs. Farmer wrote the Veterans Administration to learn whether her father had carried government insurance. The VA traced Gibbs to Alabama and informed her he was still alive.

N. DeKalb Seen Adding 2 Schools

2 Sites Eyed By Educators

Two new elementary schools may be constructed soon in the North DeKalb area to meet educational needs of that rapidly growing area.

G. V. Langloise, supervisor of construction, DeKalb County Department of Education, said negotiations are under way with Parker and Co., real estate developers, for a tract of land in the Ashford Park area, and the state is expected to approve another school in the Northwood area east of Chamblee within the next few weeks.

The Ashford Park school will be located south of Caldwell Road and bounded by Tryon Road, Laverne Drive, Craven Ridge Road and Lee Drive. These streets have not yet been paved but are part of the plan of development for that area.

Both schools, Langloise said, are part of a long-range plan for North DeKalb County.

Ultimate plans for the Ashford Park school called for 26 classrooms, including modern facilities such as lunchrooms, assembly rooms and libraries.

CHAMBLEE SITE

The Northwood school, to be constructed by the state school building authority, will be located in the area between the Buford Highway and Chamblee.

Ultimate plans call for 18 classrooms and the other necessary facilities for an efficient school plant, Langloise said.

The building will eventually be able to handle some 600 students, he added.

SMALLER SIZE

Langloise explained that the original building would be somewhat smaller but would be so constructed that additions could be added in order to keep pace with the increases in population.

Langloise also said that the rapid growth of the area will probably require the construction of a new high school in the future.

No definite plans have been made for a high school, he said, but they are in the discussion stage and undoubtedly will be added to the long-range program.

Traffic Flow, Parking Problems Under Study by Hapeville C. of C.

The traffic committee of the Hapeville Chamber of Commerce is studying methods of speeding up the flow of traffic through the city and finding additional parking space for shoppers.

Robert McCord, chamber president, said the committee, headed by Dr. L. M. Hewitt, adopted the objectives last week in its project to develop a solution to Hapeville's traffic and parking problems.

He said the committee is seeking ways to speed up traffic in the city and also provide proper parking for those who want to stop and trade in Hapeville.

"This means, of course, we will have to find additional off-street parking spaces," he explained.

The committee, McCord said, also is interested in having telephone and power poles in the city placed in positions that will not block sidewalks. He said several poles on Stewart avenue and King Arnold street are squarely in the middle of walks and could prove to be hazardous for pedestrians who must step around them.

McCord said the committee invites suggestions on its study which will be acted on by the chamber board of directors before it is submitted to Hapeville's mayor and council.

Dog Owners Ruled Liable In Chamblee

Chamblee dog owners will be held liable for their pets and may face a prison sentence and a fine in event Fido becomes a "dangerous nusiance."

A new ordinance passed by the City Council last week, makes dog owners, or parents of dog owners, responsible for wayward canines.

The ordinance is not a leash law and doesn't require dogs to be penned but insists that "they behave themselves."

BILLBOARD ORDINANCE

The council also passed a "road sign and billboard" ordinance, which would make unlawful the construction of road signs or billboards that will "obstruct vision" or impede traffic. The council gave, as an example, neon signs too close to traffic lights that may be confusing to motorists.

A "merit increase" in salary was voted to Mrs. Pearl Miller, Chamblee city clerk. The council said the term "merit increase" was used because it does not increase the base pay for city clerks.

The council also commended Mrs. Miller for the "exceptional performance of her duties."

SKATING RINK ACTION

A petition asking for a license to reopen a skating rink in Chamblee was also heard by the council, but action was deferred with the suggestion that a "consent petition" be asked of persons living close to the rink.

The council intimated that if citizens living within hearing distance of the skating rink did not object, the license would be granted.

No Nearer Race, Gillis Says After Talmadge Visit

State Highway Chairman James Gillis was no nearer in or out of the summer's gubernatorial race, after he and Gov. Talmadge spent the weekend at Gillis' home in Soperton.

Gillis said they talked about cattle, not the forthcoming race, as they enjoyed a social visit together.

Talmadge said the conversation centered on cattle and pine trees. He said politics were mentioned only casually.

The road chief said he could not be considered either "in" or "out" of the gubernatorial picture.

Peanut-Size Flash Bulb Wins Spurs

A photographic specialist who has developed a flash bulb termed the "smallest in the world" said here yesterday the bulb should be a boon to amateur photographers.

Don Mohler of Cleveland, Ohio, photographic specialist with General Electric Co., said the new bulb—not much bigger than a peanut—will enable a photographer to "take good pictures with ordinary film at ordinary distances."

What's more, he said, a package of 12 bulbs is small enough to go in a lady's pocketbook. He added 120 bulbs would go in a shoe box.

Mohler, who will address the Southeastern Photographers' Assn. at 9 a.m. today at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel, said two dozen of the new bulbs would go inside the first bulb used for flash photography in 1930.

Known as an M2 bulb, the new device is a product of continuous research that has been accelerated since World War II, Mohler pointed out. He said it was developed because of the greatly increased use of flash bulbs in recent years.

"The public uses more than 1,000,000 flash bulbs in a day now," he said, "and we believe that number will double within a few years."

Amateur photographers no longer want to depend on sunshine for picture making, he said. He said "even low-cost cameras now can make pictures anytime anywhere."

Georgia Wins Extradition of Ky. Pulbisher

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 16 (AP)—Gov. Lawrence Wetherby has granted Georgia's request for extradition of James E. Dunne, Louisville publisher, to Telfair County where Dunne is charged with criminal libel.

Dunne is publisher of the Insurance Index. The magazine is alleged to have libeled Gov. Herman Talmadge, Zack Cravey, comptroller general and ex-officio insurance commissioner of Georgia and George P. Whitman, judge of the Fulton County (Atlanta) Superior Court.

Articles published by Dunne dealt with litigation between Cravey and John D. McArthur, Chicago insurance executive. The litigation followed revocation of the Georgia license of the Bankers' Life and Casualty Insurance Co., headed by McArthur.

Gov. Talmadge asked for extradition of both McArthur and Dunne. Earlier this year Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois refused the Georgia request for extradition of McArthur. McArthur's attorneys said their client had no connection with articles critical of Talmadge and Cravey.

Dunne's office in Louisville reported he was out of the city today.

13 in School Bus Injured at Crossing

HILLSBORO, Ore., Feb. 16 (UP)—A freight train struck a school bus loaded with children at a crossing near here today, injuring 12 children and the bus driver.

None was reported in serious condition. Sheriff R. N. Busch said the bus was carrying 26 children when the accident occurred.

Busch said only the fact that the bus and the train were traveling at slow speeds averted a more serious accident.

Merit Time Of Readers, Papers Told

American newspapers must spruce up their products in appearance and content to meet the rising competition for a reader's time, the president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association declared here last night.

Speaking to the Georgia chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, Peyton Anderson said papers "are still using printing proceses which go back to Gutenberg."

Anderson is publisher of the Macon News and Macon Telegraph.

Another newsman, Bert Struby, executive editor of the Macon papers, told the group that newspapers must condense news stories, brighten up the paper's content and strive for brevity.

Editorial pages that present "masses of type," stereotyped ideas and "canned" comment drew the criticism of another Macon newsman, Joe Parham, editor of the News.

However, some editorials are filled with shoddy thinking masquerading as logic, Parham declared. "Some of our editorial cliches are rivaled only by the old standbys of the sports pages," he observed.

Council Puts Tax on Beer In East Point

East Point has adopted an ordinance levying an excise tax on all malt beverages sold in the city limits.

The City Council adopted the measure Monday after a second reading. The ordinance will go into effect March 1.

The tax is to be levied through sales of tax stamps to wholesalers and manufacturers of malt beverages. The adhesive stamps must be affixed to bottles and cans before they are sold in retail outlets.

The ordinance includes a provision allowing a 10 per cent discount on purchases of more than $100 worth of the tax stamps at a time.

E. L. Cole, city clerk, said the stamps already have been ordered and are on hand at the city hall. The tax ranges from 36 cents per gallon up, according to the type of beverage, he said.

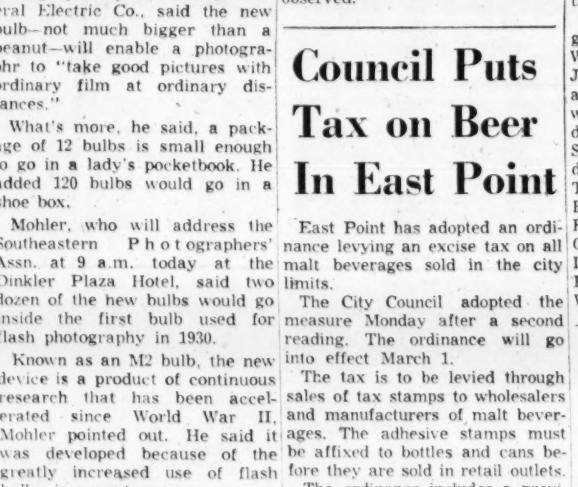
DACCA, East Pakistan, Feb. 16 (AP)—Seven persons, including two policemen, were injured near Jhalakati today in an election clash between supporters of Prime Minister Mohammad Ali and opposition groups.



AVONDALE BEAUTY—Miss Shirley Hanson, 19-year-old Georgia Teachers College junior from Avondale, was crowned "Miss TC of 1954" by Miss Yvonne Jones, who was "Miss TC of 1953." The brunette beauty from DeKalb County reigned during homecoming festivities at the Statesboro school.

DeKalb Sets Purge of Nonvoters

1,737 Face Cut From Roll

DeKalb County registrars are in the process of purging from the voting lists the names of 1,737 citizens who have not voted in the past two years, the DeKalb division of the Metropolitan Voting Council reported yesterday.

The council stressed the verification of these registrations and the initial registration of 18-year-olds in its drive to obtain an expanded voter list by May 1, the registration deadline.

DEKALB GROUP

Charles D. McKinney Jr., chairman of the DeKalb Division of the voting council, pointed out that the 1,737 inactive voters must report to the registrars by April 1 to remain on the rolls.

To verify their desire to remain registered, McKinney said, the voters in question must sign and return post cards sent to them by registrars.

NEW VOTERS

In the drive for new 18-year-old voters, McKinney appealed to school officials and parents to interest the young voters in registering before the May 1 deadline.

The chairman said the council is also seeking the cooperation of civic clubs in its drive for new voters of all ages.

McKinney pointed out that this year's primary and general elections in DeKalb will involve not only the governor and other state officers, but also a U.S. senator and Fifth District congressman; a superior court judge; a city court judge; a city court solicitor; a county commissioner; three state representatives; a state senator, and 17 members of the DeKalb Democratic Executive Committee.

Red Cross Fund Dinners Set Feb. 26

Kick-off dinners for the 1954 Red Cross Fund Campaign in DeKalb County have been scheduled Feb. 26, and several drive committees have already begun work to obtain advance gifts.

Eugene T. Branch, chairman of the campaign, said details of the kick-off banquets will be announced later.

Branch has appointed the following chairmen for divisions of the drive:

Wallace M. Alston, advance gifts from individuals, with John Wesley Weekes and Guy Rutland Jr., cochairmen; Robert Holder, advance gifts from industries, with H. C. Heerman and Jim Anderson, cochairmen; Mrs. S. G. Stukes and Mrs. Douglas McCurdy, general canvass; Ralph S. Turner, DeKalb business; Fred Bose, industrial employes; John Ridley, branch stores; Albert Griffin, special groups; Bradford D. Ansley, publicity, with Percy Plant, cochairman, and Charles Washington, Negro division.

Sen. Singleton Resigns To Take Job With State

Gov. Talmadge has accepted the resignation of Sen. Ossie Singleton of Buena Vista from the General Assembly so that Singleton could accept a state job as deputy director of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Singleton's appointment to the job was disclosed several days ago, and his resignation from the Senate was confirmed yesterday by James L. Bentley, executive secretary to the governor.

The Buena Vista man is one of 19 members of the Legislature who have accepted state jobs, some of whom have resigned their legislative seats. He will draw a salary of $5,500 a year and succeed Rep. Richard Best who moves up to secretary-treasurer of the board, succeeding R. D. Carr who resigned to enter private law practice with an Atlanta firm.

CD Needs 1,500 Helpers For Filter, Ground Posts

Elliot Jackson, director of Civil Defense for metropolitan Atlanta, met with Air Force and civilian personnel yesterday at the Air Defense Filter Center and immediately called for 1,500 volunteers.

Jackson said the volunteers were needed to man the filter center and ground observation posts in the four-county area of metropolitan Atlanta.

He added that the figure was agreed upon after civil defense leaders found that some 1,000 persons were needed to operate the filter center and 500 were needed in the field.

MINIMUM AT CENTER

The operating minimum in the center is 840 persons working six-hour shifts.

Jackson reported that along the coast and northern border, civilian defense units are operating 24 hours a day. "We don't know when we will be called on to increase our schedule of operations and we must be prepared," Jackson said.

Jackson said one purpose of the meeting was to arrive at a definite number of volunteers. He said the public had heard so many reports that the filter center felt it necessary to issue a factual report.

Jackson called the filter center one of the most important factors in the overall Civil Defense setup in his pleas for additional volunteers.

PUBLIC INFORMATION

A public information program was also mapped at the meeting.

The center personnel agreed to submit a report monthly to Jackson on the number of volunteers and the work they were doing.

A weekly report will also go to the civil defense director on public information activities.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Shelley Davis, zone director in the Northside area; Maj. Jerome White, in charge of Air Force personnel at the center; 1st Lt. John F. Gleason, in charge of mobile training teams; 2nd Lt. George Tilon, supervisor of filter center instructors; Sgt. Ralph R. Mangum, public information specialist and Miss Judy King, civilian supervisor at the Filter Center.

Asphalt Wins Bout In Avondale

The clash over concrete and asphalt as surfacing materials for Avondale's city streets has flared again, ending in a victory for the black top.

In August, 1952, a hot controversy over the relative merits of the new materials ended with the city passing an ordinance permitting the resurfacing of about eight streets, with concrete only.

D. L. Chaney, mayor at that time, led the advocates of concrete, who contended that concrete had longer life, was more economical over a long period of time and was more attractive. Chaney is a representative of a concrete association.

Avondale's streets were paved with concrete when the suburb was established in the 1920s.

Advocates of asphalt as a resurfacing material contended it was just as good a topping and was more economical initially, particularly since county forces would aid in an asphalt resurfacing.

Since the pro-concrete ordinance was passed, a short stretch of Dartmouth avenue has been retapped and Sussex road has been widened with that material. A special permit allowed a county repaving project on Clarendon avenue.

Atlanta, Decatur Drivers Hurt in Separate Crashes

Two persons from Greater Atlanta were injured in separate automobile accidents yesterday, police records showed.

Allen G. Bradley, 36, 1015 Church St., Decatur, received cuts on the forehead when his car struck a soft shoulder on Buford Highway and overturned twice. Leonard F. Wager, 47, 2065 Bankhead Ave., NW, was admitted to Grady Hospital for a broken arm after a collision at the intersection of Northside drive and Kennedy street.

Police said the Wager car was struck by another driven by Mrs. Verenna Burnett, 43, 675 Maryland Ave., SW. She was charged with running a red light-accident.

Suicide Pact Follows Car Death of Children

VANITA, Okla., Feb. 16—(AP)—A middle-aged farm couple, who friends said had brooded deeply since the highway accident deaths of their only son and daughter eight months ago, took their lives today after burning all their property.

Sheriff Jim Ince said both John McCord, 54, and his wife, 52, left suicide notes indicating grief for their children prompted their action.

They were found lying on a quilt which they had spread in a garden 100 yards from their four-room house. Each had been shot in the head, and a .32-caliber pistol lay between them.

Neighbors who searched for them after being attracted to their farm by a heavy explosion and the blazing buildings found McCord alive. He died an hour later in a hospital.

A Chetopa, Kan., funeral home said a note signed by McCord was found in his pocket. It read:

"To whom this may concern: Please lay no blame on no one as this is a pledged agreement between both of us."

A letter to the funeral home, signed by Mrs. McCord with her maiden name, Leot Groom, said:

"This death is from a broken heart that cannot mend as the main jewels are missing. The loss of my baby children is too great to ever overcome as I loved and worshiped my children with all my heart and may God bless and reward me in some way."

Stubbs Gets East Point Officer Post

City Council Fills Parks Post, Too

Vacancies in East Point's police, parks and recreation departments have been filled by City Council, and an additional captain's post created in the police department.

Lt. James W. Stubbs, a veteran of 16 years with the department, was elected to the police captaincy Monday by council in secret ballot. Stubbs, along with Lt. Hugh D. Brown and Sgt. Roy E. Stanley, qualified for the post through competitive examinations.

CITES NEED

Citing a need for an additional captain in the department in order to have captains over each of the department's police watches, council passed a motion calling for an ordinance to be drawn creating the captaincy.

It also adopted a companion motion requesting the personnel board to certify names of three policemen eligible for the position, and to present them at the first March meeting of council.

Council approved the first reading of an ordinance eliminating position of assistant police chief. J. Henry Blair, head of the police committee, explained the three captain's positions were set up to handle each watch, with direct responsibility to the chief.

Council moved to rehire two recreational leaders who recently left to take higher paying jobs with the Atlanta Boys' Club organization.

Richard L. (Scrap) Wheeler was elected by ballot as director for Sumner Park at a salary of $300 monthly, and Floyd M. (Bones) O'Neal was elected South Park director at $250 per month. Mrs. Mary Sowell was voted in as woman's recreation leader for Sumner Park.

WATER SUPPLY

Council also authorized the city public utilities department to proceed with purchase of material necessary to provide water service in the newly annexed Mount Olive section.

Councilman Craig Pinyan said cost of the equipment had been estimated at $35,000.

Moving to get its newly adopted traffic improvement program in full swing, council adopted a motion introduced by Blair to set up a list of the projects included in the program which should be given first priority.

First on the list is installation of a permanent traffic island at Church and Main streets, and removal of the temporary barrier now in use there. Second on the list are construction of islands and location of new traffic lanes at the Cleveland Avenue-Main intersection.

Other projects will be selected later.

Matron Fined For Drawing Gun on Police

An Atlanta woman who pressed a .38-caliber pistol against a patrolman's stomach and dropped the weapon when a second policeman fired a shot at her was fined $110 in police court yesterday and bound over to criminal court on charges of pointing a pistol at another.

The woman, listed as Mrs. Ruby Ridings, 41, of 164 Rawson St., SW, was fined for disorderly conduct-discharging firearms, disorderly conduct-illegal whiskey, disorderly conduct-cursing and disorderly conduct-operating a dive.

Ptl. V. L. Lindsey and Ptl. C. A. Cole reported the woman answered a knock on a door of a room at the Rawson street address and pressed the pistol against Lindsey. Ptl. Cole stepped around him and fired a shot past her hand. She dropped the weapon.

Police reported it was necessary to handcuff the woman to get her to police headquarters. At the jail, matrons removed $1,220 cash, nine diamond rings, and four wrist watches from her person. These were returned to her.

L. C. Jordan of 320 Formwalt St., SW; L. C. Moon, 32, 326½ Capitol Ave., SW, and Durwood Griffith, 36, no address listed, were arrested on drunk and disorderly and occupying a dive charges.

Sons of Korea Dead School Chance Asked

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (UP)—The House unanimously approved and sent to the Senate today legislation to give service academy opportunities to sons of members of the armed forces killed in action in Korea. Existing law extends these opportunities to sons of members of the armed forces killed in World War I and II.

Senate Votes Roll Call On Treaties

Slight Concession Made by George

objection to the roll call stipulation.

In the second place, it was approved by the Senate only as part of any complete proposed constitutional amendment that may ultimately win through by the two-thirds majority that will be necessary at the end.

OPPONENTS VOTED "AYE"

Some who are against any alterations at all votes "aye" today in the conviction that no amendment at all would be the eventual outcome.

To amend the Constitution requires first the approval of two-thirds of those voting in both the Senate and House and then of the legislatures of three-fourths of the states.

Outside the Senate chamber, Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio), initiator of the controversy, was in a series of meetings with George, dean of the conservative Southern Democratic delegation in the Senate.

Both propose substantial restrictions on the President's power. Separating them thus far is only one big difference.

George wants to require that executive agreements with other nations—that is, nontreaty presidential arrangements with another head of state—shall be valid as law within the United States only if approved by Congress.

ONE OTHER FEATURE

Bricker wants all this and one other feature; he wants to put treaties under the same limitation.

An added Bricker proviso would be that a treaty (but not an executive agreement) could become internal law without the action of all of Congress if the Senate by two-thirds vote should so ordain.

President Eisenhower's spokesmen have rejected both the Bricker and George papers.

George indicated that while he could not accept the inclusion of treaties into his paper he would accept the proviso if Bricker's forces were able to make the addition on the floor. In that event, he observed, "the Senate would have spoken."

SIMPLE MAJORITY

This could be done by a simple majority vote; only at the end is two-thirds required.

Bricker made it plain that he intends to move to alter the George text in this way.

Disinterested observers regarded it as likely that so long as only a simple majority had to be submitted the George version could be thus stiffened, at the first stage.

Since the administration's position is against either or both approaches, however, it was widely assumed that the Republican leadership would not go along.

The resistance of administration Republicans, plus the adamant resistance of some 20 senators, mostly Democrats, to any amendment at all, would forecast the ultimate failure of any ultimate Bricker-George amalgam to obtain the necessary two-thirds.

MAJOR VOTING TESTS

The Senate will move tomorrow into voting tests on major issues. One of these is a plan by Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland (Calif) and Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the Senate Republican Policy committee.

This would propose an amendment to Article 6 of the Constitution stating that no treaty should be valid "unless made in pursuance of this Constitution."

The present article validates treaties made "under the authority of the United States."

The new language "in pursuance of this Constitution" has raised many questions in the Senate, though Knowland has stated that the administration would not reject the phrase.

House, Senate Groups Hear Plea For $11 Million Buford Dam Fund

Georgia group included Frank Shaw, of the Atlanta Freight Bureau and the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; C. B. Culpepper, of the Atlanta Freight Bureau; Arthur L. Harris, of Atlanta Paper Co.; Robert Holder, Atlanta industrial real estate man; Robert S. Lynch, president of the Atlantic Steel Corp.; Fred Moore, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; Sylvan Meyer, Gainesville; T. O. Galloway, of the Upper Chattahoochee Development Corp.; Weldon Gardner, Buford, and Weldon Archer, Gwinnett County commissioner.

Other presentations in behalf of increased funds for the Buford project were made by Harris and Galloway.

Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia is a member of the Senate subcommittee before which the group appeared. He expressed a sympathetic interest in the request for more funds.

Davis, who arranged for today's hearings, said he felt Hartsfield and other members of the group had made a splendid case for Buford Dam to receive the full amount of funds which Army Engineers say they will be able to spend in the coming year.

"This project is of great importance to Atlanta and the immediate area, since it will provide a new source of fresh water supply as well as additional power facilities," he said. "For this reason it should not be delayed in completion. I am hopeful that Congress will approve the full $11 million expenditure."

He told the House group, which held its sessions in executive session, that it would be false economy not to provide the amount of money the Army Engineers say they are prepared to spend.

Indochina Troop Training Role Is Assumed by U.S.

which the U.S. Government undertook to finance the arming of the Vietnamese battalions.

When he goes to Saigon to take over his new post, it is understood that he will drop in rank to major general so that he will not outrank the chief of the French expeditionary force in Indochina, Gen. Henri-Eugene Navarre.

TRAINING AGREEMENT

The French government has opposed U.S. assistance in training the native troops in Indochina in the past, but there are official indications that they will agree to give some responsibilities in this field to O'Daniel.

The committee met in private this morning. Radford left most of the talking to Smith.

The committee did register a complaint against sending U. S. technicians to Indochina without informing Congress and undertook to see that no major moves would be made in the future without prior consultation on Capitol Hill. Members of both parties on the committee expressed satisfaction with the report.

REASSURES COMMITTEE

Smith reassured the committee both about the military situation and the limitations of American assistance. Most of the Communist victories there, he said, had been "real estate victories" in which the Vietminh occupied a town one day and were forced by the French and native troops to exacuate it shortly thereafter.

He said the United States was operating on the "Navarre plan" and that Washington's part in this was limited to the provision of money, materiel and certain technical assistance. The plan to help with the training of the native troops and O'Daniel's mission to Indochina were discussed.

Smith told the committee, however, that there is no intention of putting U. S. ground troops into Indochina.

5-Minute Kiss on TV Costs Entertainer Job

CHICAGO, Feb. 16 — (UP — Television entertainer Jack Eigen was fired today for kissing buxom movie starlet Cleo Moore for at least five minutes on his TV program.

Eigen bussed Miss Moore at marathon length last night after announcing to his audience that he wanted to stage "the longest kiss on TV."

Grover J. Allen, executive producer of station WBKB, informed Eigen that he had kisesd himself out of a job after the station was deluged with indignant telephone calls and telegrams.

CENSOR-INSPIRED

Eigen, a well-known Chicago radio and TV personality, said he got the idea for the super kiss from movie censorship of drawn-out osculation.

"I wanted to see whether they were more broad-minded on TV than in the movies," he said.

Allen's telegram to Eigen indicated the TV star was mistaken about his estimate of broad-mindedness on television.

Allen's telegram said "Due to the extreme poor taste that under no circumstances can be considered acceptable TV fare in the homes of our viewers, we must terminate your services as of Monday."

The blonde, busty Miss Moore, said the kiss took her by surprise.

In Chicago to promote a movie called "Bati," she said, "I had never seen Mr. Eigen until I was on his show.

GOOD SPORT

"I ran in when he was already on the air and he asked me if I would be a good sport and I thought I'd better."

Advertisements for the movie in which Miss Moore stars call her "Easy to meet . . . easy to kiss."

Neither Eigen nor Miss Moore were quite sure how long they kissed. Said Eigen "Some people said it lasted six or seven minutes, but I don't think it was more than five minutes long."

Miss Moore said, "Well, it was more than a few minutes."

Eigen added, "I did nothing that I did not inform them (WBKB) that I was going to do.

"I can't see that it was in poor taste. I didn't sit in her lap and she didn't sit in mine. My wife introduced the program."

Joan Meets A Gangster

Comedy is entertainingly combined with suspense as Joan Davis and Jim Backus tangle with a gangster on tonight's telecast of I Married Joan.

The show, to be seen on WSB-TV at 8 p.m., will find Judge Stevens (Backus) concerned over the missing witness whose evidence can convict a gangster on trial for operating slot machines.

After Stevens leaves home, the missing witness, disguised as a magazine salesman, turns up to surrender himself to the judge. As the witness leaves, the gangster, who has trailed him, fires two shots at him. Joan then becomes a decoy, pretending she is wounded and the story winds up in a surprise climax.

Our Food Supply Was Late Arriving but Rodie Is a Crack Shot

lightning we could see the palms on Great Camanoe bending their tops to the ground and, always, we could hear the roar and pound of sea against rock and sand.

In the lashing rain I got up on the roof of the shed and took the stones Rodie handed up to me. These held the tarpaper down. We waded out and moored the "Jalopy," the rain so hard in our faces we had trouble finding her. A few hundred yards away lightning struck on Great Camanoe, the place where it struck glowing for seconds with a white, bright light. With our bodies we could feel the sea strike land.

Then it was all over, the moon shining again.

The floor of our shed was wet, hard, and cold, the sand of the beach only wet and cold, so we chose the sand to sleep on.

Rodie slept. I could not.

I looked at Marina Cay. It was there, and real. Rodie moved in her sleep and I looked at her, the moonlight on her face. This was not the same girl I had watched sleeping in the house at Sea Cow Bay. Now her mouth was almost smiling, her whole face at peace. Her hands lay on the wet sand, limp, the fingers uncurled.

In the morning there was still no sign of Nelson's sloop with our goods—including food.

While packing up at Sea Cow Bay we had taken with us in the "Jalopy" only tools, nails, the water jug, and, because we were not supposed to have it, the .22 rifle.

Now, with not even a fishhook or a coal pot, we were in a dilemma. If we sailed to Tortola's East End for food we might miss Nelson's sloop. But we were hungry.

There was certainly no food on Marina Cay so we set out in the "Jalopy," taking the rifle with us.

Halfway across the channel Rodie spotted a wild goat in a small natural pasture on Great Camanoe. We clamped the "Jalopy" down and tore in to the shore of the big, looming island. Rodie is a patient, silent stalker and a dead shot with a rifle.

Back on Marina Cay we skinned out that goat and, while Rodie butchered him, I made a good fire on the beach. Using the steel gaff for a spit, we roasted the best parts of the goat and ate them. Tough, but rewarding.

Nelson didn't come that day either. We finished the shed, put the strip of tarpaper back on the roof. We ate some more goat and sailed back to Camanoe to get water out of the century plants over there.

The next day, just as we were on the point of leaving for East End, Nelson's sloop showed up. It seems that, in forty years of sailing around these islands, Nelson had never found out where Marina Cay was and had, according to him, spent the time sailing around in circles. This seemed highly improbable, but typical of the Sea Cow Bay attitude.

Nelson had brought, aside from the other belongings, our bedsteads. (With rum selling for twenty-five cents a gallon, our eleven-dollar advance had allowed our cabinetmaker to lay in quite a cellar. Until that was gone he never hit chisel with hammer.)

By Nelson we sent a message to Maurice to send us up some sort of barrel to catch water off the roof. By nightfall that little shed was magnificent. The Aladdin lamps pushed valiantly at the darkness and shone on beds at last up off the floor. Shone on chairs, a table. On Rodie sweeping the floor and putting away the gear.

The next day we spent refining our home. The banyan tree became almost a part of our house. Rodie hung the kitchen utensils among the low limbs. I set up my shop in its shade. Soon what little laundry we had also hung in the banyan tree.

We cleaned the whole little beach of rocks and broken cord, put out a permanent mooring for the "Jalopy," and built a somewhat wobbly dock.

By nightfall we were through. The sixteen-by-eight-foot shed was shipshape, our kitchen under the banyan worked efficiently, the sea was always there for washing dishes, ourselves, and clothes. The "Jalopy" rode quietly to her new mooring, the lamps made a splash of light on wood and sand and water.

We lived in this shed for more than half a year. Rodie cooked three meals a day (all GOOD) on the coal pots under the banyan. We bathed in the sea, using saltwater soap. For a bathroom Rodie had one direction around the beach, I the other.

Compared to living in Sea Cow Bay, this was a rugged sort of paradise.

We had an island now and sixteen feet of shelter from the elements. We had a boat and twenty gallons of fresh water, a little discolored and slightly foul-tasting. We did not have to worry about rent, heat, telephones, movies, electricity, clothing, laundry, ice, robbers, income tax, cold, neighbors, transportation, TV, the working week.

The only thing we didn't have and needed was some money. The $30 for Milton Thomas, the shed, the water drum, and sloop rent had gone hard with our $146.

Tomorrow: Decision.

Graham Is Guest At Capitol Luncheon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Sen. Carlson (R-Kan) gave a luncheon today in the Vandenberg Room at the Capitol for Billy Graham, North Carolina evangelist who leaves soon for a three-month trip to Europe.

Carlson had about 25 guests, mostly senators and congressmen. Graham plans to hold religious services in London for two months and then spend a month touring Europe and holding services in various continental capitals.

Blistered by Wife, His Car Burns, Too

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 16 (INS)—An auto on a Dallas street was blazing.

Nearby stood a helpless man.

Deputy sheriffs drove along, extinguished the flames and asked questions. They were told by the man:

"Things got too hot for me around the house this morning when my wife and I had a fight. I decided to take the car and cool off. You see what happened."

Investigators decided faulty wiring and not the fight caused the fire.

North Georgians Fret for Candidate

By M. L. ST. JOHN

There are rumblings that the people of north Georgia may do something about the fact that all the announced and most all of the potential candidates for governor this year are from south Georgia.

If you take a map of Georgia and pinpoint the home towns of the announced and potential gubernatorial candidates on it, you will find the whole group is from deep, deep south Georgia. Way down on or near the Florida line.

St. John

Brunswick, near the Florida line on the east coast, is the home of the first candidate to announce, Rep. Charlie Gowen. Pelham, in southwest Georgia, is the home of the second candidate to announce, House Speaker Fred Hand. Valdosta, near the Florida line in the central portion of south Georgia, is the home of former Acting Gov. M. E. Thompson, the third candidate to announce. Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin, who has said he is going to announce, lives in Bainbridge on the Florida line in southwest Georgia.

GILLIS, LINDER

Highway Chairman Jim Gillis, who may run, lives way down south in Soperton. Agriculture Commissioner Tom Linder, who may run, is from the south Georgia town of Hazlehurst. Erle Cocke Jr., former national commander of the American Legion, is from Dawson in southwest Georgia.

Only Ivan Allen Jr. of Atlanta and former Gov. Ellis Arnall of Newnan, who have been mentioned as possible candidates, are anywhere near north Georgia—and they are not hillbillies.

So, if you draw a line across Georgia from Pelham to Brunswick, you'll see that a small portion of the state, geographically, is providing the candidates so far. And the potential candidates add little geographically.

Political powwows in the Seventh and Ninth Districts have discussed this shortage of north Georgia possibilties. They are fretting over the fact that the hill country isn't providing governors.

As they talk like this, a brand-new name comes into speculation for the gubernatorial race.

Charlie Pannell of Chatsworth, chairman of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles. Pannell, an attorney, is a former member of the House. He was appointed to the board by Gov.Talmadge, but in the House he held the respect of all political factions and was independent in his voting. Chatsworth is in Murray County in northwest Georgia.

The Cleveland Courier, in White County, is disturbed over south Georgia putting up all the candidates. It predicts that a "strong north Georgia man" will enter the race. This man, the Courier believes, will be John Wood of Canton, who was chairman of the House committee investigating un-American activities before he retired from Congress.

However, Wood has told newsmen he is not considering running for governor.

IKE BEATS TALMADGE

President Eisenhower defeated Talmadge in quail hunting in Thomas County last weekend. They didn't hunt together. They were in the same county shooting quail about the same time, however.

The President, hunting Friday and Saturday as a guest of Treasury Secretary Humphrey, killed 10 quail the first day and 12 the next.

The governor, hunting Thursday and Friday on the property of R. L. Balfour Jr., got 12 quail the first day but only nine the second day. His bag was one quail fewer than the President's.

NATIVE GIRL—Joan Rice plays the feminine lead in the Warner Bros. presentation, "His Majesty O'Keefe," which opens Friday at the Fox Theater. Burt Lancaster is her leading man.

BACK IN MOVIES—Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, stars of TV's "I Love Lucy," are teamed in a full-length screen comedy, "The Long, Long Trailer," which begins at Loew's Grand next Saturday.

PSC Pegs Rail Freight Rates At Same Level Through 1955

The Georgia Public Service Commission pegged freight rates at present levels yesterday by continuing until Dec. 31, 1955, a temporary 15 per cent increase granted railroads in October, 1952.

The temporary increase was scheduled to expire at the end of this month, but the Interstate Commerce Commission and regulatory bodies of other states already have granted the extension until the end of 1955, Dave Benson, PSC transportation rate engineer, said.

Benson said the railroads asked for the extension in hopes of maintaining revenue at present levels in the face of declining traffic.

In other decisions the PSC denied the Southern Railway permission to discontinue agency service at Alto, northeast of Gainesville, and at Towns in south Georgia between McRae and Hazlehurst.

Chevrolet Resuming Full Output

Chevrolet Atlanta assembly plant is gradually resuming its full production schedule and will operate four-and-a-half days this week and five days next week, Manager L. R. Mason announced yesterday.

Some 750 of the plant's 1,370 employes were affected when a four-day week in all Chevrolet assembly plants went into effect the last week in January.

It was the company's first major cutback due to market conditions since before World War II. At the Atlanta plant it meant a production loss of 480 passenger car and truck units a week.

Mason declared that the increase in production reflects improving market conditions. He said, however, that the number of working hours after next week has not yet been determined.

He added that all Chevrolet plants are now working longer hours than at the time of the cutback, but said the exact hours would vary at different plants.

Tom Linder's use of the Market Bulletin for political purposes is subject to editorial comment on the editorial page. DeKalb County's school needs are the subject of an editorial and Baldy's cartoon on Page 4.

Gen. E. W. Smith Cited as 35-Yr. Reserve Officer

Maj. Gen. Edward W. Smith of Atlanta yesterday was awarded a citation by the U.S. Army in recognition of more than 35 years' service as a reserve officer. He had retired recently.

In ceremonies at Ft. McPherson the citation was presented by Asst. Secy. of the Army Hugh M. Milton II.

Gen. Smith, who resides at 2645 Howell Mill Rd., NW, is vice president and general counsel of the Southern Bell Telephone Co. During World War II he served on the staff of Gen. George C. Marshall, Army Chief of Staff.

In '55, the Coaching Tells

For what it's worth: It was a week ago that Whack Hyder, the coach with a stiff upper lip, predicted a victory for the Georgia Tech basketball team before the season is over. Beginning with Georgia tonight, he's got five games left to produce. . . . These are times that Hyder's baseball training comes in valuable. Like the manager with a second-division club, he can tell the folks he's building for next year. . . . Which he is.

The unwinning Jackets are going with rookies and sophomores, of whom only Dick Lenholt has reached full SEC bloom. Lane Akers and Bobby Kimmel are coming fast. Next year is when the coaching will tell. . . . When somebody asked Frank Moseley of VPI if he might be interested in the Kentucky football job, the onetime Bear Bryant lieutenant said briefly: "I've been to Kentucky." . . . And whatever became of Shipwreck Kelly?

Bisher

$12,000-a-year man Zeke Bratkowski, Chicago Bear-pledged, finds his basketball take comes harder. After playing with an all-star team in Cumming the other night, making necessary deductions for expenses, et cetera, Zeke and pals found they had netted three-quarters of a cent apiece for one hour on the court. . . . Old pug Henry Armstrong is touring the country as an evangelist, and finding it's harder to convince people with the voice than the clenched fist. . . . Old George Lott, the greatest doubles player in the land for years, coaches the Duke tennis team this year.

You may find it hard to dig these hard times, but until 1950 the Pittsburgh Pirates had finished in the National League basement only once. This was before the discovery of Branch Rickey, of course. . . . Smartest decision made by an exiled king recently is credited to fat Farouk, who ignored an invitation to duel the old boy friend of his Italian amour. What a target he'd make! . . . Another Tech coach, Bob Bossons, has turned down Bear Bryant's invitation to his Texas A&M staff.

—Here Come the Young Bucks

Get that new covey of young bucks moving in on the elder statesmen of pro golf: Gene Littler, Bo Wininger, Art Wall, Gardner Dickinson, Doug Ford, Fred Wampler, Shelley Mayfield and Bob Toski. . . . Ben Hogan predicts that Dickinson, his assistant in Palm Springs, Calif., "is bound to be great." This is the young man that Charlie Miller first moulded as a Macon pro. . . . And whatever became of Miss Lace?

Since he's won it four times, shouldn't they rename the Greensboro Open the Sam Snead Open? They'd call it off if the old hillbilly couldn't show for it. . . . A knife from the advertising agency office cut Ernie Harwell loose from the New York Giants' TV assignment with Russ Hodges. It developed into a blessing, for now he's the top man with the Baltimore Orioles, another potential miracle. . . . Says old Bob Zuppke, now in his 74th year: "I feel great, but old age isn't what it's cracked up to be."

"Game of the Day" will be back in town next baseball season over WQXI, but without Al Helfer, who's given up that gypsy life. . . . Remember Ramona, who trampled the piano and sang for Paul Whiteman when poppa was a kitten? That's Mrs. Helfer now. . . . Once, while Yale and Princeton were battling to a sterling 0-0 tie, Stanley Woodward, then a New York author, observed: "This looks like the twilight of capitalism."

—An Old Eli Admits a 'Fix'?

The old rasslin' pros, led by Strangler Lewis, are giving Herman Hickman the business for his Sateveport expose on them. They observe, rather startlingly, that it doesn't seem quite Yaleish for an Old Eli to admit he participated in a "fix." Hm-m-m-m. And wasn't it The Strangler himself who was going to clean up rasslin' a few years ago, before somebody up above shut him up? . . . There's a war on in North Carolina over another Justice. This one is Marion, a Charlotte back who had chosen Georgia, but now finds both Duke and UNC scrapping over him. Looks like another one of those teen-age casualties in the making.

Mail Call: "We got a good basketball team up at Piedmont College, not as good as Herr Adolph Rupp's, but enough for more attention than we're getting."—Dub Jones, Demorest, Ga. . . . "The count on Bobby Thomson the day he hit 'that' home run was one strike, not two, and only one man was out. You writers sometimes get us readers in trouble with errors like that."—Walter B. Winn, Atlanta. . . . "Gene Asher did a great job for boxing in Georgia with his work on the Golden Gloves this year, and I personally want to thank you for assigning him to cover our events."—Al Bishop, Marietta, Ga.

Charlie Madison, the Georgia halfback, found a new but painful escape from spring football practice—a broken jaw, as inflicted in an off-field entanglement. . . . This one is true, claims George Griffin, the Georgia Tech dean: "I was out hunting with a Navy friend of mine and our dog went on point. A rabbit ran under his nose, but he grabbed the rabbit and still held his point. Then my Navy friend fired on the birds. A lady was bending over in a field nearby and the Navy friend's shot hit her in the seat of the hunting pants she was wearing. And that's no lie. I was there." . . . Selah.

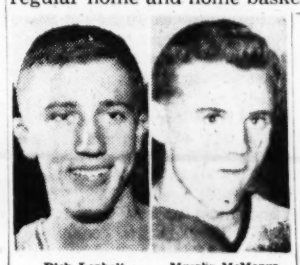
Tech, Georgia Play At Athens Tonight

Both Carry Losing Streaks Into Woodruff Hall Rematch

By EDWIN POPE
Constitution Sports Writer

ATHENS, Feb. 16—Georgia, which holds a two-point neutral-floor victory over Georgia Tech, will see if it can expand that margin tomorrow night when the Jackets invade Woodruff Hall at 8 o'clock for the first of their regular home and home basketball series.



Dick Lenholt — Murphy McManus

That first decision for the Bulldogs came in the Gator Bowl Tournament when the title-bound cagers of Red Lawson won by 66-64.

Since winning the Gator Bowl crown in Jacksonville last December, Georgia has come on fairly hard times and the Bulldogs' losing streak has now hit double figures.

Tenth straight in the series of losses was invoked Monday night when Auburn picked up an 80-61 victory.

That hung the Georgia record at 6-13 for the season, 1-8 in the Southeastern Conference.

Tech's record starts out with zeroes no matter how you figure it. The Jackets have lost 25 in row over a two-year span, stand 0-19 this year, 0-11 in the conference.

But if the Jackets are to shake their hard luck, it might be soon for they looked impressive indeed against a tough Tulane team here Monday before bowing, 59-57, in the last five seconds.

Georgia's best scoring bet is guard Murphy McManus who owns 239 points for a 12.5 average. Lanky Dick Lenholt is Tech's most consistent threat.

The two clubs meet for the third and final time in Atlanta, Feb. 27.

Johnny Dee Decides To Stay at Alabama

Outspoken Cage Coach Signs Two-Year Contract With Tide

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 16 (AP)—The University of Alabama signed fiery Johnny Dee to a new two-year contract as head coach of the basketball team tonight.

Dean A. B. Moore, chairman of the Faculty Athletic Committee, announced signing of the new contract.

Johnny Dee

Terms were not disclosed but Dee, former Notre Dame player and assisstant coach there, was reported to have accepted a substantial salary increase.

Dee, who had received considerable publicity in recent weeks from his criticism of Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp, had submitted his resignation to the university in December to become effective June 1.

Last weekend he went to Baton Rouge, La., ot discuss a position on the Louisiana State coaching staff. LSU Coach Gaynell Tinsley said no agreement was reached but added, "We're interested in Dee and he is interested in us."

Dee, in his second season at Alabama, has his basketball team currently in third place in the Southeastern Conference with an 8-1 SEC record and an over-all mark of 14-5.

"It gives me much pleasure to continue my work at the University of Alabama," the onetime Chicago high school coach said after the signing was announced.

"We are happy to have Coach Dee remain with us," added Athletic Director Pete M. Cawthon. "He has done a remarkable job."

The 30-year-old Dee criticized Rupp two weeks ago after the famed Kentucky coach was quoted as saying in a talk at Owensboro, Ky., as saying that playing Georgia was as ridiculous as "kissing your own sister."

Last week Dee sent a telegram to Jim Miner, Cincinnati Post sports writer, in which he was quoted as saying he was thinking of quitting the game altogether because he had to associate with Rupp.

After Miner published the telegram, Dee said he had felt that it was personal and he was "very much upset" over it.

Both he and Cawthon expressed regret to Kentucky Athletic Director Bernie Shively. Rupp declined comment.

Alabama and undefeated Kentucky meet at Tuscaloosa March 1.

Hearn Signs Contract With Giants for 1954

Pitcher Says He'll Improve And So Will Club This Year

By JESSE OUTLAR

Jim Hearn isn't predicting a pennant for the New York Giants in 1954, and he isn't predicting that Jim Hearn will win 20 games.

But the Atlanta right-hander, who signed his contract yesterday, does believe that the Giants and Hearn will show vast improvement next season.

The Giants finished a poor fifth in the National League race last year. Hearn had a 9-12 record. And it wasn't coincidental.

Hearn is the first to admit that the Giants would have been a better club, if he had enjoyed a better year. On the other hand, the Giants weren't the type of club with which a pitcher could achieve much success.

Though he is a veteran of six major league pitching campaigns, Hearn is approaching the coming season with the attitude of a rookie.

"I'm down to my regular pitching weight of 205 now," Hearn said yesterday as he packed his bags for the trip to the Phoenix, Ariz., training base, "and I'm going to work harder than I ever have before.

"My back, which has bothered me considerably in the past, feels fine," he said, "and I think I'm going to be a stronger pitcher.

"For one thing, all of the Giant pitchers will be very happy to have one Willie Mays back in the outfield," he said. "Mays' speed and rifle arm can save you a lot of runs."

Hearn regretted to see Bobby Thomson leave the club in the deal which brought Johnny Antonelli and Don Liddle from Milwaukee to the Polo Grounds. However, he thinks the trade will be beneficial to both teams.

Since Daryl Spencer, rookie infielder who has been called into the Army, didn't play too much last year, Hearn doesn't believe that his absence will be felt too keenly.

Where will the Giants finish?

"Well, we'd have to pull a real miracle to beat out Brooklyn," he said, "and Milwaukee is going to be plenty tough. But I think we'll be up close all the way, and we aren't going to be in the second division again."

Hearn refused to venture a guess about his own success.

"I'll just say my record's going to be better. If you don't win, you don't pitch much for Leo (Durocher), and I'm planning on doing a lot of pitching."

Hearn has no alibis for the '53 season in which he started 32 games, finished only six.

"Let's forget about '53," he said. "I've been waiting for next year, and it's just about here."

Lopat Signs Yankee Pact For $25,000

Condensed From Wire Reports

Eddie Lopat, 16-game winner and American League ERA leader, and third baseman Gil McDougald signed their New York Yankee contracts. Lopat will receive an estimated $25,000, McDougald $18,000. The champs still have 18 unsigned players.

Other signees: Ex-Atlanta Cracker infielder Jack Dittmer, Milwaukee; pitcher Bob Friend, Pittsburgh; first baseman Dick Gernert and pitcher Ben Flowers, Boston Red Sox; infielder Frank Kellert, Baltimore.

Outfielder Mickey Mantle, still using crutches as a result of a recent knee operation, plans to join his New York Yankee teammates March 1 for spring training at St. Petersburg.

Robin Roberts, who won 23 games for the Philadelphia Phils last season, met with owner Bob Carpenter for three hours, but failed to come to terms. Roberts, who has been offered a "small" raise, wants a large one.

OWNER-PLAYER GROUP AGREES

Majors Pad Pension Fund

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—A joint committee of major league owners and players agreed today to recommend changes in players' pension plan which would increase the plan's funds from $450,000 to approximately $2,000,000 a year.

Hank Greenberg

The group, in a five-hour session, also suggested that jurisdiction over these funds be placed in the hands of a committee of two owners and two player representatives who would have "full and complete control."

At the present moment the pension is operated by a four-man committee of owners and players and the commissioner of baseball, Ford Frick. Any final decisions must go before baseball's executive council, consisting entirely of owners.

Under the proposed new plan, the Commissioner would have no say in the pension plan and the entire operation would be in the hands of the owner-player committee, selected by their respective groups.

Today's recommendations must go before the owners and players for ratification.

Under the proposed plan, sixty per cent of the gross gate receipts and 60 per cent of the television and radio monies from the all-star game would go into the pension fund. Also 60 per cent of the TV and radio monies from the world series.

The plan would be put into effect at the end of the 1956 season, if adopted.

Under the present arrangement, these monies are placed into a general fund from which pension funds are taken.

"We gave them everything they wanted," said Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, a member of the owners' committee. "We want to get the entire matter cleaned up before the all-star game in July."

"There wasn't a single argument—everything went smoothly," said J. Norman Lewis, attorney representing the players.

At today's meeting the owners were represented by Greenberg and John W. Galbreath, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The players' representatives were Allie Reynolds, Yankee pitcher of the American League, and Ralph Kiner, Chicago Cubs outfielder of the National.

BIRMINGHAM WON'T RESTORE BAN ON MIXED BALL GAMES

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 16 (AP)—The Birmingham City Commission today refused to restore its ban against Negroes and whites playing in football or baseball games here.

The commission recently amended its segregations laws to permit such contests.

Hugh Locke, Birmingham attorney and 1930 candidate for governor, led a delegation of more than 200 persons to request that laws prohibiting Negroes and whites playing in the same athletic contests be restored.

After the commission's refusal, Locke began passing out petitions for a referendum on the segregation issue. The law makes it mandatory for the commission to call an election if 5,000 voters sign such a petition.

Dukes Pass Cats in Poll

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—After running in second place through seven consecutive weekly polls, Duquesne's Iron Dukes finally moved to the top of the collegiate basketball ratings as they ran their undefeated streak to 20 straight collegiate victories.

Duquesne overtook and passed Kentucky, the only other unbeaten major college team, in the tenth weekly Associated Press ranking poll of the 1953-54 season. The margin was a slim one—814 points to 761—on the ballots of 104 sports writers and broadcasters throughout the nation.

Kentucky had held the top spot in the poll since Dec. 29, the third week, after Indiana, the pre-season choice, had suffered its first defeat. Duquesne's rise coincided with Indiana's.

1.	Duquesne (24)	(20-0)	814
2.	Kentucky (24)	(19-0)	761

Selvy Pumps in 57, Sets More Records

Now Averaging 42 Points After 123-101 Scoring Fest

GREENVILLE, S. C., Feb. 16—(AP)—Furman's Frank Selvy tonight completed a clean sweep of all major big-college basketball scoring records, pumping in 57 points as Furman downed Wofford College, 123-102.

The records he broke tonight were for single season scoring, single season field goals and career field goals.

The Corbin, Ky., senior's 57 points pushed his season record to 925 points, topping the 884 record of Johnny O'Brien last season at Seattle.

His 21 field goals made a total of 330 this season, 15 more than the 315 previous record by Clyde Lovelett of Kansas. And his career field goal total of 825, in less than three seasons, surpassed the 808 record that it took Chet Giermak four years to set at William and Mary.

Selvy's average now stands at 42 points a game, compared with the 29.5 last season that earned him individual national scoring honors. His career scoring average is 31.7 points, or 2,254 in 71 games.

The Furman flash has five regular season games left—against Mercer, South Carolina, Richmond, Wofford and Davidson.

Every time Selvy made a point tonight he set new records for career total scoring, two-year scoring and three-year scoring. His 100 points against Newberry last Saturday night cracked the old marks in these sections of the record books.

The old two-year record was 1,540 by Duke's Dick Groat—Selvy has 1,663. The career record, for four years, was 2,154 by Jim Lacy of Baltimore Loyola—Selvy has 2,254 before finishing his third varsity year.

Among his other records, Selvy now has made 50 or more five times, four of them this season.

Duke Takes Lead

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Feb. 16. (AP)—Duke took over first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference standings tonight by beating Maryland, 68-61, despite a stellar 25-point performance by Gene Shue, the Terps' All-America forward candidate.

Tar Heels Coast

CHAPEL HILL, N.C., Feb. 16. (AP)—The University of North Carolina, calling freely on its thin bench of reserves, coasted to an 89-69 basketball victory over Davidson of the Southern Conference tonight.

Colonials Cop

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—George Washington University defeated William and Mary, 69-58, tonight to end its Southern Conference schedule with an unmarred 10-0 record.

Maroons Pushed

SEWANEE, Tenn., Feb. 16 (AP). Mississippi State had to go down to the wire to beat off a determined Sewanee team, 65 to 61, here tonight. The Southeastern Conference team led most of the first half but Sewanee pulled out front, 38-36, early in the third period and the lead changed hands three times in that quarter before the Maroons went ahead for good.

Mississippi Wins

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Feb. 16 (AP)—The University of Mississippi spotted East Tennessee State 12 points in the first quarter tonight and then put on the heat to win a 86-89 basketball victory. Denver Brackeen and Dugan Abernathy led a blistering Rebel offense with 25 and 21 points.

Georgians Get Nashville Wins

NASHVILLE, Feb. 16 (AP)—George Kartalian and Ray Stubbs gave Georgia its first victories in the Southern Golden Gloves tournament here tonight.

Kartalian pounded a TKO victory over J. D. Estep, Upper East Tennessee, in 1:43 of the first round.

ROSEWELL BOYS ROLL

Stone Mt. Lassies Rip Milton, 60-29

By JIMMY MANN
Constitution Sports Writer

STONE MOUNTAIN, Feb. 16—Stone Mountain girls' basketball team forgot their defeat in the finals of the DeKalb County Tournament last Saturday night and came back strong in their quest for the state Class B basketball title by slamming Milton, 60-29, at the Stone Mountain gym tonight.

The Pirates' victory came after Clarkston's lassies had battered Roswell, 49-21, and Roswell's boys had pounded Milton, 72-34, in the opening day of the first round of the 5th District Basketball Tournament here.

It was typical first-round play with the weaker teams going down before the giants of the tournament.

Stone Mountain girls, favorites to take the crown, rolled to a 28-13 half-time margin with Cora Lee Driggers doing most of the scoring. In the third period, Driggers and DeAnn Gouge, scrappy 10th-grader, poured through 20 points to extend the Pirate margin to 49-19. The reserves took over in the fourth.

Driggers and Gouge finished the night with 19 each. Ann Freeman chipped in 12. Each of the starting Milton forwards, Shirley Jenkins, Ernestine Cowart and Betty Jean Boling had nine points.

Jerry Gantt flipped through 17 points in the second half to lead the Roswell rout with 23 for the night. But it was 6-5 Terry Parker who bagged 11 in the first quarter and gave the winners a 31-13 margin at the half. Parker finished with 13. Bob Westbrook got 14 and Jerry Dempsey got 11 for Roswell's boys. Late sub Oliver Mullinax tossed in 13 to top the Milton scoring.

Clarkston's girls, determined to give Stone Mountain's entry a run for its money, took their first step toward the finals as sparkling Jeannette Wilson scored 25 points in just three periods of play against Roswell. Wilson's eight-point effort in the first period netted the Anogras a 12-4 lead. She contributed 10 more toward a 26-10 half-time margin. Her nine points in the third quarter pushed Clarkston ahead, 43-17, and the Anogra reserves finished up.

Cedartown and Russell Gain 4-AA Semifinals

By GENE ASHER
Special to The Constitution

DALTON, Feb. 16—Russell and Cedartown, seeded one-two in this Region 4-AA meet, advanced to the semi-finals tonight and won berths in The Constitution-sponsored state Class AA boys tournament.

Milton Thompson and Jimmy Austin broke up a thriller with one minute remaining as Cedartown trimmed Rome, 66-61. Russell clobbered Rossville, 74-56.

Cedartown was never headed. The Bulldogs led, 51-40, at the three-quarter mark, but Bill McKinney brought Rome on late in the final period.

A McKinney hook shot and a Jerry Nix field goal narrowed the margin at 60-59.

Thompson extended the count with two straight free throws, then Austin wrapped it up with a pair of two-pointers.

Jerry Raper was top point getter for Cedartown, with 16. That was second best to Rome's Gene Cox, who tallied 17.

Russell was never extended in a game that was slowed to a snail's pace by 65 fouls.

Neil Marchbanks, a sub early this season, sent Russell off to a fast start with seven quick points. Russell held quarter margins of 20-9, 31-19 and 52-32 as coach Charlie Aldridge substituted freely. Rossville's Bernard Nolen captured point honors with 21, and Russell's Harry Blondheim had 14.

Fulton's Rainey Loops in 36 Points, Breaks 3-AA Girls' Tourney Record

Redbirds Shade Smith; Hinton, Miller Lead Brown, Roosevelt in Shaky Opening Wins

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Fulton High's Redbirds, Roosevelt's Crimson Tide and Brown's Rebels won as expected in the North Fulton court portion of the opening round of the City League girls' basketball tournament yesterday. All had hard times as was not expected.

But the big news of day-night activities was not who won or lost, but how many points Jerrie Rainey threw into the basket as Coach Bert Johnson's Fultonites surged from behind to tag Smith, 55-50. The slim Rainey tossed 36 points into the hamper to obliterate a 3-AA tournament record of 27 established last year by Delores (Chicken) Waits in a Southwest victory over Roosevelt.

Rainey crashed through Smithie defenses for 15 field goals plus six foul shots in 11 efforts, bagged six points in the first quarter, as many in the last, and hit 10 and 14 in the middle periods.

Sue Hinton looped in four charity throws in the final minute in giving Brown a hard-earned victory over Sylvan, 41-39, after the lady Bears had led almost every step of the route.

Joan Miller hit the nets with only three of 32 shots from the field, yet led Roosevelt to a 36-33 nipping of West Fulton because of her accuracy from the free throw line. She spun through 12 of 15 charity tosses into the netting and was high Tide gunner for the night with 18 points.

Helen Born, Harriett Burnette and Callie Kennedy, who stashed 18, 16 and 15 points, pushed Lloyd Kimmel's Smithies to 15-13 and 31-25 leads at the first two quarter poles, but Rainey's rapid firing put the favored Redbirds ahead at 43-38 at the three-quarter mark and they rolled on to a quarter-finals meeting with unbeaten Southwest today.

Jack Wood's Sylvanites managed only eight field goals but led Brown until the last minute as Barbara Holland, who bagged 24 points, socked home 18 of 34 free tosses. Fifteen of Hinton's 25 counters, including the final four that won the game, were also for free.

Roosevelt hit only two field goals in the first half and West Fulton only one in the final two go-rounds. Two Barbaras—Johns and McDowell—garnered 13 and 12 points in keeping West Fulton ahead most of the way before Joan Miller began connecting. She sank 14 in the final half.

O'Keefe, Northside Gain in 3-AA Play

Morgan, Meek, Martin Star As Girls' Tournament Opens

By RED MULLINS

O'Keefe's girls advanced along with Northside into the quarter-finals of the Region 3-AA girls' basketball tournament last night at Smith Gym. The O'Keefe girls beat Bass, 52-42, and Northside routed Murphy High, 46-29.

The Bass-O'Keefe game was close until the third quarter when Melba Morgan broke the game wide open with an eight-point splurge. Jerrie Meek kept Coach Dave Woodall's girls in the running as she collected nine of her 18 points in the first half.

The Northside-Murphy game started off like a real thriller but Northside pulled to a 24-13 half-time lead. Murphy, however, could not stay with the taller Northside girls in the final half and Northside pulled away not to be overtaken. Nita Martin was individual scoring leader for Northside with 19 points.

Coach A. M. Armstrong's Northside girls showed their defensive ability in the final half as they limited Murphy to only one field goal and 10 points the entire half. Northside's Susie Walker injured her ankle in the final quarter and had to be carried off the court. She probably will be out of action the remainder of the tournament.

Murphy's Caroline Lynch with 10 points was the best effort for Coach Max Ivey's girls. Guard Mike Gaffney played an outstanding defensive game for Northside.

Coach R. J. Gregory's O'Keefe girls, who finished with a 3-9 league standing, were out to avenge an early season defeat at the hands of Bass in which they were beaten by 10 points. This time, however, they were on the long end of the 10 points. Southpaw Judy Hinton, who collected 13 of her 17 points for the night in the first half, took over on the backboards in the final half and turned in an outstanding performance.

Bass High's Joyce Taylor was a close second to Meek in the scoring column with 17 points. Bobbie Harrison was the defensive star for the victorious O'Keefe girls.

So. Conference Nixes NIT Bids

Condensed From Wire Reports

No Southern Conference basketball team will be allowed to compete in the National Invitational Tournament in New York, Conference President C. Max Farrington said yesterday.

The Southern Conference champion will be decided in a tournament next month and the winner, expected to be George Washington, automatically gets a bid to the NCAA tournament.

It had been rumored that the NIT was seeking the Southern Conference runner-up, hoping to get Furman which has the nation's leading scorer in Frank Selvy.

Farrington said he had received an inquiry from the NIT asking whether a Southern Conference team would be allowed to accept an invitation. The conference's executive committee voted "no."

Mississippi State announced a 10-game football schedule for 1954 replacing Auburn, Kentucky and Texas Tech with Miami, Arkansas State and Florida. There are six SEC teams on the card.

Terry Allen retained his British flyweight title in a bout in London when challenger Eric Marsden was disqualified for a low blow in the fifth round after leading up until that point. On the same card, Jean Sneyers of Belgium retained his European featherweight crown by outpointing Sammy McCarthy

Bill Clarke has resigned as basketball coach at Mount St. Mary's College effective in June.

Mississippi Southern Athletic Director Reed Green said he was "very much interested" in Chuck Finley of the University of Idaho as a basketball coach to succeed Lee Floyd. Floyd, whose Southern team has a 20-6 record, has resigned effective at the end of the season to enter private business.

After their first trial ended in a hung jury Feb. 2, the five men charged with the famous Bath horse switch last summer face trial again today. This is the one where the sharpies allegedly rang in a speedster named Santa Amaro to run under the name of a plug named Francasal.

Pat O'Sullivan, newest member of the Ladies Professional Golf Association, will play again in the Titleholders Championship March 11-14 at the Augusta Country Club. Joyce Ziske also filed an entry. O'Sullivan won the Titleholders as an amateur in 1951.

Brewster Shaw of Daytona Beach, who never before drove race cars, set a new record for strictly American automobiles by driving a 1954 Chrysler New Yorker at an average speed of 117.06 m.p.h.

Three National Football League clubs announced signings for 1954. The Chicago Cardinals—guard Fred Wallner, a returning serviceman; Baltimore Colts—fullback Ray Ellis, a rookie who has been teaching for several years since he finished school; Washington Redskins — quarterback Donald (Zip) Rondou, their 30th and last draft choice from Northwestern.

Sverre Stenersen of Norway won the ski-jumping competition of the World's Nordic combined ski championships at Falun, Sweden. Best American was Marvin Crawford, who finished 13th.

William Smaltz, head coach at Juniata College, has been named assistant to Earle Edwards at N. C. State College. He's the second assistant picked by Edwards who appointed Al Michaels of Penn State Monday.

The University of Pennsylvania added two new football assistants, John Butler, a successful high school coach at Butler, Pa., and Dewayne (Dewey) King, a graduate assistant at Michigan State for two years.

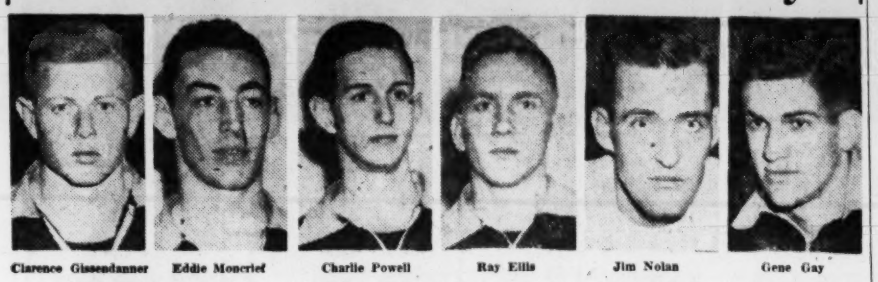
Flashy Moultrie Quintet Looms As Threat in State AA Tourney



Clarence Gissendanner · Eddie Moncrief · Charlie Powell · Ray Ellis · Jim Nolan · Gene Gay

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

All Moultrie is running a high fever and telling tall tales because of a nothing-short-of-sensational basketball team.

It's the one being put on display weekly by Coach Jim Nolan, former Georgia Tech All-Southeastern Conference center out of Macon and Lanier High. Moultrians tell you two basic "facts" about this team: It probably is the best one Moultrie High ever fielded. It is coming to Atlanta next week and win the state Class AA tournament, sponsored by The Atlanta Consitution in cooperation with the GHSA.

Those "facts" are not necessarily so. Neither are they necessarily not so. Moultrians have good basis for their beliefs.

The Packers, who already have clinched a berth in the state meet here, Feb. 23-27, are leading Region 1-AA, have won 19 of 21 overall games—losing only on the road to Baker and Columbus—top the region in total offense, are third in defense, have hit 50 per cent of their shots in their last six games.

Other pertinent facts are: the Packers have three of the region's first eleven scorers average-wise on a 13-player squad, of which 12 are seniors. Four of five starters range in height from six-one to six-five—which will make them rank on a par with Savannah Commercial and North Fulton as the tallest overall quintets in the state dribblefest.

Top gunner for the thriving-on-victory Packers is Eddie Moncrief, fourth in the region with 157 points in ten games for a 15.7 average.

Freddie Burdette, 6-1 guard, is a fine set shot and is averaging about 11 points per outing when all games are included. He is the star baseball hurler, who didn't allow an earned run in 52 innings for Moultrie High last spring.

Charlie Powell, 6-5 center, is popping them in at about a 13-point clip. Ray Ellis, 6-3 forward, is getting about nine each time out, and Guard Gene Gay, at 5-9 the only under-six-foot regular, about the same number.

Kenneth Burdette, 5-8, and Price (Spanky) McLean, 5-10, are two players Nolan can insert without hurting the quint's effectiveness. Ray Glow, the only junior, and Clarence Gissendanner are subs who tower to 6-4. Mike Moye is a six footer. Donnie Stallings, 5-11, Sonny Davis, 5-10 and Dean Cole, 5-8, round out the star-studded squad that has attracted tremendous crowds in Moultrie all year.

It is a step away from a region crown, and has state crown on its mind if not on its head.

Reserved seat season tickets for the state Class AA boys tournament at the city auditorium, Feb. 23-27, are on sale for $8 each at the front counter of the Journal-Constitution Building and at Reeder & McGaughey's. Mail orders, which require an extra 25 cents for handling charges on each order, may be addressed to George O'Kelley, Board of Education, City Hall.

Lookouts Out Of TV Picture, Says Joe Engel

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 16 (AP)—The Cattanooga Lookouts' home baseball games will not be televised this year, President Joe Engel said today, even though this city probably will have local television by the time the Southern Association season begins.

There had been rumors that Engel might relent on his hitherto firm stand against TV. He not only spiked these rumors but followed up with the statement that only the Lookouts' road games will be on radio.

The radio policy was adopted last year. Previously, all games had been broadcast.

Sylvan Plays Northside; Murphy Meets Southwest

By GENE ASHER

Fulton and North Fulton, finalists in last year region tournament, clash in the opening round tonight as the 3-AA boys meet gets under way at Smith and North Fulton gyms.

Fulton was the big surprise last year. The Redbirds were unimpressive during season play, then went all the way to the semi-finals of the city meet and earned a spot in The Constitutzion-sponsored State Class AA Tourney to be held again this year Feb. 23-27 at the City Auditorium.

TODAY'S TOURNEY GAMES
AT NORTH FULTON—3:30 p.m.—Sylvan vs. Northside (boys); 5 p.m.—Grady vs. O'Keefe (girls); 6:30—Murphy vs. Southwest (boys); 8—Northside vs. North Fulton (girls); 9:30—Fulton vs. North Fulton (boys).
AT SMITH—5 p.m.—Southwest vs. Fulton (girls); 6:30—Roosevelt vs. Grady (boys); 8—Brown vs. Roosevelt (girls); 9:30—Bass vs. West Fulton (boys).

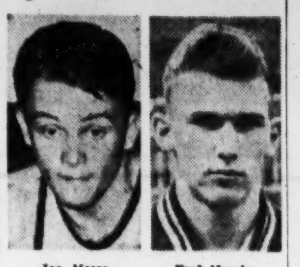
Rausey Mason Paces Sylvan's Tourney Hopes

Sixteen-year-old Fred Murphy, who paced Fulton last year, is again Redbird bigwig. He finished second in city league scoring—behind O'Keefe's Bill Salter—with a 16.9 average.

North Fulton, which captured the state meet last year, is fourth-seeded. The Bulldogs feature sharpshooters Joe Marco and Joe DeLány who have 16.8 and 15.2 game averages.

Also at North Fulton gym, Sylvan faces Northside at 3:30 and Murphy tangles with Southwest at 6:30. At Smith, Roosevelt takes on Grady at 6:30,, Bass and West Fulton collide at 9:30.



Joe Marco · Fred Murphy

Brown, Smith and O'Keefe, seeded in that order, drew first-round byes. Tomorrow, Brown meets the Sylvan-Northside winner, O'Keefe plays the Grady-Roosevelt victor and Smith and the Bass-West Fulton winner collide.

Friday's four semifinalists win berths in the state tournament. Finals will be held Saturday.

Grady will be shooting for its second straight trip to the state meet. The Grey Knights lost to Roosevelt earlier this season but have come on recently and could make it interesting against the Tide tonight.

West Fulton must halt high-scoring Harry Lockwood to beat Bass. Lockwood was No. 7 in region point production with a 14.9 mark.

Sprayberry Tops S. Cobb In 3-A Upset

By ROBERT COX
Special to The Constitution

AUSTELL, Feb. 16—Sprayberry High School of Marietta pulled a mild upset by defeating South Cobb of Austell, 60-48, in the feature game of the Southern Division Region 3-A boys' basketball tournament tonight.

In the other boys' game, Campbell of Smyrna eased past Rockmart, 69-53. Girls' action saw Douglas County High of Douglasville defeat Campbell of Smyrna, 55-44, and Canton edge Rockmart, 39-36, in overtime.

Jim McClure and Clayton Kurtz fired the Sprayberry attack with 23 and 22 points, while Douglas Witt's 17 were high for South Cobb.

Jack Sentell snagged high-point honors for the night, with 26, to pace the Campbell offense. In girls' play, Douglas County's Joyce Kimbrell scored 33, Rockmart's Betty Lou Kirk 27 and Campbell's Mary Ann McClesky 23.

The Preparade

By Charlie Roberts

As Deacon Andy Griffith — some people think he wrote "Romeo and Juliet"—would say, "He wuz a kind of a big boy fer his age" when I first saw him over three years ago. He wuz a kind a big boy fer any age unless you're Adolph Rupp or Hank Iba and won't settle for much less than seven feet in your associates.

Like we wuz sayin', Billy Salter wuz right smart of a sprout at 16, could stand in six feet of water without gettin' his chin wet and pushed the packing house scales almost to 200 pounds. I still think considerable of the big lug after more than three years for several reasons, two bein' 'cause he's had such a hard time and give other folks such a hard time.

Charlie Roberts

Big Bill's mother pased away a long, long time ago, and all this time he's been one of Georgia's most brilliant all-around athletes for O'Keefe High School he's been working for a living. Most of the time he's been throwing those big Sunday Journal-Constitutions on the trucks under the Forsyth Street viaduct on Saturday nights after playing football or basketball or running on the track. Coach Jim Hinson says Billy often works a few hours at one of his jobs, rushes out to play in a basketball game, then hustles back to work the rest of the night.

Some folks say the six-five Salter doesn't always go "all out" in every basketball game. Hinson knows he goes all out in the tough ones. That's when he has his big scoring nights. The figures show that about the new City League scoring king. The six-five, 195 pounder "practices and works as hard as any athlete in school," Hinson and Track Coach Eugene Sackett chorus. Salter, one of the most colorful players seen here in years, was high point man in the state AA track meet a year ago, winning the high jump and shot put, coming in third in the discus. He has jumped as high as 6 feet 15/16 inch. He hit 91 points in four outings, 36 in one game, in last year's Constitution-sponsored state AA basketball meet. He hopes to make his 1954 final effort his best at the city auditorium in next week's tourney.

One Sylvan cager remarked after Salter had fired 23 points against the Bears, "I don't know whether he can shoot from far out or not but, man, if I was that tall and had springs in my legs, I'd live my life under that basket the easy way, too."

3 Die, 60 Hurt as Police Fight Mob in Calcutta

Red-Led Thousands Wreck City Section, Hit U.S. Agency

CALCUTTA, India, Feb. 16 (AP)—Thousands of Communist-led rioters battled police and Indian army troops today in wild street fighting that wrecked a section of the city near Government House.

In a lingering stench of smoke and tear-gas three persons were shot dead and 60 wounded when police finally fired into rioters milling around Government House tonight.

(Parts of Calcutta apparently were isolated from local reporters. Advices reaching New Delhi said a mob smashed and set fire to books in the U. S. information agency's library in the business center of Calcutta.

SUPPORT STRIKE

(Primary objective of the rioters apparently was the Bengali state legislative chambers in support of a teachers' strike and they burned the U. S. library en route.)

Police had to call in army troops late tonight to help restore order after the rioters persistently reformed and attacked.

Troops patrolled the stone-littered streets through the night in parts of the city that looked as though they had been torn by war bombings.

Assembly of more than five persons was forbidden by official order; carrying of weapons was outlawed.

POLICE HURT

Five policemen, including two officers, were gravely injured and 16 mounted police were hurt. Forty-four rioters were arrested.

The rioting began when 10,000 demonstrators began the march on Government House and were challenged by police.

The rioters hurled paving stones through plate-glass windows, tore down street lights and stoned police vans.

Police tear-gassed a group of students attempting to march on the legislative buildings. The police backed the gas attack with a stave charge. Both these bids to stop the riots were unsuccessful. Later student rioters reformed for another march on the Legislature, and once again the police used force.

'Row Chopped Out,' Ex-Slave Dies at 95

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Dinah Alexander, born a slave at Buhalia, Miss., in 1859, yesterday told a friend:

"I've just about chopped my row out."

Mrs. Alexander died today.

Savage attacks were made on fire engines and many firemen were seriously injured. After the first attacks the fire engines quit sounding their bells, in order to escape attention.

When the rioting ended at 11 p.m. (local time) thousands of people were still weeping from the effects of the tear gas.

French Slice Red Ring In Hand-to-Hand Fight

HANOI, Indochina, Feb. 16—(UP)—A strong French force broke through an iron ring of Communist troops surrounding the besieged outpost of Dien Bien Phu tonight and seized a heavily fortified Communist position in costly hand-to-hand fighting.

French authorities said the reconnaissance force, backed by a heavy air strike and an artillery barrage, surged up the steep slopes northeast of Dien Bien Phu and seized the Communist post after five previous breakout attempts failed in the face of murderous enemy fire.

The action came soon after the Communist Viet Minh radio, in a propaganda broadcast following the line laid down by Peiping, accused the United States of "shameful interference" in Indochina by flying in U.S. Air Force technicians to service French war planes.

The French Command said there were "serious" losses on both sides in the breakout. The troops have been trapped by 20,000 Communists for the past 87 days in the fortress 180 miles west of Hanoi and 110 miles northeast of the threatened Laos royal capital of Luang Prabang.

The action was the heaviest since a French sortie last week ran into a major battle from massed enemy troops when it tried to break through the ring. Since then four other attempts failed with heavy losses.

The Communists had used tactics learned in Korea to wipe out the break-through attempts. The Reds hid in carefully camouflaged bunkers and let the French Union forces get almost upon them before they cut loose with streams of machinegun fire, mortar barrages and a torrent of hand grenades.

Rome Tieup Ordered by Reds Is Flop

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

ROME, Feb. 16—A Communist-led general strike led to serious disorders in Rome today. Strikers and police clashed repeatedly and some parts of the city were kept in an uproar for several hours.

The strikers, nevertheless, failed in their essential purpose, which was to stage a demonstration of their power by tying up the city completely. Owing to the fact that the strike did not have the support of the anti-Communist unions, about 100 motor buses kept moving and the streetcars were able to maintain at least skeleton service.

Strikers placed obstructions across tracks at some points. Water, gas, electricity and telephone services, which were to be interrupted for 24 hours, continued more or less as usual.

The strike was called for higher fringe benefits which would have resulted indirectly in pay increases equal to about five cents hourly for unmarried workers. It soon assumed a political character, however, when the strikers, shouting antigovernment slogans, paraded through the streets in defiance of police orders.

Omaha, Nebraska. Population 251,117

Each month we are adding an Omaha to our population

LAST YEAR, the average monthly increase of our population was 225,000—representing a city roughly the size of Dayton, Ohio; Richmond, Virginia; Omaha, Nebraska; or Long Beach, California.

This great population growth is one of many exciting changes in America during the last decade. Our whole scale of living has been changing, too. We have been building more homes, getting more education, making more money. As a result, we now have much more to protect.

And the life insurance business is keeping pace and is constantly growing more flexible to meet our new needs.

The life insurance companies are continuously making life insurance available to more people. Constant study of health and occupational hazards has shown that insurance protection can be offered to hundreds of thousands who could not have qualified under standards of some years ago. Today, 97 out of every 100 applications are accepted.

All told, there are 90 million policyholders in America. They own life insurance primarily to cover the expenses that occur at death and to provide an income for their families. Beyond that, they are using it to make sure the mortgage will be paid off, or to assure funds for the children's education, or to provide retirement income.

* * *

A suggestion: Have your needs or circumstances changed? Have you looked over your life insurance to see how it stacks up with your present way of living and the goals you and your family have set for yourselves?

TIME OUT FOR AN INJECTION
Miss Jeanette Moore Takes Turn as Nurse

Duo Must Hurry to Grow Old

By JEAN ROONEY

Two local females are trying to disguise their years. But they want to add instead of subtract.

The unique women are Marguerite Wellborn and Helen Christy.

They have to grow old fast to play lovable little old ladies in the Theater Guild's "Two Blind Mice," opening Thursday at the Community Playhouse.

How does a gal swallow her vanity sufficiently to play unglamorous character roles?

"Oh, straight, pretty parts do not show your talent," the dedicated actresses assure.

OLD MAIDS

To assume the characters of mischievous old maids who manage a long-abolished government office, Mrs. Wellborn and Miss Christy must become sixtyish and victorianish.

Blonde Mrs. Wellborn, an Atlanta office worker with the Theater Guild since 1946, quips: "I won't have to add many years."

Atlanta newcomer Helen Christy, who grew up in little theater work in Wichita, Kan., will have a bit of camouflaging to cover her 25 years.

An eyebrow pencil will quickly grow convincing wrinkles on forehead and around the mouth. Eyebrow shadow will forge authentic cheek hollows.

"But we aren't adding bags below the eyes," explains grey-eyed Mrs. Wellborn. "We're respectable old ladies."

Their "Two Blind Mice" characterizations are "glamorous" compared to former roles, both assured.

'REAL HAG'

Helen, in real life an office nurse, once wore green make-up and black rags to personify Lady MacBeth.

"I played a real hag as a gun moll in the Guild's recent 'Night of January 16,'" says Marguerite.

And shucks, they have it good in this production. They rate a couple of kisses each from the hero, played by WSB's Bob Van Camp.

Their make-up tricks and dramatic talent may be viewed Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday afternoon in the comedy.

Easing Aches Is Their Job

By YOLANDE GWIN

There are many pretty girls in Atlanta who are leading a double life.

As receptionists in dental and medical offices, they are called upon to do just about everything from giving cast applications to providing lollypops for the small fry.

The job is a far cry from just meeting the public, answering the zero hour when your number comes up and you hear, "The Doctor will see you know."

For instance there's Miss Jeanette Moore whose nine to five schedule is apt to include any type of work.

"I don't remember when I've had time to just sit in the front office and greet the public," she said, "there is something to do every minute. I see that the office looks nice, such as having flowers around, the magazines and books stacked just right, the appointment books checked, and files in order.

I keep messages lined up, the doctors schedules, enough candy for the youngsters and I prepare beds for patients, give injections, infiltrations and cast applications."

FOOTBALL REGULARS

Miss Moore says that one group of "regulars" who come to the office are members of high school football teams. "Sometimes I even call their best girls for them to change dates or even make them," she confided.

Mrs. Irmgard Dodson, who works for a dentist, says that "my duties can be anything from teeth cleaning to baby sitting and sometimes for my own children too!"

The pretty blonde Mrs. Dodson studied dentistry in Germany with an eye toward the day when she could hang out her shingle. War and motherhood changed her plans — temporarily — and now working in a dentist office she says she has her hands full.

"I can always help out as a hygienist too, and in addition to secretarial work I keep what I call the playbox filled. In it I have pencils and pads to keep the children patients occupied until their turn comes. I keep little charms for their bracelets which are given them after a very strenuous ordeal in the dentist's chair. For the grown-ups I try to keep fashion and decorating magazines."

ANSWERS DOORBELL

Miss Edith Plumlee answers the doorbell when patients call at her doctor's office.

"I love to meet people," she said "and I love the background work. I do a great deal of X-ray developing as well as writing up charts and keeping the books. When I work half day, sometimes I wear my street clothes rather than a uniform.

"On one of those days a girl came by and said she wanted to apply for a job. She said she wanted to be a receptionist because she could wear her best clothes all the time and just sit around, chat with the patients "and at the same time get good pay!"

CORDUROY VESTS, DOG COLLARS, COATS, SHORTS
All Appear in Spring Fashions for 1954

Man Who's Rugged Is Right ---In Romance and Attire

By AGNES McCARTY

In both romance and attire the man who's rugged is right.

Corduroy, the roughest, toughest fabric of all, is appearing in men's wear styles from fancy vests to walking shorts this Spring.

The Corduroy Council of America states that women purchase 86 per cent of all clothing—this includes men's underwear — bought in this country. Consequently, mens wear designers aim to please the girls.

And, judging from the raincoats, skirts, evening gowns, shorts and other corduroy apparel worn by women, this raised rib fabric is tops with feminine buyers.

SHORTS A HIT

Walking shorts, which first appeared in resort collections, made such a hit with both the men who wear them and the women who buy them, that they are now being coordinated with shirts, jackets and pullovers.

Printed corduroy vests as well as many styles in pale solid colors, provide a Victorian front for even the most confirmed roue.

Black corduroy sports coats are teamed with grey flannel slacks, crisp white linen shorts or with pale camel beige corduroy trousers.

Most unusual corduroy innovation of all is a dog collar equipped with a compass for the pup who can't ever find his way home.

In California, where such hemen as Marlon Brando and Edmund O'Brien cavort in togas, corduroy walking shorts are being worn with dinner jackets.

ONE DRAWBACK

The only drawback to corduroy men's wear is it's easy adaptability to a wife or sister's own personal wardrobe without so much as a switch of coat buttons to the other side.

Fashions are available in Atlanta. For shopping information, call WA. 5050, ext. 397.

Atlantan Selects Jungle for Home Site

Riverland Jungle Farm is the name that Atlantan William K. Jenkins has given the home he built in a native jungle setting within 10 minutes' drive of downtown Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

An illustrated story on the place, written by another former Atlantan, Margaret Walker, appeared recently in the Miami Herald. It describes in detail the rustic character of the house which is pine-paneled on the interior and of natural pine wood on the exterior.

An artist friend of the owner, John Loges of Atlanta, designed the modern furnishings. A striking decorative note is the frieze of jungle figures he cleverly copied from the drapery pattern and painted around the bar.

The recreation area provides a space for a carriage in which Jefferson Davis once rode. A 50-foot dock erected on nearby New River, is set with long tables and benches for the Georgia breakfasts and Florida seafood dinners at which Mr. Jenkins likes to entertain. Here he also ties up his boat on which he was cruising when he first spied the site with a "for sale" sign upon it. He bought it the day he found it.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)

What a wonderful day it is when baby makes the first attempt to feed himself. Of course it's messy! But think of the fun he's having trying to gain his independence . . . of the real strides he's making in learning hand-to-mouth coordination. A plastic bib will keep the dribbles from his clothes . . . sheet plastic under baby's high chair will save the floor from stains and spills.

• • •

What a wonderful day, too, when baby graduates from strained to junior or chewing foods! When the first few teeth come through, both you and baby will appreciate Gerber's Junior Foods. For the tender, minced texture gives baby something to get those new little teeth into! (The bite-size bits really encourage chewing.) And the true-flavor, natural-color goodness which makes Gerber's Strained Foods so appealing, helps to keep junior's appetite perked up.

• • •

First steps dept. Once your active little sprout starts getting the wanderlust, you can save him a few tumbles (especially on the kitchen floor) if you lightly sandpaper the soles of his first hard-soled shoes.

• • •

Seven, heavenly varieties of luscious sun-ripened fruits . . . processed to preserve the true-to-nature colors and flavors baby likes. Good eating galore is in store for your teething toddler when you serve Gerber's Junior Fruits. Nice "as is"—swell for a cereal topping or as a spread on bread for an older child.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.85 plus tax at better stores.

Ex-Heavies Are Healthier And Happier

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Of the millions of words written on diet and reducing, chances are none command so much respect or do more to bolster sagging morale than triumphant reports from former overweights.

"If only overweights could realize how much healthier and happier they could be at normal weight, they would start today to eat for health," writes an enthusiastic Kansan.

LOST 60 POUNDS

"As I read your column about the lady who reduced 60 pounds in 18 months, I can't keep still any longer. I have lost 60 pounds since last May (8 months). At the time I wrote for all your diet sheets I weighed 230 pounds . . . now I weigh 170 pounds.

"I used to wear a size 24½ dress, and now wear size 18½. Oh, what happiness it gives a person to lose all that ugly fat! I have taken a new lease on life and feel so well.

"I feel sorry for fat people who cannot make up their minds to stop overeating. When I go to my club, it is easy to turn down the rich dessert served. I know I would rather continue toward normal weight than to eat the dessert, and this helps me to be satisfied with my cup of black coffee.

USES SACCHARIN

"I use two slices of high protein bread a day, and use only saccharin and sucaryl for sweetening. I eat a serving of bran to counteract constipation. I look forward to your column . . . so keep up the good work."

This dietitian can take next to no credit for the success of this courageous reducer. She had done it all on her own. Small wonder she has taken a new lease on life. We all wish her continued success.

Banker Helps Farm Families

Two or three of us lingered after the Rotary Club ladies' night program at Monroe the other night to talk to George Baker, agricultural representative of the Farmers' Bank, about things in Walton County.

The two banks in Monroe, the Farmers' and the First National, rate very high with the farm families of that section because of the way they stood by their borrowers during the dire days of the depression. As early as 1945, when relatively few banks in the country had taken an active interest in promoting farm programs, C. R. Bradford, president of the Farmers', hired himself a bright young man with a master's degree in chemistry and generations of farming ancestors behind him, to pitch in and help the farmers of Walton County.

That young man was George Baker, who later helped the bank win the Trust Company of Georgia's Robert Strickland award as the bank in the state doing the most to promote agriculture.

George himself takes very little credit for the way Walton County is gradually switching over from a cotton county to diversified crops, beef cattle, dairying and chicken raising. It has been a slow change, he said, and cotton still reigns on the red clay slopes of Walton but a bit at the time the farm picture is changing.

And his role in it is simply that of "assistant to the county farm agent" he insists. George works very closely with H. H. Shores, the county's veteran farm agent, and Julian Brown, soil conservation expert. They are all delighted that since 1945, when there were a total of six dairies in the county, 66 additional farmers have turned to dairying.

Industry has picked up in the attractive little town, too. There's a new pants factory on the edge of town employing 300 people, another garment factory is going up and an office fixture plant, which is expected to employ up to 100 men, is a-building.

While we were talking I asked idly how many people farm in Walton County.

"There are 2,200 operators," George said. "Out of a population of . . . well, let's see. . . ."

He called across the lobby to Thorpe Sanders to get the population figure and a round-faced, fair-haired man who had been sitting silently by in one corner of the lobby reached into his pocket and pulled out a paper.

"Population is 28,070," he said clearly.

We all turned and stared at him. "And 70?" I echoed. "And 70," he said, adding, "I know because I'm here on rabies control and I had to get those figures. As for dogs, you can figure one to every eight families."

We forgot farming and banking and gave him our attention. "Just one for every eight families?" we asked.

"That's the average," he said. "Rich folks and aristocrats have none. Poor folks and relief clients have eight or 10 apiece. Colored folks will claim two or three out of every five you find hanging around their doorsteps. The extra ones 'just come up here' and they don't know a thing about them!"

The Bakers got up to go home and see about their three dogs and I arose to check on my two.

"Folks around here like their dogs, though," the man offered cheerfully. "I swore out 15 warrants and all 15 dog owners came in and got their dogs inoculated and paid up."

MARY HAWORTH

She Wrestles Homesickness In New Environment

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Last fall my husband was offered an excellent job promotion away from our home town. We had just built a lovely house, my little girl was happy with her school and her many friends; and my parents were nearby. Tom was ambitious and dissatisfied, and there was no room for advancement there. So we took the promotion, sold the house and moved.

People are very nice to us in the new location. But as I am a worrier and a sentimental weakling, I can't help harking back to what used to be. I feel I am visiting here and will soon go back to my home town where I was so happy.

If it were just myself to consider, I wouldn't give a moment's thought, but my little girl has no classmates nearby to play with, and she seems so lonesome and unhappy. I have a baby son also, too young as yet to realize he is in a new place.

Tom is happy in his work and doing so well, but do you think getting ahead in the world is sufficiently important to justify leaving a place you love, that means happiness to your children? He says children are happy enough wherever their parents are, provided their home life is happy.

Tom has prospects of a bright future, and if I had enough backbone I could make everything right, I guess. But do you think we did right in making a change? And will my children's loneliness be temporary? T. S.

DEAR T. S.: It is true, as Tom says, that children are happy enough wherever their parents are, provided the family life is happy. Your letter, here condensed, gives ample evidence that you are a problem-child in the readjustment phase, demoralized by separation from your parents, since you pulled up stakes.

Your husband is proceeding heroically under special stress. You aren't much help to a rising young man at present; more of a drag on him. My advice is to see your distress in perspective, as a crybaby kind of affliction. You have much growing to do.

Up to the time of leaving your beloved home town, you weren't so much Tom's wife as you were your parents' child. You hadn't really gone forth into life with him, even on familiar ground, leaving filial sanctuary behind. You were at most on the fence, trying to keep a foot in both camps.

Is a man justified in leaving a loved place, simply to get ahead in the world? Well, persons either grow, or they shrivel and decay. And orderly change of environment or occupation, from time to time, is in general an incentive to growth. Your agitation about your daughter's situation is nine-tenths self-pity, I think—a matter of supposing your anxious feelings are also hers. Read "Their Mother's Sons" (J. B. Lippincott Co.), by Dr. Edward A. Strecker, to get the drift of being mature. M. H.

Unlike other lotions, Angel Skin by Pond's doesn't just superficially smooth chapped skin. It goes deep—heals chapping!

No sticky "coating"
New Angel Skin can't leave your hands sticky, because—unlike old-style lotions—it contains no gummy "filler." All its richness goes into your skin at once.

Neutralizes drying detergents!
Angel Skin is a new lotion, created to meet the drying effect of today's powerful new washing products. Pond's Angel Skin is designed to counteract irritating detergent chemicals.

See amazing effects!
Hands lose that dry, scratchy feel. Blotchy, chapped redness fades away!

Coarsened, discolored skin of heels and elbows regains normal texture and color.

Flaky, winter-roughened skin on your face and arms becomes smooth and soft—right away.

Women in Alaska say "It works wonders—even at 40° below." After hundreds of triumphant tests among women in this country, Angel Skin was sent to Alaska. There, it proved its amazing, deep-softening action. See for yourself—get fragrant, creamy-pink Angel Skin today.

Hangnails Revolutionary new Angel Skin softens and smooths away ragged cuticle that causes hangnails. Rough cuticle skin becomes soft and even again

GIVE IT THESE HARD TESTS

Chapped, red hands—See Angel Skin's deep-softening action smooth dry, rough skin right away. Redness fades out. Chapping heals

Dried-out "detergent hands"—Unlike other hand lotions, new Angel Skin counteracts the drying action of detergent alkalies

MAGNIFIED SKIN DIAGRAM SHOWS ANGEL SKIN'S DEEP-SOFTENING ACTION

OTHER LOTIONS stop at surface of your skin. → They give skin only superficial smoothing

ANGEL SKIN penetrates this outer skin surface→ Gives immediate help to living skin tissue → where chapped redness and roughness begin

Dry "cracked" heels and elbows—Angel Skin's penetrating formula dissolves roughnesses that "snag" nylons. Restores normal color to coarsened elbows

What every good cook knows:

Just a little difference in ingredients makes a big difference in cooking results

Snowdrift is just a little lighter than ordinary shortening—and that can make the big difference in giving your family lighter, more digestible foods.

Snowdrift is pre-whipped just a little longer than ordinary shortenings. That can make the big difference in quicker and better blending for perfect texture every time.

Snowdrift's ingredients are just a little costlier than any other solid shortening (yet you pay no more). That can make the big difference in better tasting foods, whether baked or fried.

No other shortening at any price is so creamy, so digestible – and so light!

COMMERCIAL COMMENT

Southeast Paces U.S. In Economic Progress

By JIM MONTGOMERY

Businessmen the nation over are just about unanimous in recognizing the Southeast as one of the country's fastest growing markets. Some of the latest available information indicates that such praise is well deserved.

In the 12-year period ending a year ago the Southeast far exceeded the progress of the nation as a whole in its rate of increase in personal income derived from all parts of the economy except agriculture.

From 1940 through 1952 all forms of income to individuals increased nearly 310 per cent in Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and the Carolinas, while in the United States it rose less spectacularly by 236.7 per cent.

The gains stress the success with which the region has diversified its economy by bringing industry and trade into a closer balance with agriculture. Although personal income from farm activities in the region did not exceed the national gain, its climb of more than 200 per cent was nearly as great.

In the over-all picture, however, the gap should widen even more when final 1953 tabulations are in, according to the Atlanta field office of the U.S. Department of Commerce. Its preliminary figures for the year indicate new highs for the region's personal income.

For the 12-year period, Florida's gains topped both the regional and national figures. In the Southeast, South Carolina was second and Georgia third.

January Bank Debits Off in Georgia

Although bank debits in Georgia declined slightly (less than 1 per cent) in January from the same month last year, several cities experienced substantial increases, according to data released today by the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta.

Bank debits (withdrawals from individual demand deposit accounts) serve to indicate the general level of business activity since about 85 per cent of all business transactions are by bank check.

Increases of 15 per cent were reported in Gainesville, 12 per cent in Valdosta, 6 per cent in Rome, 4 per cent in Brunswick and 2 per cent in Atlanta. Other Georgia cities showed decreases ranging from 2 to 10 per cent. Bank debits in the Sixth District as a whole were off 3 per cent, the first decline from a year earlier in more than four years.

Atlanta Retail Sales Rise in 1953

Most of the major lines of retailing in Atlanta experienced increases in sales last year over 1952, with automotive establishments leading all other with an 18 per cent advance, the Commerce Department reported yesterday. Other retailers scored gains ranging from 1 to 6 per cent.

Sun of Canada Policyholder Dividends Up

$24½ million to be paid in '54; life insurance cost again reduced

A higher dividend scale which for the fifth consecutive year will again reduce the cost of life insurance for the holders of two million Sun Life of Canada policies, is announced by George W. Bourke, President, in his Annual Review of the Company's business for 1953. Dividends to policyholders during 1954 will amount to $24½ million, 11% more than in 1953 and an increase of more than 50% over the last five years. Most policyholders carrying participating plans with the Company will benefit by this increase, with the largest payments being distributed in respect of policies longest in force.

In his survey of the figures for the year, Mr. Bourke comments on the manner in which life insurance meets the responsibilities of its purpose. The Sun Life of Canada, he said, has paid $2,729,000,000 in benefits since the first policy was issued in 1871, and during 1953 no less than half a million dollars was paid out by the Company each working day. Total amount paid during the twelve-month period was $125,057,000. New life insurance issued during the year amounted to $576,946,000, an increase of $31 million over 1952. The rising volume of business was spread over world-wide territory in the nearly 30 countries covered by Sun Life service. New group insurance included in the above figure amounts to $170 million, an increase of more than $5 million over the previous year.

New annuity contracts during the year included individual annuities and group pensions guaranteeing payments of more than $4 million per annum. Total annuity payments to be made by the Company either immediately or in the future, through group pension plans and individual contracts, increased to $126 million per annum. Total Sun Life insurance in force at the end of 1953 amounted to $5,678,000,000 of which 79% is in the United States and Canada. Group insurance included in this figure is $1,751,000,000, an increase of 17%. Total assets of the Company, carefully invested and well diversified, are made up of: Bonds — Government, State and Municipal 28.7%; Bonds —Public Utility, Industrial, etc., 41.6%; Preferred and Common Stocks 6.0%; Mortgages 14.4%; Cash and Miscellaneous, 9.3%. The Sun Life has 46% of its assets invested in the United States.

A copy of Sun Life's complete 1953 Annual Report, including the President's review of the year, is being sent to all policyholders. All inquiries regarding the life insurance services of the Sun Life of Canada in this district should be addresses to J. E. K. Kennedy, Branch Manager, or Edward D. Lord, Group Manager, 834 W. Peachtree St., N. W., Atlanta.

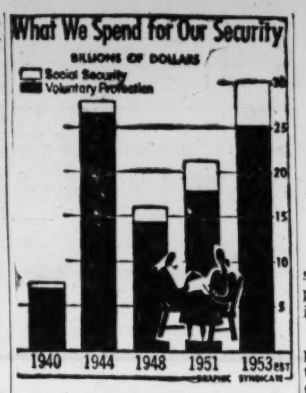
Bank of Georgia Jumps 66 Places In Nation's Ranks

The Bank of Georgia in 1953 rose 66 places to show well up in the first thousand in size among the nation's more than 14,000 banks, according to the current issue of The American Banker.

The banking daily noted the gain in its annual survey, when it listed the Atlanta bank in 974th place as above its showing of 1040th place in 1952.

This rise in national rating follows President Joseph E. Birnie's 1953 report to the bank's stockholders.

In his report, Birnie pointed to 1953 as the year which might well be considered the most successful for The Bank of Georgia, in which new highs were reached in total resources, total deposits, and net earnings. A gain of more than two million dollars lifted the bank's 1953 total resources to $23,064,735.71.



SECURITY—It is estimated that in 1953 citizens of our nation stowed away something like $30 billion for security. The voluntary protection includes life insurance, pension and retirement funds.

Selling Puts Deep Gash In Market

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—(AP)—The stock market ran afoul of heavy profit-taking today and tumbled into its deepest loss of this year.

All sections of the market were pressed down by the selling, but the targets were the recent favorites that have been climbing steadily ahead on their own initiative.

No specific development caused the sell-off, brokers said. They were inclined to regard the development as a reaction due at this time because of the steady advances made in the past few weeks.

Last week the market made its sixth straight weekly advance as measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks. The average has been bumping around a 24-year high the last few days.

SHAKES EARLY BELIEF

Brokers have felt that the market might be able to go through a period of quiet consolidation without losing much ground before gathering strength for a try at a new high.

Today's set-back shook that belief a bit. However, bulls were heartened by the lack of volume on the fall. No selling pressures developed along the way down.

Losses in significant areas went to around 3 points at the outside, and there were many gains going as far as a point. Douglas Aircraft was a big exception. It was able to maintain its strength and push ahead for a gain of 2½ at 105.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell back $1.20 at $113.30. It was off 40 cents yesterday. The industrial component of the average was off $1.60, the railroads fell $1.30, and the utilities lost 30 cents.

Only a moderate number of issues were traded of which 204 advanced and 741 declined with 23 new highs and 7 new lows for the year. The number of losers was the greatest since Dec. 29 last year.

DROP IN VOLUME

Volume amounted to only 1,870,000 shares. That compares with 2,080,000 shares traded yesterday.

The performance of individual issues was overlooked to an extent in today's market.

New York Central again was the outstanding issue in the midst of the battle by Robert R. Young for control of the railroad. It was the day's most active issue, the fourth straight day, off 1⅛ at 24¼ with 123,200 shares traded.

The stock ran into selling troubles for the first time. It failed to appear on the tape until 40 minutes after the opening on blocks of 30,000 and 15,000 shares each off 1¼ at 24. In contrast to recent days, far more stock was offered at the opening than there were ready buying to absorb it without a sharp mark down in price.

Grains Sag; Buying Off

CHICAGO, Feb. 16 (AP)—Buyers were rather scarce in grains on the Board of Trade today and the market slipped lower even though there wasn't any heavy selling pressure.

Perhaps the weather dampened the spirit of potential buyers. While there wasn't much moisture in the Southwest, other sections of the grain growing territory got a pretty good soaking. This was considered desirable from the standpoint of 1954 crops.

Wheat closed ⅞-1⅛ lower, corn ⅝ to 1 cent lower, oats ⅜-1⅜ lower, rye 2 to 2¾ lower, soybeans 1¾ lower to ⅞ higher and lard 12 to 38 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Old crop soybeans still appeared upset by the prospect of lower butter prices starting April 1. Bean oil eased but meal went to another new high for the year at $78.00 to $78.50 a ton.

Cotton Closes Irregularly

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 35 cents a bale lower to 30 cents higher today. Trading was moderately active and dominated by evening up operations by traders in nearby March contracts prior to first notice day on Friday. Losses extended to 80 cents a bale before the market recovered partially on trade buying and short covering.

Uncertainty over the March futures situation, freer selling of spot cotton on the recent rise in prices, and the slow mill demand for the staple created a cautious tone in the market.

Leading spot firms transferred hedge positions from nearby March to May futures actively at New York. However, the most concentrated operation was on the New Orleans Cotton Exchange where a leading spot firm was reported to have bought 20,000 bales of March contracts against sales of the May position at a difference of 24 points.

Advices from the South said that mills complained of slow cotton textile sales and low prices for cloth in relation to the rise in cost of cotton.

Export demand for cotton was termed still good, particularly for the better quality. Formosa purchased 30,000 bales of medium low grade cotton here for February-March shipment against its inquiry of last week, a spot firm reported.

There was some planting of cotton in the Rio Grande Valley, although still on a small scale, Houston advices commented.

Board Weighs Trial On Germ Confession

Marine Colonel Appears Before Court of Inquiry

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—A hearing to determine whether a court-martial will be proposed for Marine Col. Frank W. Schwable for confessing falsely to germ warfare opened today before a military court of inquiry.

Schwable repudiated the confession after his release as a Red war prisoner and said it was extracted through "extreme torment."

The hearing was thrown open to the press and public. It got off to a slow, routine start, given over to developing preliminary background information. Later on, former war prisoners and several doctors will be called as witnesses. The proceedings may run on for three weeks.

ONLY RECOMMENDS

It is for the court of inquiry, made up of three Marine generals and a Navy admiral, to decide on the basis of the hearing whether Schwable's conduct warrants trial by court-martial or whether the circumstances of his confession were such as to recommend against it. The panel itself makes no determination of guilt or innocence.

The 45-year-old colonel is the first Marine in history, officials said, to face a court of inquiry for his conduct while a war prisoner. Still on active duty and living in nearby Arlington, Va., Schwable was the senior Marine officer captured in Korea.

He and Major Roger Bley of Cabool, Mo., were seized when their plane was shot down July 8, 1952, while they were on a non-combat mission and accidentally crossed enemy lines. Schwable at the time was chief of staff for the 1st Marine Air Wing.

MAJOR ALSO CONFESSED

Bley, who is to be called as a witness, also confessed to germ warfare. So also did 33 members of the Air Force, whose cases are under investigation by a special commission.

Much of the evidence and the emphasis in the hearing will be built on the kind of torture his captors subjected Schwable to in order to get confessions in writing, wire recordings and motion pictures that United Nations forces used germ warfare weapons in Korea.

The wiry, thin-faced Schwable sat impassively through today's preliminaries in a barnlike room in a temporary building at Marine Headquarters in nearby Virginia.

When released by the Reds in the prisoner exchanges last September, Schwable said his captors began pressuring him for a germ warfare confession two months after he fell into their hands.

DEGRADING STEPS

"The steps," he said, "consisted of degrading and humiliating me, exhausting me physically and mentally, conditioning me to 'creative' or false writing, intimidating and threatening me. . . ."

The court of inquiry announced that its proceedings would be closed only when secret information was being brought out. It was closed at several points during the day, with a crowd of reporters and a score or more of spectators being asked to leave.

During the afternoon, the court watched a Communist movie in which several U. S. airmen were pictured. The movie was intended to bulwark Communist germ warfare charges.

25 of 720 Paratroops Injured In 2 Mass Jumps in Colorado

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Feb. 16—(AP)—Twenty-five Army paratroopers were injured in two mass parachute jumps into the chill, thin air 1,000 feet above the high plains east of the Rocky Mountains today.

Officials said eight men were hurt seriously. They suffered broken hips, legs and shoulders.

The injured were among 720 members of the 511th Airborne Infantry Regiment which made the jumps—highest above sea level ever tried by the Army—as the climax to several weeks of training in Colorado.

The event took place before several hundred spectators at Camp Carson. The camp is 6,000 feet above sea level.

Fish Nets Snag Vases Of 5th Century B.C.

GENOA, Italy, Feb. 16 (AP)—Well preserved Greek vases which experts said were made in the 5th century B. C. were picked up by nets on a fishing boat today at Imperia, near here.

Similar previous findings have led experts to believe an ancient Greek trading ship is on the sea bed there.

Butter Prop Cut Is Target Of 2 Bills

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (INS). Two Republican House members introduced bills today to block the Administration cut in dairy product price supports and Senate Democrats also condemned the decision.

The Senators declared the decision announced by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson to reduce supports on dairy products from 90 per cent of parity to 75 per cent of parity will encourage producers and handlers to "unload" on the government now and repurchase later at lower prices.

The new order is to take effect April 1.

Benson's announcement prompted two dairy state House members, Rep. August H. Andresen (R-Minn), and Rep. Melvin Laird (R-Wis) to introduce their bills.

The legislation would require that the butter support price must be maintained at 90 per cent of parity as long as the socalled basic crops are supported at that level. These are wheat, corn, cotton, rice, peanuts and tobacco.

The two Republicans also proposed that the government could reduce price supports a maximum of 5 per cent in a year.

Rites Apr. 1 To Tender Mozley Park to Negroes

By MARJORY SMITH

Mozley Park in West End will be turned over to Atlanta's Negro citizens April 1.

City Parks Committee set that transfer date here yesterday and also named the Atlanta firm of Tucker and Howell as architects for the planned future $1,000,000 renovation of Grant Park Zoo.

A formal dedication ceremony will mark transfer of Mozley Park from white to Negro use, Alderman Milton Farris, who made the motion for the April 1 action, said. The park lies in a residential area on Mozley drive, SW, which in recent years has been converted largely to Negroes. The parks committee earlier this year allocated funds for construction of a swimming pool in John A. White Park on Cascade avenue, SW, for white citizens who formerly used the Mozley Park pool. It is not regarded as likely the John A. White pool will be available for opening of the 1954 swimming season.

In other action yesterday the parks committee approved an exchange of property between the City of Atlanta and Greenwood Cemetery to straighten the irregular west boundary of the John A. White Park near the new $100,000 pool site. Former Councilman Dowse Donaldson, owner of property on the northwest corner of the park area, "swapped" for a corresponding area owned by the city in the southwest area.

The committee acted on recommendation of Parks Director George Simons in naming the new Grant Park Zoo architects. First phase of a major modernization of the zoo will be undertaken this year, with $200,000 already allocated for the project which eventually will cost an estimated $1,000,000.

Parks group also: (1) Authorized Simons to set up marked bridle paths for horseback riders at Atlanta Memorial Park, restricting the riders to that area; (2) Approved use of Chastain Memorial Park golf course for annual Elks Pro-Amateur Exhibition for the benefit of Aidmore Hospital April 4; (3) Approved allocation of $1,000 for use by Simons, his aide, and Alderman Charles Leftwich, parks committee chairman, in inspecting zoos in other areas prior to renovation of Grant Park Zoo; (4) Promised a delegation representing Center Hill, Grove Park, and English Park cooperation in park improvements in that area; (5) Took under advisement a petition from a group of Atlanta women civic leaders for a "year-around indoor-outdoor" swimming pool to be located in "a central place like Piedmont or Grant Park" for city-wide use.

New Construction

Permits for a $200,000 industrial building and a $200,000 apartment house were approved yesterday by City Building Inspector William Wofford. A permit was issued to Natural Empire Co. of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for a one-story brick and steel industrial building at 821 Forrest Rd., NE. The building, which will front on the south side of Forrest west of Barnett Street, NE, will occupy an area of 74,000 square feet. A 32-unit apartment house, Ashley Hall Apartments, to be located at 3409 Roswell Rd., NW, also received a permit.

Sweeper Bids Monday

Bids on an estimated $500,000 worth of new trucks and sweepers for the City Sanitary Department will be opened by the city's purchasing committee Monday, according to Stafford W. Graydon, sanitary engineer.

Atlantan at 73 Is Indicted on Morals Charge

A 73-year-old Atlantan was indicted on a sodomy charge by a Fulton grand jury yesterday.

The man, Diedrich Alfred Stoddard, was charged with having "carnal knowledge" of a 6-year-old boy. Police said Stoddard allegedly gave the boy money after the incident.

Stoddard's address was listed as 496 Central Ave., SW.

Meanwhile, Rubin Nelkin, 30-year-old shoe salesman, was ordered confined in Milledgeville State Hospital after he was tried on charges of molesting a little girl.

Nelkin was convicted on the same charges earlier, but was granted a retrial, at which he entered a plea of guilty and a special plea of insanity.

6 Top Reds Convicted In Michigan

Judge To Fix Terms Friday

DETROIT, Feb. 16 (AP)—A federal court jury today found six top Michigan Communists guilty of Smith Act violations after just six hours of deliberation on four months of prosecution and defense evidence.

The defendants, Saul Wilman, Nat Ganley, Mrs. Helen A. Winter, Thomas D. Dennis Jr., William Allan and Philip Schatz face maximum prison sentences of five years.

Judge Frank A. Picard set Friday as the date for their sentencing.

HAILS VERDICT

Fred W. Kaess, U. S. district attorney in charge of the government's case, said: "The jurors' verdict in the Detroit case again proclaimed to the nation that the insidious, materialist Communist conspiracy must be stopped. Freedom-loving people everywhere should be inspired by the resounding guilty verdict," he said.

Judge Picard offered no comment on the verdict other than it was "just and fair."

Mrs. Winter, acting as a spokesman for the defendants, said:

"The verdict will be appealed to the jury of public opinion and the higher courts of the land. Under the circumstances no jury could be expected to decide the issues of this case otherwise."

PRESERVES RECORD

The conviction of the six Michigan Communists preserved a government record of never having lost a Smith Act case.

The Michigan party leaders join 35 other American Communists convicted in previous Smith Act trials in New York, Seattle, Pittsburgh and Honolulu.

Only two American Communists, indicted under the Smith Act, have been acquitted — both by judicial direction.

The Michigan Communists specifically were charged with violating two sections of the Smith Act by conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the United States government.

VISITING STAR AUTOGRAPHS FOR ADMIRER

George Raft and Miss Nancy Elder, Henry Grady Hotel

Raft in Huddle Here About Leaving Films

A natty, 58-year-old George Raft conferred with business associates here last night on plans for a departure from the movie career that made him the sleek-haired epitome of gangsters in the 1930's.

Raft took time out from a meeting with Robert E. Carpenter and H. L. Blatt in his hotel suite to confirm reports he is considering opening up some gambling casinos in San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he will go from here. He has also been looking into business opportunities in Las Vegas, he added.

The movie tough guy, looking more like 40 than his real age, was wearing a monogrammed white silk shirt, small-patterned blue tie with pearl stickpin, and a little-finger ring.

TV DETECTIVE

He wouldn't elaborate on his future plans. But he did say a casino could serve the additional function of providing a background setting for a series of television shorts — "I Am the Law"— he is starring in. (On the TV show he's a detective.)

Carpenter, attorney and former Fulton Civil Court judge, said he was working for Raft in a legal capacity. Blatt, who lives at 1724 Barnsdale Way, NE, and Raft are old friends from Los Angeles.

The visiting actor recalled dancing here in vaudeville 35 years ago with Barbara Lamar at the old Lyric Theater. He danced again recently on a Milton Berle show.

MOVIES FOR YOUNG

"My mind likes it," Raft said, "but the legs won't do it."

Motion pictures, too, are for the young, Raft said, but he would like to make at least one more, a picture with James Cagney about two old gangsters.

The visitor, with two other business associates who accompanied him here, will fly to Miami today.

BERSERK WOMAN, SLAIN SISTERS

Sharpshooter Darkens Home And Slays Her 2 Sisters

ALBANY, N.Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—A berserk woman firing a target rifle with marksman's accuracy today turned a darkened home into a ghostly shooting gallery and wounded five women relatives, two of them fatally, police said. Then, survivors told police, she put a nearly fatal bullet into her own head.

The bodies of Miss Marion Gilbert, 30, and her sister, Virginia Gilbert, 26, both clad in nightgowns, were found in the living room of their home in suburban Clinton Heights.

Nearby lay another sister, Eleanor, 33. Beside her was the .22 caliber rifle she used in her favorite sports, target shooting and hunting.

State Police Inspector Joseph W. Sayers said the other survivors reported Eleanor had wielded the gun.

However, he said, they were too upset to give a full story right away, and no motive was uncovered.

Eleanor was taken to Memorial Hospital in Albany. Also in the hospital, but not considered in serious condition, were:

Mrs. Eleanor Gilbert, 56, mother of the three, and her two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Baumann, 59, and Miss Florence Haggerty, who will be 54 tomorrow.

The women all lived together in the three-bedroom brick house.

The tangled events as pieced together by State Police:

All members of the household were in bed by 11 p.m. Eleanor evidently arose and dressed, went to the cellar, removed an electric light fuse, took the rifle she sometimes used for target practice and went back upstairs.

At about 3 a.m., Virginia screamed, "There's someone trying to get into the house." Miss Haggerty tried to turn on the light but the current was dead. The shooting began as the women emerged from their bedrooms.

Hartsfield: Aid Cities' U.S. Roads

Special to The Constitution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 — Atlanta's Mayor William B. Hartsfield today urged a new federal roads program so cities would be assured some of the money appropriated for interstate highways.

Hartsfield, testifying before the House Public Works Committee on behalf of the American Municipal Assn., of which he is a past president, said:

"Too often we've seen state roads built that stop at the city limits."

Hartsfield also told the committee the 12,000 members of the association generally support the administration-sponsored roads bill which would authorize unprecedented spending of $800,000,000 in state-aid road money annually for two years.

With respect to a proposed $200,000,000 in federal money for the interstate highway system, Hartsfield suggested that Congress put into exact language a phrase spelling out "what is implied"—that part of the money be spent on urban sections of the interstate system.

He also suggested a change in the formula for paying for these interstate highways, proposing that the federal government pay 60 per cent of the cost and the states 40 per cent. The bill says each should pay equal amounts.

Fla. Court Okays Johns, Collins for Governor's Race

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 16 (INS)—The Florida Supreme Court today ruled that both Acting Gov. Charley Johns and Sen. Leroy Collins are eligible to run for the two-year gubernatorial term beginning next January.

J. Frank West, a Williston attorney, contested the eligibility of both candidates on grounds they were members of the recent Legislature which raised the governor's salary from $12,000 to $15,000 annually.

The State Constitution forbids a member of the Legislature from running for an office which had its salary raised by that Legislature.

The special election to a two-year term was made necessary by the death of Gov. Dan McCarty last fall. Johns took over by virtue of his office of president of the Florida Senate.

W. Lee Green, 67, of 93 Princeton Way, NE, retired co-owner of the Green & Milam Produce Co., died yesterday morning in a private hospital following a long illness.

For nearly 30 years one of Atlanta's outstanding produce merchants, Mr. Green retired about 1946 from the firm he had founded in 1915 with Aubrey Milam, who retired in 1947.

GROWTH OF FIRM

The partners saw their firm grow through the years from a day's sales of about $200 to a volume of more than a million dollars a year. Now owned by W. N. Reagin and R. B. Hilburn, the concern retains the name of Green & Milam.

A lifelong resident of Atlanta, Mr. Green was the son of the late J. W. Green, a pioneer Atlanta merchant, and Mrs. Roxie Graham Green, who survives.

Mr. Green was a member of Gate City Lodge No. 2, F. & A. M., the Craftsmen's Club of that lodge, the Mt. Hermon Chapter No. 110, R. A. M., the Jason Burr Council, R. & S. M., Atlanta Commandery No. 9, K. T., and the Yaraab Shrine Temple.

WAS A BAPTIST

Also surviving are his wife, the former Lucy Elder; three sisters, Misses Fannie Lou and Ruth Green, Mrs. Gertrude McNeal, all of Atlanta; a brother, C. G. Green, Baltimore, Md., and several nieces and nephews.

Ex-Atlantan's Body Found In Tampa Bay

The body of Chad Akins, 16-year-old former Atlantan missing since Feb. 8 when the boat in which he and three friends were riding overturned in Tampa Bay at Tampa, Fla., was found yesterday afternoon.

A sports fisherman, Roger Morgan, sighted the floating body three-quarters of a mile from the point where the 14-foot rowboat capsized in the choppy waters of the bay. A Coast Guard plane hovered over the area until a cutter arrived.

En route to Tampa from St. Petersburg when the accident occurred, Akins had volunteered to swim to St. Petersburg for help. Larry Roberts swam to MacDill Air Force Base and sounded the alarm. When the capsized boat was found, Robert Caruthers, 16, was alive, but William Griffin, 15, was dead.

Young Akins was the son of J. C. Akins, circulation manager of the St. Petersburg Independent since he left his position as city circulation manager of The Atlanta Journal three years ago after about 20 years' service.

Hundreds of civilians, coast guardsmen, Civil Air Patrol pilots and peace officers had searched for the body since his disappearance.

"The newest mechanical man, a towering monster of many materials, can smoke, walk, and talk."—News item.

Mechanical men; is there anything new . . . in mechanical men, we have known very few . . . who were anything else, most of us will not start . . . unless driven by someone, and someone must chart . . . all the moves that we make for we don't operate . . . with the power we have, we are sorry to state.

Man gets in a groove and he stays there for life . . . directed by bosses and run by his wife . . . his heart must be iron, his muscles of steel . . . and he doesn't wear out like an automobile . . . but sometimes his nerves are so rigidly coiled . . . to loosen them up he goes out and gets "oiled."

"He has a loose screw in his head," people say . . . when morals break down and he wanders astray . . . he gets overheated when something goes wrong . . . and unless he cools off he won't last very long.

But time takes its toll of both man and machine . . . both of them wear out with the daily routine . . . their frames become rusted, their value has shrunk . . . obsolescence sets in and they're ready to junk.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	5 clubs	Pass
5 diamonds	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Six of diamonds.

We have frequently stressed the theme that a few well placed cards will be considerably more important than others that carry a greater weight according to the valuation table. Success in slam bidding cannot be achieved until a player has made himself "key card conscious." Some kings are more impressive than others and so are some aces. This is just another way of saying that the successful player will develop a sensitiveness to fits and misfits.

An interesting illustration of precision in slam bidding, with a minimum of guesswork and risk, is recorded today. North opened with one club, and South made the natural response of one spade. At this point, North, holding a hand worth 20 points in support of spades, decided that he was unwilling to play for less than game, a reasonable prospect even allowing for the possibility that South had made a shaded response. A violent raise in spades was not in order inasmuch as the trump support was not adequate for such a call, and the sketchy diamond holding militated somewhat against a jump in no trump.

Perhaps a mere rebid of two hearts, a technical "reverse," promising about 19 points, would have been adequate, but such a bid would not have been absolutely forcing, and North was taking no chances on being dropped; so he bid three hearts. South temporarily rebid the spades, and then North raised to four in routine fashion. He could take no more vigorous acting at this point, because so far as he could tell partner might have nothing but a rebiddable spade suit and no particular high card strength.

South was sensitive to the splendid fit of the hand. Most of his losers were covered by partner's two bids, and the singleton diamond loomed very important. He made one try for slam by showing the king of clubs, which afforded North the opportunity to show possession of the ace of diamonds. This was enough information for South, and he contracted for the slam, which it will be seen was a laydown.

Note that if South's holdings in the red suits were reversed, that is, if he held one heart and three diamonds, there would have been no slam, because a diamond trick could be established by the defense before the ace of trumps was driven out.

DISCussion

A Long Overdue Performance of Liszt's 'Faust'

LISZT: A Faust Symphony. The Colonne Orchestra conducted by George Sebastian. Liszt: Mazeppa. Bavarian Symphony conducted by Kurt Graunke. Irania.

The Faust Symphony, Liszt's greatest orchestral work, occupies three sides. Mazeppa is the filler. Though the epilogue for chorus and tenor solo has been omitted from this set, the Faust recording is long overdue and will be accorded a good reception. Sebastian does a fine conducting job. Recording quality is excellent.

ENESCO: Roumanian Rhapsodies Numbers 1 and 2. Leopold Stokowski and his symphony orchestra. RCA-Victor, 10-inch.

Old-time favorite played with sparkle and vigor by Stokowski.

HOROWITZ: 25th Anniversary Recital. RCA-Victor.

An actual recording of a recital at Carnegie Hall on Feb. 25, 1953. Some will be displeased by the rustle, coughing and applause of the audience. Others will feel that these sounds merely provide appropriate atmosphere for enjoyment of a magnificent performance by a master at the piano. Included on this altogether satisfactory program are Franz Schubert's Sonata in B-Flat, Chopin's Nocturne in E-Minor and Scherzo No. 1, Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2 and others. Recording is excellent.

BACH: Sonata in C Major for Unaccompanied Violin; Partita in E Major for Unaccompanied Violin. Ralph Schroeder, violin, using the curved bow.

Recorded under supervision of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, the curved bow performance probably comes nearer approaching the works as written by Bach than any available recording. Dr. Schweitzer is of the opinion, and many other scholars agree, that only the curved bow is suited to the polyphonic playing of Bach's works for the solo violin. Excellent recording.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VanDELLEN

Most Common Disease Of Duodenum Is Ulcer

This article, the fourth in a series on digestion, deals with the duodenum, that part of the intestine next to the stomach. This word, derived from the Latin, means "12" and indicates that the structure is 12 - finger breadths long. It is shaped like a horseshoe and there are two openings halfway along its course. The tiny tube leading from the pancreas empties into one opening, and the duct emerging from the liver and gall bladder drains into the other.

Practically all chemical digestion and absorption of food occurs in the small intestine.

The duodenum is a busy workshop. The acid reaction of the partially digested material coming from the stomach must be neutralized. Lining the walls of the duodenum is a type of gland not found elsewhere in the body. The function of these glands is to manufacture a substance that mixes readily with the acid in the food, making it alkaline.

Meanwhile a hormone is being formed in the wall of the duodenum which, on being absorbed into the circulation, travels to the near-by liver and pancreas, causing these organs to pour forth bile and pancreatic juice. Secretions are now coming from everywhere.

Several ferments also are present. Proteins, which were changed partially by the gastric juices, are attacked by erepsin. Certain starches that the mouth secretions failed to convert into sugar are now acted upon. Fats are broken down into thousands of tiny globules.

The duodenum, like other tissues of the body, is subject to disease. The most common lesion is ulcer, followed by duodenitis, inflammation of the lining membrane of the structure.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Clergymen Are Best Applied Psychologists

Dr. J. Richard Sneed, aged about 48, is pastor of the First Methodist Church in Los Angeles.

During the past summer that church celebrated its 100th anniversary, so Bishop Gerald Kennedy was invited to deliver the 11 o'clock sermon and I was imported from Chicago to handle the evening assembly.

I talked on the topic "Jesus—the Perfect Psychologist" and the vast audience seemed most appreciative.

"But you aren't through yet," Dr. Sneed smilingly informed me afterwards, "for I'd like to have you address 150 clergymen and their wives at a luncheon tomorrow.

"For we pastors are swamped with requests from parishioners to counsel with them on marriage and family problems.

"So please tell us what system or methods we should employ."

CHURCH PSYCHOLOGY

The clergy are the best applied psychologists in America but they cannot meet the needs of all their parishioners if they must be freely accessible to everybody for a 2-hour interview apiece.

So I recommend the following method for priests and clergy: First, inform your parishioners that you are available to all of them for personal interviews.

But as a part of your method, insist that each person write an outline of his problem and submit it in advance so that you can study it carefully.

This enables the clergyman to digest the case in a few minutes, instead of wasting an hour or two of his time while the parishioner wanders around in trying to get down to brass tacks.

WRITE YOUR PROBLEM

Many problems, moreover, are not serious or permanent.

So insist that parishioners write their problem. This will save you time and weed out the non-critical problems.

For unless a problem is of a serious nature, most people are too lazy to sit down and write it out.

If it is a real difficulty, however, they are willing to outline it on paper.

The very act of facing the problem and describing it in written words is worth almost 50 per cent of the cure.

If a parishioner then submits his written case, you clergymen can see him in person. Give him a 15-minute interview.

Then place in his hands some tangible psychological chart, such as the "Compliment Club" bulletin, which will keep him occupied for 30 days.

If he fulfills this psychological task, then let him see you for a second interview, but not otherwise. Patients must work out their own salvation.

Over 1,500 clergymen each year write for the various rating scales offered via this column.

Your newspaper and I will send you a complimentary set, and if you want quantity lots for use in your churches, you get them at cost, so take full advantage of such aids to pastoral counselling.

Spent $3,000 To Trail Jimmy, Wife Says

PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 16—(INS)—Romelle Roosevelt declared at her support hearing today that she spent more than $3,000 paying private detectives and investigators to chronicle husband James' alleged extra-marital activities.

The former Wisconsin nurse, who was on the witness stand shortly before the stormy hearing adjourned until tomorrow, said that she receives $365 a month from her own investments and that after she separated from her husband she transferred some of their joint account money to her personal account.

She also detailed that she contributes $200 a month toward support of her mother and that she owns the $11,150 home in Encino in which her mother lives.

Romelle calmly told the packed courtroom that most of her available money had gone toward hiring private detectives to trail her husband. She has named three women as co-respondents in her separate maintenance action.

Roosevelt's net worth, as of Dec. 31, 1947, was given as $128,977.96 by accountant Joseph Paxson who occupied the witness stand briefly. The witness said that a January, 1954, statement showed Roosevelt had a deficit of $72,185.15.

Mrs. Roosevelt's attorneys announced they had ended their case shortly after the noon recess which followed cross-examination of the late President's son on a $100,000 loan from his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Roosevelt testified that he had to borrow $100,000 from his mother to pay for the cost of his unsuccessful campaign for governor of California in 1950.

Roosevelt said he took out a $100,000 life insurance policy "because I had no way of repaying my mother if I died before she did."

The political figure said that his mother also was short of cash and that she has received only interest from the estate of her late husband.

1,737 DeKalb Non-Voters Face Purge from Lists

DeKalb County registrars are in the process of purging from the voting lists the names of 1,737 citizens who have not voted in the past two years, the DeKalb division of the Metropolitan Voting Council reported yesterday.

The council stressed the verification of these registrations and the initial registration of 18-year-olds in its drive to obtain an expanded voter list by May 1, the registration deadline.

DEKALB GROUP

Charles D. McKinney Jr., chairman of the DeKalb Division of the voting council, pointed out that the 1,737 inactive voters must report to the registrars by April 1 to remain on the rolls.

To verify their desire to remain registered, McKinney said, the voters in question must sign and return post cards sent to them by registrars.

NEW VOTERS

In the drive for new 18-year-old voters, McKinney appealed to school officials and parents to interest the young voters in registering before the May 1 deadline.

The chairman said the council is also seeking the cooperation of civic clubs in its drive for new voters of all ages.

McKinney pointed out that this year's primary and general elections in DeKalb will involve not only the governor and other state officers, but also a U.S. senator and Fifth District congressman; a superior court judge; a city court judge; a city court solicitor; a county commissioner; three state representatives; a state senator, and 17 members of the DeKalb Democratic Executive Committee.

McKinney again emphasized that the voting council is a nonpartisan group, interested only in increased voter registration.

Sixty adult couples began a course of basic square dancing last night at the North Building of Decatur High School.

The course, sponsored by the Decatur Recreation Department, was originally scheduled for 48 couples, Mrs. Rosalind Magargee, recreation director, said.

The six-week square dance course for beginners is listed from 8 to 10 p.m. every Tuesday night under the direction of Jimmy Strickland.

Asphalt Wins Bout In Avondale

The clash over concrete and asphalt as surfacing materials for Avondale's city streets has flared again, ending in a victory for the black top.

In August, 1952, a hot controversy over the relative merits of the new materials ended with the city passing an ordinance permitting the resurfacing of about eight streets, with concrete only.

D. L. Chaney, mayor at that time, led the advocates of concrete, who contended that concrete had longer life, was more economical over a long period of time and was more attractive. Chaney is a representative of a concrete association.

Avondale's streets were paved with concrete when the suburb was established in the 1920s.

Advocates of asphalt as a resurfacing material contended it was just as good a topping and was more economical initially, particularly since county forces would aid in an asphalt resurfacing.

Since the pro-concrete ordinance was passed, a short stretch of Dartmouth avenue has been retapped and Sussex road has been widened with that material. A special permit allowed a county repaving project on Clarendon avenue.

Residents on Lakeview place, Pine street, Wiltshire drive, Kensington road and Fairfield drive, other streets affected by the concrete ruling, did not petition for a new top.

The concrete vs. asphalt duel came up again at the Avondale city commission meeting Monday night. The commission repealed the pro-concrete ruling and passed a paving ordinance that permitted the use of concrete or asphalt in resurfacing the streets.

Later in the meeting, the commission approved and referred to the streets committee petitions to resurface Lakeview place and Pine street.

The material specified? Asphalt.

2 New Primary Schools Likely for North DeKalb

Ashford Park and Northwood Sites Eyed by County Educators

Two new elementary schools may be constructed soon in the North DeKalb area to meet educational needs of that rapidly growing area.

G. V. Langloise, supervisor of construction, DeKalb County Department of Education, said negotiations are under way with Parker and Co., real estate developers, for a tract of land in the Ashford Park area, and the state is expected to approve another school in the Northwood area east of Chamblee within the next few weeks.

The Ashford Park school will be located south of Caldwell Road and bounded by Tryon Road, Laverne Drive, Craven Ridge Road and Lee Drive. These streets have not yet been paved but are part of the plan of development for that area.

Both schools, Langloise said, are part of a long-range plan for North DeKalb County.

Ultimate plans for the Ashford Park school called for 26 classrooms, including modern facilities such as lunchrooms, assembly rooms and libraries.

CHAMBLEE SITE

The Northwood school, to be constructed by the state school building authority, will be located in the area between the Buford Highway and Chamblee.

Ultimate plans call for 18 classrooms and the other necessary facilities for an efficient school plant, Langloise said.

The building will eventually be able to handle some 600 students, he added.

SMALLER SIZE

Langloise explained that the original building would be somewhat smaller but would be so constructed that additions could be added in order to keep pace with the increases in population.

Langloise also said that the rapid growth of the area will probably require the construction of a new high school in the future.

No definite plans have been made for a high school, he said, but they are in the discussion stage and undoubtedly will be added to the long-range program.

Dog Owners Held Liable In Chamblee

Chamblee dog owners will be held liable for their pets and may face a prison sentence and a fine in event Fido becomes a "dangerous nusiance."

A new ordinance passed by the City Council last week, makes dog owners, or parents of dog owners, responsible for wayward canines.

The ordinance is not a leash law and doesn't require dogs to be penned but insists that "they behave themselves."

BILLBOARD ORDINANCE

The council also passed a "road sign and billboard" ordinance, which would make unlawful the construction of road signs or billboards that will "obstruct vision" or impede traffic. The council gave, as an example, neon signs too close to traffic lights that may be confusing to motorists.

A "merit increase" in salary was voted to Mrs. Pearl Miller, Chamblee city clerk. The council said the term "merit increase" was used because it does not increase the base pay for city clerks.

The council also commended Mrs. Miller for the "exceptional performance of her duties."

SKATING RINK ACTION

A petition asking for a license to reopen a skating rink in Chamblee was also heard by the council, but action was deferred with the suggestion that a "consent petition" be asked of persons living close to the rink.

The council intimated that if citizens living within hearing distance of the skating rink did not object, the license would be granted.

Hebblewhite Named to Y Parent Group

W. R. Hebblewhite has been elected chairman of the Liberty-Guinn Parent Council of the Northside Branch of the YMCA replacing D. K. McMennamy.

The parent council is an organization of parents who meet monthly to set the policy of the Y organizations in the schools.

Mrs. R. G. Blum was elected Liberty-Guinn representative on the Northside Branch Day Camp Committee.

The E. Rivers Parents Council also met this week to discuss the Indian Guide program and to install new officers.

The officers are Mrs. Delkin Jones, chairman; Robert Miles, vice-chairman and Mrs. Ben Walcott, secretary.

The DeKalb County mobile X-ray unit will be available to Doraville adults at the health center tomorrow.

The X-rays will be made between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. free of charge. Food handlers may also get a blood test for a $1 fee.

AT ART INSTITUTE

Little Gallery Helps Tuition With Showings

There is one room in the Atlanta Art Institute on Peachtree Street that has a special meaning for the students.

It is called the Little Gallery. There students display their works and sell them to Atlanta patrons.

STUDENT WORKS

Only student works are hung and the money goes to the student with the exception of a 10 per cent commission, used to buy books for the library.

One school official said "we have had a number of students who have almost paid their way through school by selling paintings in the Little Gallery."

Vic Johnson, co-chairman of the Little Gallery and a second year student, said "the gallery is open all the time but we occasionally have new showings just as any gallery does."

On the walls of the Little Gallery hang every type of art from oils to etchings. There is even some jewelry designed by several students.

These students are partially responsible for a jewelry designing course that will begin at the school in March.

OTHER MEDIA

Other media on exhibit are water colors, gouache, tempera, ink and pen drawings and ceramics.

Student artists set the prices on their paintings with the maxium being $100. The highest painting on exhibit now is $65.

Works to be exhibited in the gallery are chosen by Joel Reeves, head of the night school and student advisor, and Hugh Wallace, director of education and temporary director of the museum. The gallery is sponsored by the student counsel.

Chairman is Shirley Myers, a third year student. Co-chairman along with Johnson is first year student Joe Hoar.

Doraville's Prize To Aid Playground

The $750 prize won by Doraville in the Champion Hometown contest was allotted at a recent meeting of the Doraville Civic Club with a permanent playground getting the major share.

An additional $350 was raised at a dinner held by the civic club.

Five hundred dollars will go to the park, $200 for library books, $150 for library equipment and $60 for Negro civic projects.

Naval Station Pilots Receive Fla. Training

Pilots of the Navy's organized Reserve Aircraft Carrier squadrons, based at Atlanta Naval Air Station, spent the weekend at Pensacola, Fla., where they took part in squadron maneuvers over the Gulf of Mexico.

The squadron aircraft and personnel were based at the Pensacola Naval Air Station in order to conduct gunnery, rocket and bombing training missions.

Capt. J. H. S. Johnson, commanding officer of the Air Station said the purpose of moving the reserve units to Florida was to provide over-water gunnery and bombing target areas.

Meanwhile pilots of Atlanta's Marine Reserve Fighter Squadron 351 held maneuvers at the Marine Corps Air Station in Miami.

During their stay at Miami the veteran Marine pilots sharpened their aim in aerial bombing, strafing and close air support.

The pilots also practiced air defense of cities by warding off simulated surprise bombing attempts.

CD Needs 1,500 Helpers For Filter, Ground Posts

Elliot Jackson, director of Civil Defense for metropolitan Atlanta, met with Air Force and civilian personnel yesterday at the Air Defense Filter Center and immediately called for 1,500 volunteers.

Jackson said the volunteers were needed to man the filter center and ground observation posts in the four-county area of metropolitan Atlanta.

He added that the figure was agreed upon after civil defense leaders found that some 1,000 persons were needed to operate the filter center and 500 were needed in the field.

MINIMUM AT CENTER

The operating minimum in the center is 840 persons working six-hour shifts.

Jackson reported that along the coast and northern border, civilian defense units are operating 24 hours a day. "We don't know when we will be called on to increase our schedule of operations and we must be prepared," Jackson said.

Jackson said one purpose of the meeting was to arrive at a definite number of volunteers. He said the public had heard so many reports that the filter center felt it necessary to issue a factual report.

Jackson called the filter center one of the most important factors in the overall Civil Defense setup in his pleas for additional volunteers.

PUBLIC INFORMATION

A public information program was also mapped at the meeting.

The center personnel agreed to submit a report monthly to Jackson on the number of volunteers and the work they were doing.

A weekly report will also go to the civil defense director on public information activities.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Shelley Davis, zone director in the Northside area; Maj. Jerome White, in charge of Air Force personnel at the center; 1st Lt. John F. Gleason, in charge of mobile training teams; 2nd Lt. George Tilon, supervisor of filter center instructors, Sgt. Ralph R. Mangum, public information specialist and Miss Judy King, civilian supervisor at the Filter Center.

Games will be played at the main branch of the YMCA on Luckie street.

Meanwhile the E. Rivers Blues defeated the Rock Springs Greens in regular play last week, 23 to 12.

The E. Rivers Gold swamped the R. L. Hope Reds 37 to 11, while the R. L. Hope Whites were whipped 20 to 18 by the Liberty Guinn Whites.

In the only other game, the Morris Brandon Golds won over the Garden Hills Blues, 18 to 9.

Camp Exhibit Is Feature of Scout Week

Boy Scout Troops 238 and 212 helped focus the attention of the public on Boy Scout Week last weekend by setting up a tent settlement at Peachtree road and Maple drive.

Purpose of the camp was to give the public an opportunity to view scout activities.

The scouts made their homes in the tents from Friday to Sunday and carried out their activities as though they were in the middle of the woods.

Friday afternoon and Saturday morning Troop 238, sponsored by the Buckhead Rotary Club, met the visitors and guided them about the camp site.

Troop 212, sponsored by the Trinity Presbyterian Church, then took over and welcomed the visitors to the "open house."

DeKalb Student Essays To Push Candler Park

Students in North DeKalb County elementary and high schools are doing their part toward making the Murphey Candler Park a success by taking part in an essay contest, Heywood Lovett, publicity chairman, said.

The essays, which are a regular English assignment, will be judged and prizes awarded. The essays are entitled "Why We Need Murphey Candler Park in the Community."

Meanwhile, members of the park committee of the North DeKalb County Planning Council, working under Lovett, are speaking at public meetings throughout the area.

FUND CHIEFS NAMED

Al Wehunt, chairman of the park committee, has announced the appointment of Richard Reser in North Atlanta and W. W. Mostella in the Brookhaven district as chairmen of the drive to raise funds in their areas.

Wehunt reported that he is very enthusiastic about the prospects of the fund drive.

"All the boys are working," he said, "and there is a great deal of enthusiasm. I don't anticipate a bit of trouble in raising the funds. Everyone is volunteering to help and I wouldn't be a bit surprised if we raised more than the $35,000 goal."

WORK STARTS ON DAM

Tom Flemming, DeKalb County parks engineer, said a dragline has been brought into the park area and work has begun on the dam.

The 165-acre park will include a 65-acre lake, picnic grounds, a swimming pool, athletic fields and other recreational facilities.

Wehunt and County Commissioner Scott Candler, whose father's name was given the park, broke the ground at ceremonies several weeks ago.

East Point Council Puts Tax on Beer

East Point has adopted an ordinance levying an excise tax on all malt beverages sold in the city limits.

The City Council adopted the measure Monday after a second reading. The ordinance will go into effect March 1.

The tax is to be levied through sales of tax stamps to wholesalers and manufacturers of malt beverages. The adhesive stamps must be affixed to bottles and cans before they are sold in retail outlets.

The ordinance includes a provision allowing a 10 per cent discount on purchases of more than $100 worth of the tax stamps at a time.

E. L. Cole, city clerk, said the stamps already have been ordered and are on hand at the city hall. The tax ranges from 36 cents per gallon up, according to the type of beverage, he said.

Mary Palmour Name Given To Flower

An exhibition chrysanthemum is to be named for Mrs. Oscar Palmour of College Park, recognized Southern authority on chrysanthemum culture, the Georgia Chrysanthemum Society has been notified.

The new flower, to be called the Mary Palmour, is to be named in recognition of her leadership and activity in the promotion of horticultural perfection of all types of chrysanthemums growing in the South.

The color and type of blossom will be submitted to Mrs. Palmour by one of the nation's largest chrysanthemum growers, and is to appear a year later as a new variety.

At present the College Park woman is a nationally accredited judge and a trustee of the National Chrysanthemum Society.

Assets Stressed By Hapeville

"Hapeville's entry into the annual Better Home Towns Contest will emphasize improvements in health, sanitation, recreation and a cleaner city, Mrs. Ralph Perry, president of the Hapeville Woman's Club, said this week.

The Woman's Club, which last week voted to sponsor the town's entry, soon will select a committe to handle the project.

The club is also interested in a "clean-up, paint-up" week and in "getting Hapeville's streets a little cleaner," Mrs. Perry said. The club also hopes to work more with the Fulton County Health Center in Hapeville.

Curtis Smith of the Georgia Power Co., sponsor of the town improvement contest, has been invited to address the club at its March meeting to explain what other cities have done, she said.

College Park's Boehm Is Mail Superintendent

Eugene G. Boehm, a mail clerk with the College Park Post Office since 1941, has been promoted to superintendent of mails, according to Hayden C. Blissitt, postmaster.

Boehm served as a Navy mail clerk during the war and returned to his College Park civilian job in 1945. He was appointed secretary of the Civil Service Commission for College Park in 1947.

South Fulton 'Y' Extends Member Push

South Fulton YMCA's membership drive, still short of a $4,000 money and 240-member goal, has been extended until Friday, Roy E. Goen, "Y" president, said.

Goen said a report meeting Monday night revealed the branch has secured $2,400 of its money goal, and approximately 160 members or more than 65 per cent of its member goal.

Membership workers now are concentrating on following up membership renewals, and reaching the remainder of its goals, Goen said.

Goen also emphasized that the "roundup" goal in money represents only one-fourth of the year's total budget for the "Y," and that "Y" services in the South Fulton area face curtailment unless adequate financial support is received.

Legionnaire Post 17 Cited; Passed Quote

Hapeville's American Legion Post No. 117 has been cited by the state senior vice commander of the Legion for "exceptional achievement" in topping its membership quota with an advance enrollment of 471 members.

Jack Langford of Griffin, who is also chairman of the Georgia Legion Dept's. membership and post adtivities committee, also commended the post's officers and members for helping provide "a stronger base on which the Legion can build its fundamental programs."

In a letter to R. A. Little, commander of the Henry E. Fulghum Post, Langford said the club had made "an exceptional achievement, indeed, coming as early in the Legion year as it does, and I want you to know that your efforts are recognized and appreciated."

The post reported 471 members on Feb. 4, eight more than required in its 1954 quota.

Fellowes Plans Talk on Britain

Michael Fellowes, British Information officer for the Southeastern states who is stationed at the British Consulate in Atlanta, will address the Eat Point Lions Club at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow on "Britain as a Partner."

The Lions Club meets at the Sumner Park Recreation Center.

Old Ice Boxes Outlawed By College Park's Council

College Park has adopted an ordinance making it unlawful to possess discarded ice boxes which cannot be opened from the inside.

The law, which is similar to the "ice box law" recently adopted by Atlanta, sets fines of $5 to $25 for leaving old ice boxes "hazardous to children" in accessible locations.

Action on the ordinance was taken during regular council meeting Monday night.

Council also authorized letting of bids on March 18 for $125,000 in new sewerage lines in College Park's Third Ward.

Following its session, council also held informal discussion on plans for the proposed bond issue referendum for new city buildings. Councilmen J. D. Bazemore and Jim Longino said, however, no action was taken on the matter.

Councilmen are to confer with the Citizens Advisory Committee—backers of the bond issue—later this week.

Bazemore To Talk At Newton Estates

College Park City Councilman J. D. Bazemore will address the Newton Estates PTA at 10:30 p.m. Feb. 23 at the Newton Estates School.

Bazemore's address will be in the form of answers to a list of 24 questions submitted by the PTA concerning city government.

Boys Club Opens Woodshop Class

A new woodshop class has opened at the South Fulton Boys Club.

The class is being conducted by a volunteer worker, George Hunter, two nights a week—Tuesday and Thursday—at 7:30 p.m.

STUDENTS MOVE IN—The new Parklane Elementary School on Blount Street in East Point is shown nearing completion last week. The school's approximately 400 students, who formerly attended double sessions at Harris Street School, moved into the building Monday morning, 10 days prior to dedication ceremonies.

Traffic Flow, Parking Problems Under Study by Hapeville C. of C.

The traffic committee of the Hapeville Chamber of Commerce is studying methods of speeding up the flow of traffic through the city and finding additional parking space for shoppers.

Robert McCord, chamber president, said the committee, headed by Dr. L. M. Hewitt, adopted the objectives last week in its project to develop a solution to Hapeville's traffic and parking problems.

He said the committee is seeking ways to speed up traffic in the city and also provide proper parking for those who want to stop and trade in Hapeville.

"This means, of course, we will have to find additional off-street parking spaces," he explained.

The committee, McCord said, also is interested in having telephone and power poles in the city placed in positions that will not block sidewalks. He said several poles on Stewart avenue and King Arnold street are squarely in the middle of walks and could prove to be hazardous for pedestrians who must step around them.

McCord said the committee invites suggestions on its study which will be acted on by the chamber board of directors before it is submitted to Hapeville's mayor and council.

BUILDING BOOM

College Park Population Boosted to 16,000 Area

Riding the crest of a boom in residential building, the population of the city of College Park has increased to almost 16,000, city officials aid.

The city's electricity and water service customers have increased by more than 1,000 customers since the 1950 census. Water customers numbered 2,641 in 1950 and 4,068 in December, 1953. Electricity customers have increased from 3,306 to 4,359.

Mrs. Mary E. Hunt, city clerk, said city officials estimate College Park population has risen to 16,000. The 1950 census recorded it as 14,464. Population in 1940 was 8,213.

Development by building contractors and real estate men of a large area annexed to College Park in 1949 is responsible for the building boom, Mrs. Hunt said.

Last year the city granted permits for construction of 254 residential buildings, valued at $1,264,215. And in 1953, 273 permits for homes and apartments costing $1,304,450 were issued, records showed.

Residential building this year already is off with a rush. Permits for 86 moderately priced homes were recently approved by City Council.

Lions Club Organized in Forest Park

A new Lions Club is being established at Forest Park under sponsorship of the Hapeville Lions Club.

R. F. Weldon, president of the Hapeville club, was instrumental in organizing the Forest Park group, which already has 15 members.

Official organization of the club will be held Feb. 23 at Forest Park, and election of officers will be held March 9, according to Earl Knight, secretary of the Hapeville club.

The club will receive its charter on March 26 from Wilbur Hembree, deputy district Lions governor.

License Inspector's Exams Scheduled in East Point

East Point will hold competitive exams to select a city license inspector at 9 p.m. Saturday at Russell High School, J. G. Stith, chairman of the city personnel board, said.

At least 25 to 30 applicants are expected for the newly-created position, which will have a starting salary of $275 to $350 a month, Stith explained.

There is no age limit nor college education requirements in the job's qualifications, Stith added, but the city is "looking for the best man." The position, however, is not closed to women, he said.

The license inspector would care for the city's license set-up, and call on storekeepers to inspect licenses, the chairman said. Such work would require "a very diplomatic" person, Stith pointed out.

Stith said the city recently found a businessman who has been operating in the city for several years without a license. The license job was created to eliminate such occurrences, Stith said.

Jackson, White, Little To Judge Lions Amateurs

Judges have been appointed for the College Park Lions Club amateur show scheduled Feb. 27 at the College Park auditorium, Dan Berry, chairman for the show, announced.

They are Warren Little of the University of Georgia, Warren T. Jackson, principal of Northside High School, and Cecil White of the Cable Piano Co.

Winner of the contest—which is open to all age groups—will be given an expense-paid trip to New York to audition for the Ted Mack Amateur Hour TV show.

Auditions for the show will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 25, and a dress rehearsal will follow the next night.

Hapeville League

Mrs. Roy Lewis, only registered parliamentarian in Georgia, will address a luncheon meeting of the Hapeville Junior Service League at 12:30 p.m. today at the Hapeville Woman's Club.

East Point C. of C. Begins Membership Drive Tonight

The East Point Chamber of Commerce will kick off a two-week drive for new members with a dinner tonight at 8 p.m.

All 25 directors of the chamber and 15 members of its membership committee, headed by Cooper Smith, are expected to attend the dinner at Hines Restaurant.

Membership literature already has been mailed out to more than 200 prospective members, and a goal of 75 new merchant members has been set, Smith said.

BASEBALL THEME

The drive itself, to be handled on a personal contact basis, will be operated on a "baseball" theme, Smith explained. Membership committee workers have been divided into two "leagues," and a chairman named for each league. Roy L. Nesbit is American League chairman and John Green heads the National League.

The chamber will wind up its drive on Friday, Feb. 26, with a victory dinner at which prizes will be awarded to top membership-getters, Smith added.

The chamber now has 240 members.

ROBERTS COMMENT

Commenting on the chamber's drive, Mayor Al Roberts said last week the organization deserved the support of every business firm and professional man in the city.

Emphasizing the chamber is a "voluntary association of businessmen and civic-minded citizens engaged in collective efforts to promote the welfare of the community," the mayor said. The chamber needs additional manpower if it is to handle more projects.

"We have a good team," he added, "but we need a better team. We need more players, more substitutes."

Goal Neared By East Point 1st Methodist

The East Point First Methodist Church today was only $30,000 away from its goal of $200,000 toward the church budget and funds for a new Sunday School building.

The Rev. George O. King, church pastor, said teams of church workers had brought in pledges totaling more than $170,000 during the past week. He said this was equally divided between the $100,000 church budget and the $100,000 building fund—about $65,000 each.

The Rev. Mr. King added, however, there were many other pledges to be counted, which would raise the total even higher.

Work has already begun on the two-story Sunday School building, to be located on East Forest avenue adjacent to the present church building. The Rev. Mr. King said foundations for the building already were under construction.

The pastor said the church was going to have to "do something about some more room." He said the church has had standing-room-only crowds for several Sundays and last Sunday was forced to turn churchgoers away.

Proposed Bond Issue to Get 'CollegeParkThirty' Backing

The College Park Thirty Club, an organization for all College Park male residents over the age of 21, plans to sponsor projects this year calling for a study of the city's traffic problems, more adequate mail service and backing of a proposed bond issue for new city buildings.

W. T. "Bill" Mount, club president, said the club is especially interested in lending aid to gaining public support for the bond issue and plans to work on this project in cooperation with other College Park civic groups.

Mount said the club is vitally interested in gaining more adequate mail service for College Park, especially in the recently annexed area of the city which lies in Clayton County.

Mail service in this area is inadequate mainly because of the need for paved streets, he said. Mount explained letter carriers were not allowed to enter unpaved streets to deliver mail.

He indicated the club may work with residents of that section to formulate the necessary petitions to have the streets paved and get mail service. "They're entitled to mail service," he said, "and we'd like to help them get it."

Founders Day

The Peeples Street School PTA celebrated Founder's Day at a meeting last night at which sixth grade students presented a play. Miss Jacqueline Cash, their teacher, directed the play. Mrs. W. E. Harwell presided at the meeting.

East Point Council Picks Stubbs for Police Captain

Wheeler, O'Neal and Mrs. Sowell Voted to Parks, Recreation Posts

Vacancies in East Point's police, parks and recreation departments have been filled by City Council, and an additional captain's post created in the police department.

Lt. James W. Stubbs, a veteran of 16 years with the department, was elected to the police captaincy Monday by council in secret ballot. Stubbs, along with Lt. Hugh D. Brown and Sgt. Roy E. Stanley, qualified for the post through competitive examinations.

CITES NEED

Citing a need for an additional captain in the department in order to have captains over each of the department's police watches, council passed a motion calling for an ordinance to be drawn creating the captaincy.

It also adopted a companion motion requesting the personnel board to certify names of three policemen eligible for the position, and to present them at the first March meeting of council.

Council approved the first reading of an ordinance eliminating position of assistant police chief. J. Henry Blair, head of the police committee, explained the three captain's positions were set up to handle each watch, with direct responsibility to the chief.

Council moved to rehire two recreational leaders who recently left to take higher paying jobs with the Atlanta Boys' Club organization.

WATER SUPPLY

Council also authorized the city public utilities department to proceed with purchase of material necessary to provide water service in the newly annexed Mount Olive section.

Councilman Craig Pinyan said cost of the equipment had been estimated at $35,000.

Moving to get its newly adopted traffic improvement program in full swing, council adopted a motion introduced by Blair to set up a list of the projects included in the program which should be given first priority.

First on the list is installation of a permanent traffic island at Church and Main streets, and removal of the temporary barrier now in use there. Second on the list are construction of islands and location of new traffic lanes at the Cleveland Avenue-Main intersection.

Other projects will be selected later.

Charity Case Files Started

Names of all persons receiving charity aid from organizations in East Point were being filed by the East Point Woman's Club this week as the first step in the club's clearing house for charity requests.

A three-member committee is sorting lists sent in by other organizations at temporary headquarters at the Woman's Club Home. The committee includes Mrs. Lloyd R. Lake, Mrs. R. C. Astin and Mrs. Simpson Kidd.

Organizational work on the clearing agency was completed by the club last week at a special meeting of representatives of 17 East Point organizations, including churches and civic clubs, Mayor Al Roberts and several councilmen.

Mayor Roberts commended establishment of the agency, declaring it was long needed to halt duplication in charity requests.

The committee is working at the Woman's Club Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to noon. Later it will establish a permanent office in the Fulton County Health Center Building. After completing its files, the agency will clear its list through the Community Planning Council.

Exchangettes Plan Adoption

The Hapeville Exchangettes Club is planning to "adopt" an overseas war orphan by providing funds toward the child's care.

Mrs. Catherine Wynn, club president, said the Exchangettes would send $24 to an international child welfare organization during the year if the club formally adopts the project at its Feb. 24 meeting.

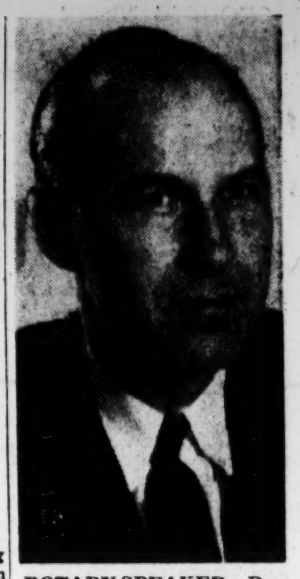
The club last year "adopted" an eight-year-old Japanese girl.

At the meeting, scheduled at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Leonce Miller on Old Jonesboro Road, the club also will appoint its six standing committees—program, publicity, telephone, aims, membership and hospital and recreation — for the year, and line up its yearly program.

Hapeville VFW Sets Nominations

Hapeville Lodge No. 4632 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will nominate 1954 officers at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the VFW home at Judy's Lake.

The election is scheduled in March.



ROTARY SPEAKER—Dr. John E. Buhler, dean of Emory University's School of Dentistry, addressed the East Point Rotary Club yesterday. Dr. Buhler, who has been at Emory since Sept. 1, 1948, formerly was with dentistry schools at Temple University and Indiana University. He became dean of the Emory dentistry school in 1951.

Colonial Hills Baptists Set Science Talks

A series of "Sermons from Science"—illustrating the harmony between scientific fact and spiritual truth—will begin Sunday at the Colonial Hills Baptist Church.

Given by Keith Hargett of the Moody Institute of Science in Los Angeles, the first lecture will be given at 7:45 p.m. in the church auditorium. Other lectures will follow through Feb. 25 nightly.

Hargett, using more than 2,000 pounds of the latest scientific equipment, will demonstrate that many things which are looked upon by some as Biblical myths can be supported by scientific facts.

In the course of his lectures, which are presented by the Moody Institute as a public service, Hargett will cause solid metal to float in space, dull cobblestone to be transformed into flowing gems, and a million volts of electricity to be discharged through his fingertips.

You, too, can have health
. . . FOR THE SECRET LIES IN NORMAL NERVE FUNCTION
What is HEALTH?
Why, you say, health is a state of well-being. True enough, but let's dig deeper than that. Why are some people always well and happy, while others seem to be forever ailing? Why are some people—you, yourself, perhaps—so often tired and despondent; fatigued by the least effort; never able to find joy in your daily work, or to get a real thrill out of living? . . . Fortunately, Chiropractic has the answer to that question. The secret of getting well and keeping well lies in maintaining normal nerve function.

Personality Twists Feared For 85 Pct. of Teen-Agers

Dr. Grace Overton Recommends Pressure-Relieving Changes

About 85 per cent of today's youth will have warped personalities or mental illnesses unless drastic changes are made to "relieve the social pressures on present day teen-agers," Dr. Grace Overton told the Southwest Community Council.

YOUNG ACTRESS—Gale Reed, West End fifth grader who has appeared in two movies, will go to New York in April to try out for a TV-movie series with actress Celeste Holm. Gale has appeared in "Johnny One-Eye" with Pat O'Brien, and "Because of You" with Jeff Chandler and Loretta Young. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Reed of 2195 Venetian Dr., SW.

Dr. Overton, a nationally known expert on boy-girl relationships and marriage, said of every 100 children, five will spend a major part of their lives in mental hospitals, 10 will be confined to private sanitariaums unable to work, while three will be imprisoned for major crimes.

In addition, seven can expect to be mentally retarded, 10 more incapacitated by nervous disorders not requiring confinement, and 50 more will be so warped in personality that they cannot be happy.

"Only 15 of the 100 have a reasonable chance for full mental health and the abundant life," she said.

Dr. Overton blamed the new complexity of living today for the great strain on teen age youth. She said parents, however intelligent, can no longer adequately train their children for life alone.

SCHOOL HELPING

Dr. Overton suggested that the school could help train parents to handle the problem of authority with their children by holding parent clinics. She said studies of maladjusted youths, especially those who turn to crime, show that inconsistent parental discipline —too severe one time, too lax another—seemed to play a large part in such children's hostility and insecurity.

Dr. Overton said the school is also helping youth by fostering more group activity, which discourages premature steady dating and early marriage.

SPEED PROBLEM

The chief problem of youth today, she said, is to find a way to outwit our addiction to speed, speed and more speed so that boys and girls will have a resting period during their adolescence when they can learn how to live as grown-ups.

She recommended a new emphasis on the idea that some things are definitely right and others definitely wrong as a bulwark for youth. "Honesty and other basic attitudes never are old-fashioned," she said.

Five new members of the council's board of governors were elected at the meeting. They were: Charlie Brown, Ernest Brewer, Carrol Barfield, W. A. Allison, and J. H. Aldridge. Continuing members of the board are Mrs. T. L. Savage, Mrs. P. L. Bardin, The Rev. Alva Gregg, Miss Margaret Kendrick, A. G. Matthews, F. J. Guldenschuh and Mrs. T. E. Clyatt.

Miss Kendrick, president, presided at the luncheon meeting which was held at Capitol View School.

Drivers Too Confident, Bynum Tells Kiwanians

Many traffic accidents occur because drivers think they can stop their automobiles on a dime, Judge Paul Bynum of the City Traffic Court told the West End Kiwanis Club.

Bynum said most motorists who appear at the city traffic school show an appalling ignorance of the distance required to stop an automobile.

The city traffic school, originated several months ago by Traffic Judges Frank White, Wilson Brooks and Bynum, compels minor traffic offenders to attend its sessions instead of paying fines, Bynum said. They are instructed in the fundamentals of good driving.

Judge Bynum's address to the Kiwanis club was substantially the one he makes to traffic offenders.

According to Bynum, one lady arrested on charges of speeding 40 miles an hour at Marietta and Spring streets, said she could stop her car at that speed "within a few inches."

The fact, Judge Bynum pointed out, was that it would take 143 feet after she applied the brakes.

Bynum gave the following "stop" table for speeds on a dry pavement: at 20 miles an hour, 42 feet; at 30 miles an hour, 84 feet; at 40 miles an hour, 143 feet; at 50 miles an hour, 220 feet; at 60 miles an hour, 317 feet; at 70 miles an hour, 436 feet.

He added that greater possibility of mechanical failure at high speeds is an added hazard.

Bynum noted that only "unmalicious" drivers are referred to the traffic school. Those with long bad-driving records are fined, and their licenses are revoked if necessary, he said.

He invited Kiwanians and the public in general to visit the Monday night sessions of the traffic school. As high as 80 visitors who wish to improve their driving skill "before" they break a law attend the sessions, he said.

Earl Landers, chairman of the West End Kiwanis Club's public affairs committee, introduced the speaker.

Nine-year-old Diane McKibben, accompanied at the piano by her mother, entertained the group with songs.

New Rifle Range Sparks Southwest's Bid for Title

Southwest High School's eight-man rifle team, proud of its new rifle range, is gunning for the city rifle championship.

The team, composed of William Prince, captain, William Daniel, William Foster, Ronald Lewis, James Christian, Douglas Reinecke, Roger Conley and J. R. Dennis, is leading the city league with three victories and no defeats.

The team placed fourth in city finals last year when it had no range for practice.

The new range was installed Feb. 1. Now the young sharpshooters practice about three hours a day, using .22 rifles.

Top marksmen so far this year are Roger Conley, (top man last year), Team Captain Bill Prince and Jerry Foster.

The new indoor range, is well-protected against ricochets or bullets penetrating the target and hitting a person on the other side. An overlapping metal shield deflects ricochets and the targets are backed by a wood barrier, reinforced with steel sheeting and sand bags, plus a brick wall 70 feet thick.

A new armory and orderly room complete the new military department facilities at the school.

Legion Post Hears Talk On Mexico

Many Americans think of Mexico as a land of frequent revolutions and hot tamales.

But only the second half of this statement is true today, according to O. J. Coogler Jr., honorary Atlanta consul of the Republic of Mexico, who spoke to a joint meeting of the Boulder Park American Legion Post and Auxiliary 131.

Coogler, a native of Griffin and an Atlanta attorney, pointed out that the motto which ends all official correspondence of the Mexican government is "Sufragio Effectivo, No Reeleccion," which means that no Mexican can be deprived of his right to vote and the president can run for only one six-year term.

GIFT PRESENTED

Coogler presented an official photograph of the present Mexican President, Adolfo Ruiz Cortines, to the group. Mrs. Howard L. Durham, auxiliary president, accepted the gift.

Coogler explained that an honorary cousul only devoted himself to the consul job part-time and is usually a native of the country in which he represents the foreign government.

As representative of Mexico in Atlanta, Coogler may issue travel permits to enter Mexico to tourists who are citizens of the U.S. He also is charged with presenting the facts and advantages about Mexico to interested tourists and businessmen.

To do business within Mexico, he said, the individual would have to obtain a permit from a career consul, who is a native of Mexico. The nearest such official to Atlanta is stationed in New Orleans, he said.

EXPORTS

He also pointed out that Mexico gets 83 per cent of its imports from the U.S. and Mexico sends 79 per cent of its exports to this country.

Tourists wishing to visit Mexico need only obtain a tourist card from any Mexican consulate, including the one in Atlanta. To get the permit, you must furnish evidence of U.S. citizenship and pay a fee of $3. You may visit Mexico as long as six months on the card, he said.

A tourist can drive his car throughout Mexico, including the stretch from the Texas border to Mexico City, the capital which is 7,500 feet above sea level and has a population of nearly three million. Gas averages 22 cents a gallon inside Mexico, according to Coogler.

A special guest was Carlos Olivares of Monterey, Mexico, student at Georgia Tech.

Others who participated on the program included Richard Briard, commander of American Legion Post 131; Miss Ann Whiten, Mrs. P. I. Dixon, Mrs. R. H. Harris, and Mrs. L. L. Hargrove. Father Gerard D. McCaffrey of St. Anthony's Church gave the invocation.

Scout Troops At Fort Mac Show Growth

Ft. McPherson Boy and Cub Scout troops 237 have grown to about 100 members, and are still growing, according to post scout officials.

Pfc. Ed Black, of the Post Troop and Information Section, is Ft. McPherson scoutmaster. Lt. M. L. Simmons, post youth director, is in charge of all scouting activities.

Recently, Randy Watkins, son of M-Sgt. H. R. Watkins, of the Third Army Plans and Training section, was honored at the "Webelos" ceremony of Post Cub Troop 237. The "Webelos" ceremony officially inducts the Cub into the older scout group.

The post Boy Scout troop collected a large amount of paper in its January paper drive. A second drive is being conducted in February.

$200,000 Wing at Southwest High Will Double Its Capacity to 1,200

A new $200,000 wing will enable Southwest High School to double its student capacity, accommodating up to 1,200 students by next year, Principal Claud Wills Jr. says.

The wing, which opened for classes Feb. 1, houses a wood and metal shop, two biology laboratories, a general science lab, a student store, a counseling suite, and seven regular classrooms, according to Wills.

The school now has 860 rooms, he said.

Completed Dec. 24, the wing was not completely furnished and ready for occupancy until early this month.
